Grandmothers Are Guests At Meeting Of Women Tuesday

One of the most pleasant guest days the Neighborhood club has had for some time was enjoyed yesterday afternoon in the La Grande hotel when club members either brought their grandmother or borrowed someone's for the occasion.

The program which centered around "grandmothers" or things we once associate with the times of preceding grandmothers, was opened by a group of piano solos by Miss Helen Williams. She played "Hopak: A Russian Dance" by Mousoraky and "Little Shepherd" by Debussy.

Mrs. Miles Edgill, accompanied by Miss Williams, then sang two old-time numbers "Three Green Bonnets" by Guy D'Harleot and "In the Sweet Long Ago." Mrs. Fred Huffman gave a reading which portrayed a modern young miss at a flapperish type. Her reactions to several grandmothers as well as the play. An encore number was given.

Mrs. Leal Russell, in the costume of the period during which her number was a favorite, sang "Genevieve," accompanied by Mrs. Merilyn Batley. Beatrice Young, accompanied by Mrs. Lynn Wright, gave two musical readings, "In an Old-fashioned Garden" and "The Second Minute."

Mrs. James McNamee sang "Mother Machree" by Chauncey Olcott and Ernest Ball and "Silver Threads Among the Gold" by Danks. She was accompanied by Mrs. Batley.

The concluding number of the program was given by eight junior high pupils from the Greenwood school. Accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Frances Thompson, the boys and girls danced the graceful minuet. The costumes, which were supervised by Miss Eleanor Morelock, added much to the effectiveness of the dance.

Mrs. Turner Oliver, in a "black silk" and hat that might easily be the inspiration of some of the modern "extremes," invited members and guests to tea on the mezzanine.

A modern tree of hearts in an old-fashioned basket was the centerpiece of the tea table at which Mrs. Oliver and Miss Margaret Anson poured. Hostesses during the afternoon were: Miss Helen Clark, Mrs. J. S. Pettigrew, Miss Beale Pettigrew, Miss Hilda Anthony, Miss Ida McMeekin, Mrs. George Birnie, Miss Mabel Doty, Mrs. Jack Ferris, and Mrs. Beatrice Young.

Assisting on the mezzanine, welcoming members and guests were the directors of the club, who also sponsored the program of the day. Member of this board are Mrs. Robert Eakin, Mrs. Shagwood Williams, Mrs. F. L. Meyers, Dr. Margaret Ingle and Mrs. E. D. Towler.

At the unusually interesting business meeting "Oregon Products Week" was emphasized. Lists of Union county products, lists of local stores that carry Oregon products, and a carefully worked out "suggested menus for the week" using Oregon products, were distributed to those present. Mr. H. G. Avery gave an inspirational talk as a feature of Oregon products meeting.
