Scouts Hold Officers— State police officers were not immune from the law enforcement activities of the Boy Scout police in Baker Saturday.

Those in authority attempted to keep the arrest and conviction out of the newspapers, but under a steady fire of questioning by the man about town they acquiesced.

Days Of Powdered Wigs And Minuet To Be Relived At Washington Ball

Colonial Personages To Reappear at Gadsby's Tavern, Feb. 22

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)— The brocade, patches and powdered wig atmosphere of George Washington's last birthday ball in 1798 will be revived February 22 by descendants of the original guests.

The ball, one of the functions honoring the two hundredth anniversary of Washington's birth, will be held in Gadsby's Tavern here, where Washington paced the minuet 134 years ago.

Attic chests and long closed trunks in old homes of Alexandria and Washington are disclosing costumes which marked that gay occasion so long ago to be worn again at this bicentennial ball.

General Roszel is commandant of the Shenandoah Valley Military Academy and commander of the American Legion in the state of Virginia.

Time will be turned back 134 years at Gadsby's Tavern, Alexandria, Va., Feb. 22, when George Washington's last birthday ball is reenacted by descendants of the guests at that function.

white and Miss Woodhouse for two days. Miss Collett left the car at Fayette and urged Miss Woodhouse to leave with her; however, the latter continued on to La Grande with the two young men.

Dr. Moore Testifies— Dr. Carl S. Moore, who treated Mr. Helms following the injuries, testified as to the nature of the wounds.

Among the descendants of guests at the original ball will be Miss Elizabeth Lee Boothe, who will go as Nellie Custis, and Jacqueline Marshall Washington impersonating George Washington Park Custis.

The ball will be given by the Alexandria committee of Colonial Dames, Mt. Vernon chapter D. A. R. and the Washington society.

Gadsby's Tavern, where it will be held, was purchased by the city of Alexandria and presented to the American Legion as a war memorial.

NEW ARTIFICIAL SILK FASHIONS SPORTS TOGS— PARIS (AP)—Modern maidens will be wearing a new artificial silk woven to resemble astrakhan fur for sport togs this spring.

The new fabric, called sinastak, is woven with small protruding shaggy loops. It comes in brilliant yellow, Delft blue and beige.

Sculptor's Triumph— Rodin was once falsely accused of having taken a cast from life and shown it as an original statue.

Prized Volume— The American Institute of Accountants has an exhibition in New York an original copy of the first book ever published on the subject of double-entry bookkeeping.

Girl Tells Of Threats— Miss Marilyn Collett, pretty 16-year-old girl, who accompanied Owen and his companion, Crosswhite, from Idaho Falls, Idaho, to Fayette, was one of the main witnesses for the state this morning.

When Capt. Noe reached Mr. Helms' policeman was not premeditated or malicious.

Bunting Company To Hold School Here Feb. 17-18

Arrangements were completed today by the Bunting Tractor company local "Caterpillar" dealer, for its annual school which will be held at the salesroom at 1426 Jefferson avenue Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

J. F. Goss, of the Caterpillar Tractor Co., is expected to arrive in La Grande this evening to conduct the school.

It is reported that the school is attracting unusual interest this year. At Walla Walla the attendance the first day was 681, which is believed to be a record for meetings of this kind.

The Bunting company is anticipating a large attendance here due to the tendency of farmers, loggers, road builders and others who use "Caterpillar" products to carefully study the application of modern equipment in order to get best results at the lowest cost.

These schools are being held by all dealers in the Northwest at this time. The dealers at Spokane, Lewiston, Pullman and Walla Walla have held their schools recently.

Mr. Bunting advises that sessions will start promptly at 9 o'clock and 1 o'clock both days and urges those who plan to attend to be on hand at the start of each session in order to get the full benefit of every interesting and helpful moment of the school.

Court Refuses A Third Hearing

SALEM, Feb. 16 (AP)— The supreme court of Oregon today refused to allow a third hearing in the case of Ben Boloff, sentenced to ten years on a charge of criminal syndicalism, in an oral opinion handed down today.

The Oregon court twice before denied rehearings in the Boloff case after it affirmed the lower court of Multnomah in convicting the defendant. The court was divided 4 to 3 on the original opinion as well as the subsequent denials for rehearing.

The court now refuses to pass further upon the Boloff case.

This Game of Golf

What becomes of all of golf's "kid wonders"? You know, the slight lads who clean up club championships at 15 and 16; break into the sectional tournaments the next year, with impressive results; win intercollegiate championships, and get acres of publicity in newspapers and magazines.

Suddenly but quietly you don't hear about these boys any more. Well, some of them you do. We heard pretty good reports of some in the national amateur at Beverly last September. But they were only a handful, out of the thousands, all over this broad land.

