

Market for Eggs Without Change Over The State

PORTLAND, Feb. 17 (AP)—Market for eggs in western quarters shows no change in price, although there was a disposition to indicate that prevailing prices were steadily being maintained.

Let's continue here from the fact that some of the leading markets of the country have recently shown a further downward revision of the price list while the leading prices here have been advanced in other buying or selling rates.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 17 (AP)—Cash wheat: Big Bend 100¢; No. 1 white 95¢; Western white 90¢; Hard winter 85¢; Northern spring 80¢; Western red 75¢; Cash No. 2 white 82.50¢.

Wool Market—Most of domestic wools except short combed No. 1 and finer grades of western lines are very quiet. Prices generally show little change.

Former Empire Holding Heads Present Pleas

SALEM, Feb. 17 (AP)—Plea of no guilty was entered by Oliver P. Coakley, Special Agent in Charge of the Oregon Supreme Court, I. H. Perry, Frank Keller Jr. and Jay Stockman in an indictment charging them with unlawfully devising a scheme to defraud in the sale of securities, when they appeared before Circuit Judge Hill Tuesday afternoon.

The pleas followed after a decision by Judge Hill overruling demurrers to the indictment. All defendants pleaded no guilty and Judge Hill ruled as to all of them but Adams. It was intimated the same demurrer would be made as to his partner when he is able to be in court.
