

General Trade Conditions For Butter Are Good

PORTLAND, Feb. 2 (AP) — General trade conditions in the market for butter remain very favorable. Everywhere the trade is being somewhat affected by the very cold weather after a period of unusual heat considering the season.

Trading in the egg market is holding generally steady for the week's opening with no change reflected in general resales. Trade leaders are preparing for storage operations generally.

Market for cheese appears to be marking time generally throughout the country. There was no general change in the price list reported at any leading point.

Under-selling of western markets continues by Idaho and Montana with both states inclined to wreck the quotation structure by their lack of uniform quotation.

Tillamook and Coos bay were without quotable change during the last few days.

Market for live chickens remains slow here with no further change in buying prices. Indicating a breakup of values in the south is the fact that light hens lost 1c to 15c as compared with 8c generally quoted here.

While there remains a very good demand for hen turkeys and prices for such offerings are well held, some are moving very slowly. Demand appears chiefly for small sized birds.

Demand for country killed lambs remains strong with prices mostly held at the high mark. Veal are steady but only the best hogs are holding up. Bulls are still being sought.

Primary points continue to tell of a very sluggish and almost stagnant potato market. Advices from Klammath said the movement there is scant with the houses full of stock.

Further reduction in the price of oranges is shown here as a result of congestion in the south and east. The weather is still the chief factor against the sale here.

Notes of wholesale trading: Spinach is very scarce; only a small supply of Texas stock being available. This held steady.

Cauliflower market is higher with a scarcity of offerings. Californian $1.50 crate.

Cabbage prices are higher and reflect the scarcity and cold weather. Tomato market is slow; weather too cold. The same applies to hot-house cucumbers.

Rhubarb market is practically steady.

Head lettuce is steady generally. Onion sets are moving slowly. Mexican peas are steady; mostly 17-18c lb.

Several Biblical leaders such as Moses, Daniel, Joshua, Paul and Joseph were defined. George Robinson, formerly of Lostne, was the leader. The boys' quartet, Louis Crow, Louis Olsen, Calvin Plants and Maynard Hasland — rendered the old favorite song, "Sweet and Low." They were generously applauded. Phyllis Clark, an Enterprise contralto, sang a beautiful sacred solo, "Have Thine Own Way, Lord," Helen Savage, Grande Ronde Union quiet hour superintendent, gave an inspiring reading. The Lostne group remained for all, but gaining it back with about a minute to play 13-11. Then Belts dropped one through the ring to even the count at half time.

Medcalf put the Mountaineers ahead as the second half opened and Belts built the lead to four points a few plays later. McDonald countered with two and Medcalf scored again. Bredow ringed a long range goal and then Stewart shot three in rapid succession, bringing the Sons up to within one point of the home quintet, 22-21. Then in a flashy drive for points, the Mountaineers scored four field goals in five offensive thrusts to lead 30 to 21 when Quinn sent Wortley in to relieve Baxter.

Final Game of Series Tonight The teams met again this evening with the odds about even after the hard battle the visitors staged Monday. Much depends upon this series as the Sons do not meet Monmouth this year and another La Grande win would put the Mountaineers in a strategic position, making it only necessary to break even with the Oregon Normal school in four games to win the championship.

Both teams played in-and-out ball last night, flashing some nice work at times but at other times, not showing up so bright. The speed of the play kept both teams either firing hurried short shots—some of them of the hope variety—or else banging away at long range. Medcalf was the most consistent in scoring short ones, although he was being guarded by Ashland's outstanding guard, Tebo lines, who scintillated at floor work. Tebo's speed and timing netted Ashland four points besides stopping several Mountaineer drives.

Stewart, Medcalf Share Honors Stewart and Medcalf scored high with a dozen points each. Every man on the two starting lineups figured in the scoring. Bredow and Carden played a strong defensive game and Baxter contributed three field goals and a free throw to leave him runner-up for Belts for second high scorer.

Free throws kept Ashland closer to the home team.
