UNION (Special)—The basketball tournament served as an incentive to townpeople to clean up and make attractive their places of business this week with the result that many windows are displaying attractive decorations. One that is unique and has attracted much attention is the model miniature school playground on exhibition at the drug store. It shows much patient careful work and has as its object lesson, the promotion of health through wholesome out-of-door play.

ONE ARREST MADE IN BABY THEFT CASE

night, but she could not remember if he'd been in all evening.

Auto Changing Plates—An automobile containing three men and a baby for which New England police were searching stopped at Weatherfield, Mass., and changed license plates.

A letter mailed from Hartford to Mrs. Lindbergh was not intercepted by police and they said today they knew nothing of its contents.

A rumor spread today that Miss Gow had "confessed" but this was officially denied at the governor's office in Trenton and state police reiterated they had exonerated her.

The Englewood chief of police and a sergeant went to Hartford to assist in questioning Johnson. A detective there said he believed the information would "crack" the case.

New York state police sought a radio station which broadcast a general call saying, "Lindbergh baby safe."

A Chicago man signed a sworn statement giving a Niagara Falls, N. Y., address where he said the baby was held.

No such address was found. The mother of the boy kidnaped at Niles, Ohio, a few hours after the Lindbergh baby was taken sent a message of sympathy and hope to Mrs. Lindbergh.

Physicians warned that Mrs. Lindbergh might suffer a breakdown unless she gets sleep.

Nurse Betty Gow scolded to her mother in Glasgow, Scotland, to "cheer up."

GOV. MOORE HOPEFUL

TRENTON, N. J., Mar. 5 (AP)—After conferring with police officials of ten states and the federal government Governor A. Harry Moore announced today that it was his belief and hope that the kidnaped Lindbergh baby would soon be restored unharmed to its parents.

Governor Moore said it was the general opinion of the assembled police officials, who came to the conference from as far away as Chicago, that the kidnaping was the work of amateurs and that they would soon realize their only chance of escape was to place the baby in some safe place and notify the authorities.

Issues Statement—The governor's statement, issued some time after the conference was concluded, follows:

"It is the general opinion of those who have given the fullest consideration to the known facts in the kidnaping crime that it has been committed by amateurs and not by professional criminals. It bears none of the earmarks of those practiced in crime, even though the result has been successfully achieved."

"Police of every state in the union and the long arm of the federal government are united in the search for the criminals and the restoration of the child to its parents. It is our belief that with this knowledge the kidnapers will soon recognize that their only hope for successful flight and safety lies in their giving up the child by some method that will assure its safe and uninjured return. So long as they retain the child they are in constant danger."

"The destruction would enormously increase their guilt, their danger, and their certain ultimate retribution to the law and avenging justice."

"It is our belief and hope that they will immediately deposit the child in some safe place, or by prompt notice to the police or Col. Lindbergh personally enable it to be returned in safety to its parents."

"This they will do, it is thought, to relieve themselves from what they must see in a constant encumbrance to their freedom of movement and a hopeless drag on their efforts at flight."

SIMILAR LADDERS FOUND

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—The Evening Post today said that one of its reporters had discovered an abundance of ladders of similar wood and construction as that used by the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby.

The reporter saw the ladders in the Consolidated Shipyards at Morris Heights, the Bronx, where the paper said, the yacht of Thomas M. Lamont, on which Henry (Red) Johnson was formerly employed as a sailor, has been laid up for repair.

Johnson is held for questioning by Hartford, Conn., police.

RENEWED GRILLING DUE

HARTFORD, Conn., March 5 (AP)—Henry (Red) Johnson, Englewood, N. J., sailor detained last night for questioning in connection with the Lindbergh baby kidnaping, was brought before county authorities shortly before noon today for a renewed grilling.

Dozens of questions were put to the sailor by state's attorney Hugh M. Alcorn and County Detective Edward J. Hickey, who became noted for their prosecution of Gerald W. Chapman, who was hanged for slaying a New Britain policeman.

For eight hours after Johnson was brought in the grilling continued without respite. Then a recess was called for a few hours and the questioning resumed.

The officials were attempting to learn how Johnson, a friend of Miss Betty Gow, nursemaid for the Lindbergh baby, happened to be driving a green coupe said to resemble a car reported used by the kidnapers, how he happened to be in Hartford, and how a milk bottle happened to be in the rumble seat.

Income Tax Facts

No. 3 WHO MUST FILE RETURNS Returns are required of every single person whose net income for 1931 was $1500 or more, every married person living with husband or wife whose net income was $3500 or more, and every person, single or married, whose gross income was $5000 or more, regardless of net income. Widowers, widows, divorcees, and married persons separated by mutual consent are classed as single persons. The personal exemptions are $1500 for single persons and $3500 for married persons living together and heads of families.

Husband and wife living together each may make a separate return of the income of each, or their income may be included in a single joint return. If separate returns are filed, they can not report income which belongs to the other, but must report only the income which actually belongs to each. (This rule applies only to states where community laws are not in force.) If a joint return is filed, such return is treated as a taxable unit, and the income disclosed is subject to both the normal tax and surtax.

Husband and wife may elect each year whether to file a joint return or separate returns. Where, however, joint or separate returns have been filed for a particular year, neither husband nor wife may afterwards file an amended return or returns on a different basis for that year.