We were talking about the matter the other day with George Sargent, new professional at East Lake in Atlanta. George is a serious, thoughtful and observant student of golf. And, sure enough, George had a theory.

Get Slugging Itch— "When the youngster has grown into his 'teens under good tutelage," said George, "or with some good example on which to compose his style through imitation, he usually will be found playing very sweet golf while his physique is stretching out."

"He's slender and loose-jointed, and he is lacking in physical power. So he gains his range for the big shots by ample body-turn, sometimes called pivoting, and a pretty freedom of stroke which is substantially the right way to swing at a golf ball—usually the best way, anyhow."

"Then he adds a few years and his shoulders spread out, and his anatomy is thicker and stronger—and usually he acquires an ambition, or develops it, to hit that ball out in front of everybody. And he begins to HIT it, in capital letters."

"This is incompatible with the clean, free swing and the ample pivot that marked his style formerly. In all but a few exceptional cases, it is incompatible with sound, consistent golf. And the boy wonder of 15 and 16 and 17 grows into the adult golfer who never seems to get anywhere, along the pathway to fame.

These, George said, are the great ones of earth.

Doesn't Hold For Girls— He added that girls are far more likely to bear out early promise of greatness in golf than boys.

"Perhaps for two reasons," he explained. "You hear less of the kid wonders among the girls; there seem to be fewer of them, proportionately, than the boy wonders. Those you do hear about tend more than the boys to grow to their full estate of physique without undue temptation to change their original style of hitting the ball."

"They do not develop muscularly to the same extent as the boys. As a result they are more likely to continue on into womanhood with much the same free swing and adequate pivot as when they were learning the game in the happy and carefree days before championships became an exaggerated importance."

WORKER AGAINST WAR DIEN BEAUVAIS, France, Feb. 16 (AP)— Ferdinand-Eduard Buisson, 81, long a noted worker against war, and holder of the Nobel peace prize, died today at his home at Tielouy-Saint Antoine.

M. Buisson formerly was a member of the chamber of deputies and president of the League for the Rights of Man. Among his works were treaties on women's suffrage and various volumes on peace and education. He was an honorary professor of the Sorbonne.

NEW COTTON FABRICS LOOK LIKE WOOL— PARIS (AP)—Cotton fabrics look like wool this year. The new cottons woven for spring costumes are done in a tweed-like weave and in neutral toned colors which give the effect of wool fabrics.

One of the smartest of the new cottons designed by Rodier is called Roumaspor.

WOMEN'S LEADER WEARS ENSEMBLE OF GREEN— WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Ellis Yost, director of women's activities for the Republican national committee, is wearing a French jersey dress in two tones of green.

It shades from dark green at the bottom to a light shade of apple green in the bodice. She wears a small hat of corded green silk.

BRIGHT COLORED PRINTS POPULAR FOR SPRING— PARIS (AP)—New spring prints are as bright in color as a picture book.

Dark backgrounds, such as black or navy, are sprinkled with tiny brilliant flowers, while beige and gray backgrounds are often patterned with parades of tiny horses, camels and men in bright hues.

Geometric patterns are less often seen.

LACEY WOOLS DESIGNED FOR SPRING AND SUMMER— PARIS (AP)—Lacey wools are one of fashion's newest fabric contributions.

The new wools are woven in designs like lace patterns and, because of their featherweight quality, are said to be practical for wear throughout the summer.

Soft blue, sea green, apricot and banana yellow are among the smartest tints.

GIRL TELLS OF THREATS OWEN VOICED

Miss Marilyn Collett, pretty 16-year-old girl, who accompanied Owen and his companion, Crosswhite, from Idaho Falls, Idaho, to Fayette, was one of the main witnesses for the state this morning.

Miss Collett was Crosswhite's companion during the trip, and testified that when she left them at Fayette they threatened to come back and "bump her off" if she told the police.

Owen and his companion carried guns which they were strapped to their sides, she stated, and told her several times that if any attempts were made to arrest them that they would never be taken alive but "would shoot it out."

Miss Collett left Idaho Falls with Owen and Crosswhite, also accompanied by Orlean Woodhouse, of Lincoln, a small town near Idaho Falls, and the witness stated that as they were leaving on Oct. 16, between 7 and 8:30 in the evening, the young men stopped the car, telling them they had business to transact. The car was stopped beside a lumber company, just around the corner from a service station. The girl stated that she could see them turn the corner but did not see them enter the service station. After they drove a few miles from Idaho Falls, they told their girl companions that they had held up the service station, Miss Collett declared.

Miss Collett admitted that she was frightened during the remainder of the trip, but that she was not frightened because of the quarrel which she was having with Crosswhite or by the threats which she testified were made against her. Sometimes after leaving the three she notified the police, according to her statement.

After staying with Owen, Cross-
