American Aviator Reported Killed When Japanese Attack Soochow

DELIVERED PLANE TO THE CHINESE

Despite Reports, Robert Short's Mother and Brother are Hopeful He is Still Alive.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 24 (Wednesday) — Official reports today confirmed that an American aviator formerly of Tacoma, Wash., had been shot down and killed during a Japanese raid over Soochow, where there is a Chinese military air field.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 23 (AP) — Unconfirmed reports today said that Robert Short, an American aviator formerly of Tacoma, Wash., had been shot down and killed during a Japanese raid over Soochow, where there is a Chinese military air field.

Mr. Gile said he had told Short to deliver the plane to Nanking and then to come back to Shanghai immediately. Short was reported to have been shot down and killed during a Japanese raid over Soochow, where there is a Chinese military air field.

MOTHER STILL HOPEFUL — Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 23 (AP) — Despite unconfirmed reports here that Robert Short, former Tacoma aviator, had been shot down and killed in a fight with Japanese airplanes in China, Mrs. Elizabeth Short, mother of the aviator, said today that she was still hopeful that her son was still alive.

They have received no word from him since last week, they said, and had no news whatever bearing upon the reported air fight.

Another letter expected — According to Mrs. Short the last letter received by her from her son was dated January 25. She said another letter was expected this afternoon.

He held a transport pilot's license and airplane and engine mechanic's license. He was a member of the National Air Pilots' association, the Professional Pilots' association, was associated with the United States army air corps reserve and was a

Owen, Crosswhite "Dressed In" At Oregon Prison

Both Seem Well Satisfied With Their Life Sentence, Penitentiary Officials Report.

SALEM, Feb. 23 (AP) — John Owen and Keith Crosswhite, sentenced to life imprisonment for the slaying of Anne Helms, state police officer, at La Grande several months ago, were "dressed in" at the state penitentiary here late yesterday. Three officers brought them to the prison from La Grande where they remained the past caused no trouble on the trip.

Apparently having feared the death penalty, both Owen and Crosswhite seemed well satisfied with their life sentence. Neither would say anything when they arrived here, but there were no frowns nor worried looks on their faces.

Assigned to "fish" cells — The two were assigned to the "fish" cells, for all newcomers, where they will remain for a time. They will be photographed and berrillon measurements taken. Prison officials said Owen probably would be assigned to employment in the flax industry and his companion be given work in some other part of the penitentiary.

Owen and Crosswhite shot Helms, when he and a fellow officer attempted to question them regarding a hold-up in Idaho. After the shooting, which occurred at a La Grande service station, the men fled into the ocean district west of the city. They were captured three days later and taken to La Grande, where they were locked in the Union county jail.

Owen was convicted of first degree murder, but the jury recommended life imprisonment. Crosswhite later was allowed to plead guilty, and received a similar sentence.

Exact Standard Of Measurement Cooking Feature

The "dash of salt" or "sprinkle of pepper" that characterized our grandmothers' recipes has gone by the boards in modern cookery. The modern cook measures her ingredients, and the decision of a chemist and maintains an exact standard in the savory flavor of her dishes.

Seasonings vary with nationalities — largely because of the mother-tongue of the cook. The method of dissemination of recipes. The only gasometer used with discretion, can add much to the tastiness of a dish.

Early Romans enticed the appetites — With state and district officers as guests, the American Legion posts of Baker, Union and Wallowa counties, held a banquet at the Nassau inn and discussed the 1932 national convention which will be held in Portland, also legislation, membership and other problems with which the legion is concerned.

Mr. Barry, first speaker of the evening, stated that 1932 should be a big year for the legion since the national convention will be held in Portland. The Oregon department has a prominent place in the national organization due to the type of men sent to the conventions, and through the "Oregon Open-House" in which the products of Oregon are displayed at each convention.

HALE NAVAL BILL PASSED IN COMMITTEE

Senate Group Approves Measure Providing For Treaty Navy.

NO APPROPRIATION IS PROVIDED FOR

Cost of Program Would Depend Upon How Many Years it Was Spread Over.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP) — The senate naval committee today approved the Hale bill to authorize building the navy up to the limits fixed by the London treaty.

The bill, sponsored by Chairman Hale, was approved unanimously. It calls for building the navy up to the maximum allowed by the London treaty, but does not carry any appropriations.

Hale estimated that if it were completed in ten years, the cost would be $980,000,000 but this includes ships now under construction, modernization of ships and replacements. He will ask for early consideration in the senate. A similar measure faces final disposition in the house.
