

Change Seasons On Lake Fishing In Wallowa Co.

ENTERPRISE, Ore. (Special)—Winter fishing in all Wallowa county lakes is forbidden, and a short open season is permitted by an order of the state game commission published in Portland Monday. The order closes several lakes entirely until June 14, 1933, these being lakes recently stocked according to the Record-Chief.

The regulation is regarded by sportsmen as reasonable, but it is followed by another which is not so acceptable. Limiting the open season to only one day, from June 14 to October 1 each year. This is considered proper for the high mountain lakes but not for Wallowa lake, where the trout fishing is good before the middle of June, and trout fishing is attractive after the first of October. In fact, Wallowa lake is so large and deep and fishing is so difficult that any limit to the open season is really superfluous.

George M. Rogers, game warden, wrote to the game commission Monday to ask that further consideration be given to Wallowa lake. The state commission's order is to Union and Wallowa counties follows:

Union County
Giesler lake and Prospect lake, both situated in Union county, closed to angling to and including June 14, 1933.

All lakes and their tributaries in Union county shall be closed to angling to and including June 14, 1932, and thereafter shall be closed to angling from October 1 to June 14 of the following year, both dates inclusive for that period of years ending June 14, 1942.

Wallowa County
That part of Bear creek from the point of diversion of the city of Wallowa's intake to the mouth of Little Bear creek, a distance of approximately 5 miles, closed to angling for a period of years ending April 14, 1942.

All tributaries to Wallowa lake closed to angling from said lake to the falls in said tributaries from December 1 to June 30 of the following year, both dates inclusive, for and during that period of years ending June 30, 1942.

Wood lake, Bass lake, Crescent lake, Roger lake and Bear lake closed to angling to and including June 14, 1932.

Except as in the preceding paragraphs provided the season for angling in all lakes and their tributaries in Wallowa county shall be closed from October 1 to June 14 of the following year, both dates inclusive, for and during that period of years ending June 14, 1942.

The commission's order was dated Feb. 15, and becomes effective April 14. Any order of the commission can be changed by the board at a later session.

Hearing on Dam Proceedings To Be Held Apr. 20

BAKER, Ore. (Special)—Circuit Judge C. H. McCulloch has set Wednesday, April 20, at 10 a. m. in the circuit court room as the time and place for the hearing of a petition asking for a judicial examination and judgment as to the regulatory and legality of the proceedings of the Lower Powder irrigation district in seeking authorization for a supplemental contract with the government relative to the construction of the Thiel valley irrigation dam. Judge McCulloch issued the order Wednesday afternoon.

The petitioners were A. J. Ritter, F. A. Phillips and Arthur Oliver, comprising the district's board of directors.

At an election held Feb. 24, in hearing owners of property under the project voted in favor of entering into an amended contract with the government under which the United States would be authorized to expend a sum not to exceed $240,000 in the construction of the Thiel valley dam instead of $200,000 as was provided in the original contract. The property owners held the election after they were informed by the government that the dam would cost more than $200,000. Ritter and Phillips were attorneys for the petitioners.

It is thought he strengthened the purpose of the great voyager to undertake the western voyage.

Oddity in Nature

It is a curious fact that some plants are propensities to live again when smothered. If plant growth is interfered with by drought, frost, brushing, these plants develop a much larger amount of cytoplasmic protoplasm than normal growth would provide, and this substance taken into an animal's stomach causes serious poisoning.

Records of Polk County Official Are In Confusion

DALLAS, Ore., Mar. 18 (P)—Confusion in the records of Hugh G. Black, Polk county clerk, was revealed in a report issued here Thursday by a Portland auditing firm which made the inspection of the 1931 Polk county books.

Reported lack of records and destruction of checks to a bank account was remarked upon by the auditors who said a special bank account under the title "Hugh G. Black county clerk," could not be located satisfactory as checks and check stubs for all except November and part of December were missing.

The report showed the auditors said that the bank records indicated $24,821.19 in county, state and trust funds had been deposited in the account during the year, and that a balance of $4,407.28 remained on Dec. 31, last.

Similar confusion existed in the dog license department of the clerk's office, the auditors declared. The receipt book and dog license record indicated nearly all license money was collected in January and February, 1931, but the cash register tape, they said, indicated that less than one-half of the license money had been entered during those months. One book of receipts containing 77 receipts was said to be missing.

The auditors said, too, that there were many errors in the county warrants as checked in the clerk's office. They called attention to 71 warrants for which they said claims were missing which the warrants were checked against the claims. In one instance overpayment on one warrant amounted to $65.

Black is completing his eighth year as county clerk. He has filed as Democratic candidate for re-election. He is a former president of the Oregon county clerks' association.

The largest increase in Indiana automobile registration was in 1929 and 1930.

Whale Oil Food

In the good old whaling days that sea captains like to talk about, whale oil was as abundant. Now it is a food. Hydrogen gas is passed through it in the presence of nickel slugs—a process of hydrogenation. A rather cheap oil is thus converted into a more expensive hard fat. A good deal of the margarine that is sold outside of America is composed of this promoted whale oil.