PLAN PUBLIC MARKET FOR THIS VALLEY

able locations, the gathering temporarily adopted an offer from the Union Oil company for construction of an open market on the company's property on East Adams avenue at the junction of the Island City road. The final plan is to be presented to a temporary committee of five. The building will be constructed for six stalls. It is planned. Market master problems, price scales, standardization and like problems will be worked out by the governing heads.

The chamber of commerce at La Grande and Blue Mountain grange assisted by the city government of this year, began the public market movement in 1927, but until the present year the growers themselves have not definitely decided to undertake the movement. President Harry McKinlay yesterday sent word to the growers that the chamber would assist financially the first six months of the market's operation, to the end that some substantial portion of the $150,000 annually sent out of La Grande for fruits and vegetables may be retained in this county.

Other phases of marketing are expected to be developed just as quickly as possible.

Barreling of Fruits Discussed—Barreling and freezing of surplus fruits and vegetables are being considered. The barreling process was reported as "inexpensive in operation and would save the daily surplus that local consumers and retailers could not handle and yet give substantial returns to the growers.

Carlot shipments will be planned for. Under past experiences, overproduction of certain vegetable commodities was a common practice but the surplus was not sufficient to give out of town buyers carlot supplies of one grade and kind. Ray Wilson, Pacific Fruit company representative in this district, offered co-operation of his coast-wide organization in giving advice as to commodities and varieties at planting time, suggesting what consumers ask for, when they want it and in what quantities. The crying need, growers pointed out, is for farm work in planting on a county-wide basis. The scheme calls for agreement on capacity and utility of conditions and soil, to grow products in an orderly way so that the carlot buyers will have a recognized head to deal with and a definite supply coming on.

Several interested persons declared yesterday's meeting to portend tremendous development in truck business and small fruits as soon as the various avenues of marketing are developed. The public market has been welcomed by consumers, producers and retailers in all cities of 10,000 or over where tried is generally admitted, and the chief problem before the organization formed yesterday is to overcome the deficit in population at La Grande with the customary minimum. With perfection of barreling and possible freezing facilities, producers are confident these handicaps can be overcome.

The success of the Eugene market was often referred to. In that case the market began in a small way backed by Eugene business men finances and housewife patronage. Grocery men are reported in entire accord. The institution has had a marvelous growth and is the means of relieving its management calls the attention of thousands of dollars to producers that previously went out of Lane county.

A committee consisting of Roy Gekeler, temporary chairman; John Harris, of Union; G. G. Stackland, of Cove, and F. W. King, of May Park, was authorized to draw up by-laws patterned after like organizations elsewhere, outline definite plans and call a meeting of all producers as quickly as possible so that order may be established in planting or grading with the ultimate purpose of equalizing production and broadening varieties and commodities for the first year.

Cove, Union, La Grande, May Park, Fruitdale and Mt. Glen producers were represented at the meeting.

Grange Agricultural Section—In the absence of J. A. Nice, of Wolf creek, master of the Union County Pomona grange, Harry G. Avery presided over the section arranged for a number of agricultural committees from like grange subdivisions in this county. The meeting was very well attended and the work of the session was summed up in a number of resolutions which those present are to take back and present to their own granges. The first of these was a recommendation that the subordinate and pomona groups do all in their power to bring the referendum on oleo and similar products. The second resolution called for an exchange list for the granges. A third resolution calls for the appointment of a committee to consider present wheat conditions, and they in turn to discuss the problem of weed control with the county court. It was reported that the top has been found in a few places in the valley. The group also expressed gratification at the work done by the Union County Dairy Herd Improvement association in the survey of herd sires, and pledged their support. Each one present was also asked to report to the organizations for the consideration of marketing problems along with a marketing experiment here, and particularly since it took the place of the annual economic conference which maintained here for a number of years. The condition of roads in many parts of the valley kept men and women at home who have been habitually present at such conferences, and while the figures regarding attendance look small in comparison with other years, the attendance was really very good. The spirit of the sections was very good and those who were most interested believe that much good will be the result, they say.

discussed the matter, under the leadership of T. C. Hefty of the Cove, the tendency thought being closest co-ordination of the three groups for the mutual benefit of all. A. W. Lefell of La Grande, A. A. Anties of Cove and P. M. Litter of Union, brought back reports from the recent meeting of the Northwest association which was held at The Dalles, and these reports contained food for much discussion. Mr. Hefty was particularly for the remark that to the cherry growers themselves, this conference was of great benefit because of its practical character and would surely result in better local marketing conditions.

The Morning Program—There were about 100 men and women from all parts of the valley, present yesterday and they assembled in one group in the morning for a program with specialists as the chief speakers and also T. C. Hefty of Cove. George C. Gatlin, marketing specialist with the extension service of the state college, was here to assist the producers of all lines of merchandising and in the morning conference he talked especially along the line of fundamental principles of successful co-operative marketing. R. D. Monahan who is a sales representative of some of the associations of the valley discussed at length the marketing of the sweet cherries and gave something of the present outlook. Mr. Hefty reported on the Cove and Union cherry pools, two groups which have functioned quite successfully. The discussions following these talks were exceedingly helpful.

The county agricultural agent, Harry G. Avery, who was largely instrumental in the success of the conference, was quite gratified over the outcome. The question of having a conference for the consideration of marketing problems alone was rather an experiment here, and particularly since it took the place of the annual economic conference which maintained here for a number of years. The condition of roads in many parts of the valley kept men and women at home who have been habitually present at such conferences, and while the figures regarding attendance look small in comparison with other years, the attendance was really very good. The spirit of the sections was very good and those who were most interested believe that much good will be the result, they say.
