LOSTINE PERSONALS

Midget Mummy
A strange discovery, the mummy of a mature person only 32 inches in height, was made in Rulu canyon, Utah. The body was encased in a bag made of knitted bark. Well developed teeth identified it as a mature person.

"Ear-Marked" Gold
In international trade gold must be shipped when the merchants of one country owe a large difference to those of another country; that is, when the trade account does not balance. It is dangerous to ship gold, because ships sink sometimes. Instead of making actual shipments, especially when the balance is expected to swing back again before long, gold is ear marked. That means, although it is not actually shipped, it is placed in a vault and marked as belonging to certain owners abroad.

Fight on Tuberculosis
The bureau of animal industry says that eradication of tuberculosis in cattle was started in Pennsylvania in 1892 and 1903. The general campaign was not started until 1917, in which campaign 15 or 20 states participated.

Two of Revere's Bells
Paul Revere and his son, Joseph W. Revere, made a great many bells. Among them may be mentioned the bell of St. Paul's church, Newburyport, Mass., and the one in the First church, Lancaster, Mass.

Chinese Societies
A tong is a Chinese form of secret society. The word is derived from the Chinese word meaning a hall or private meeting place. The tongs are largely represented among the Chinese population in America and frequently carry on long and bitter conflicts.

Time of Toil
Leisure was so rare in old New England, according to Marlon Nichol Rawson in "When Antiques Were Young," that constant toil became a virtue through necessity. Even the little children were compelled to work long hours at various chores.

Growth of Trees
The bureau of plant industry says that growth in trees depends on assimilation of elaborated plant food, which in turn depends on the action of the foliage. There can therefore be no growth during the dormant season, when the foliage is absent.

From Small Beginning
The founding of the great European banking business of Rothschild is said to be due to the youthful passion of Meyer Anselm Rothschild for collecting old and rare coins.

Explaining the Planets
An Eighteenth century scientist explained the origin of the planets by saying that they were splashed out of the sun in a collision between the sun and a comet.

Chimpanzee Takes "Cold"
Experiments show that a chimpanzee is susceptible to an acute infection of the nose and throat very much like the colds that affect human beings.

Injustice Greatest Evil
For it would have been better that man should have been born dumb, nay, void of all reason, rather than he should employ the gifts of Providence to the destruction of his neighbor.—Quintilian.

Those Old-Time Winters
A weather expert says that when grown people reminiscently tell of the old-fashioned winters that were so snowy and stormy, they are thinking in childhood perspective; snowdrifts waist deep to a child are only knee-deep to an adult.

BRITISH, FRENCH DELEGATES CLASH AT DISARM MEET
British spokesman's speech, which was written only last night. Armaments, sir John Simon said, are useless instruments of world peace.

France Conciliatory
"Criticize our plan, gentlemen," M. Tardieu said. "Discuss it, present plans which you think are better. You will find us conciliatory, under the sole reservation that we will remain unshakably devoted to the fundamental basis or organization of peace because we are convinced that disarmament without organization would be giving a brutal and unjust encouragement to numbers and to

Manners and Man
"Manners maketh man" is a statement ascribed to William Wykeham, bishop of Winchester, and lord high chancellor of England (1324-1404). The motto is inscribed on buildings founded by him at Oxford and Winchester.

Expressive Slang
The word "spitzerinckum" is a slang expression usually accepted as the equivalent of "what it takes," whether energy, pluck or even money—whatever is necessary to cope with a given situation.

Navigable Rivers
There are about 287 rivers classed as navigable in the United States.

Here is the objective for warships of several nations, now speeding toward and China, the warship anchorage in the Whang-Poo river at Shanghai, where naval detachments under various flags will alertly await developments in connection with the Japanese bombardment and occupation of Shanghai.

"WE WILL WRAP THEM IN GIFT PAPER READY TO GIVE TO HER"

Now You Can Buy On Faith

"I talked with grandma the other day," said the young housewife. "I told her I dreaded this daily shopping—that I hardly knew where to begin. And she made me feel ashamed; she actually did!"

We know just about what her grandma told her. "In my day you would have dreaded shopping much more. It was a real chore then. From place to place you went, looking, looking, tasting this, sniffing at that, buying on suspicion and not on faith. You didn't know who made the things you bought; they didn't have labels; most of them weren't in packages.

"Now you know by name most of the things you buy. You buy a can of So-and-so's Beans today, and you know they'll be just the same when you buy them again. You read the advertisements in your paper, see where the best values are offered, make up your list, and out you go and get it over with in a jiffy! Count your blessings, my dear—they are many."

DISTRICT RALLY OF C. E. GROUPS CLOSES SUNDAY

the organization of the first Christian Endeavor society. In a prominent place on the tables was the huge birthday cake which was beautifully decorated in red and white—Christian Endeavor colors—and was topped with a C. E. monogram.

The evening service in the main auditorium was presided over by Miss Kelly and following an orchestra prelude by the Church of Christ orchestra, Mr. Mortimore led the song service. A question box conducted as a radio conference was very interesting and valuable, questions being on all phases of young people's work and their problems. Questions were asked by Dr. J. L. McPherson with Mr. Guiley answering them.

Miss Mildred Stoddard was in charge of the social fellowship hour and a number of clever games were played under her able direction. At this time the birthday cake was cut. The evening closed with the fellowship circle in charge of Mr. Guiley with the only light being that of a red lighted taper.

The program yesterday opened with a very inspiring period of quiet meditation led by Miss Hulda Anderson who used as her theme "How Christ May Live in Us." Delegates attended Sunday school and church of their own choice and at 2:30 again convened for the final sessions.

At 2:15 the Presbyterian church orchestra, under the direction of Elmo Stevenson, played the prelude and Mr. Mortimore led in singing one song. For the third time since its inauguration as a trophy for societies in attending rallies, the loving cup was won by the members of the Wallowa Christian church. Discussion periods were in charge of the superintendents of the various departments of the district union. These groups were led by the following, Miss Mildred Stoddard, Miss Hulda Anderson, Howard Carpenter, Eldridge Huffman, Dr. McPherson, and Mrs. Nellie Harrison, of La Grande, and Miss Jeannette McMurdo and Miss Diana Trimble, of Baker.

It was announced that annual Union had received Flag No. 1 in the race for registrations for the grand state convention in Portland in March. This means that delegates from this union will hold first place in the parade by virtue of the fact that they had the greatest number of registrations in the hands of the registrars by Feb. 3, numbers being counted on a percentage basis. This Union had 150 per cent of its quota.

The devotional service was led by Mrs. Harrison on the theme "By Faith in Christ." Miss Katharine Wissler, accompanied by the Presbyterian orchestra, sang "The Old Rugged Cross."

Mr. Guiley speaks in a very inspiring address, Mr. Guiley talked on "Faith" and told why one should not question why but have faith to believe that things happened for a purpose and it was not for mortal man to know the reason.

The joint Christian Endeavor prayer meeting and discussion was led by Robert Weeks on the theme "C. E. Service, Inc."

At the evening service at the Presbyterian church, Mr. Guiley held a very interesting discussion which was most informal and interesting. He first told why he had faith in the first told why he had faith in the young people of today and said that young people of today are better Christians than the older folk were at their age. The meeting was then opened for questions and some very interesting discussions resulted.
