

SEALS PILING UP SUBSTANTIAL LEAD

Missions Fall For Third Straight—Sacs Dispose of Portland, 4-3.

By the Associated Press. Bit by bit the San Francisco Seals are piling up a substantial lead in Coast league standings.

Last night they downed the Mission Reds, traditional "home town" rivals, for the third straight time. The score was 4-2.

Sacs Take Lead. Aided by Pitcher Flynn's single in the eighth, Sacramento took an odd game lead over Portland by winning yesterday's game 4-3.

After a day's rest due to rain, the Seattle Indians resumed hostilities with Oakland yesterday and drubbed the Aconis 5-0.

Hollywood's Stars continued the repeated drubbings they have been giving their neighboring rivals by defeating Los Angeles 10-1, their third straight victory.

A "miraculous" image of a dead girl on a mirror drew curious thousands to a house in St. Louis recently.

KITTY FREW

by JANE ABBOTT. SYNOPSIS: Committee meetings prove tedious for Marge (Cathy) as she attempts to estrange Garfield Frew from his wife, Kitty. Kitty has succeeded in getting Gar to work instead of idle, and is proud of the theoretical that he and Marge are reconciling Gar to his half-brother, David.

Chapter 25. COMMITTEE OF TWO. WHEN KITTY told Gar she'd like to invite David and Dorcas Taber to their apartment for supper he nodded it flatly.

"Nothing doing, Kit, with any of them. I don't want that sort in my house. Why, what if any of our crowd dropped in and found them here? I suppose the next thing you'll want to do is to entertain some of the shop girls from Stratton's."

"I would like you to know Josie, Gar," Kitty's eyes danced as she pictured such a meeting, Josie's appreciation of Gar's good looks and his charm.

"Oh, I guess I could meet her any time I wanted to, just by waiting outside the door at Stratton's." Kitty let that pass. Josie wasn't the point in hand.

"But to please me, Gar—David was very kind to me. If I ask just him won't you be nice about it?"

Gar was putting on his coat to start for his office. He slipped out of it, threw it aside and, going to Kitty, gave her a little playful shake of the shoulders.

"I've told you how I feel, Kit. And that's that. Now don't get me mad about it. Forget David—he's nothing to us. We've got enough friends to keep us busy. Here, put your arms around my neck and kiss me good-by. That's the sweet girl."

She followed him to the outer door where they kissed again. "I'll be a little late tonight, Kit; I have to stop around at Marge's—she's called a committee meeting. Will you have my dress things out? And if those new shirts of mine don't come this morning will you give Bond a ring? He promised to send them last week. By-by, darling. Take care of your precious self."

Kitty went back to the kitchenette with a singing heart. She would feel the warmth of Gar's parting caress long after he had gone. They hadn't quarreled! Four months ago they would have parted in anger on such a difference of opinion as they had had this morning. But not now. They'd learned, both of them. But she had not given up her point, she told herself.

In the kitchen cupboard she kept her budget book. Gar had laughed at it and at the seriousness with which she studied it.

"Funny little kid, you can spend all the money you want, don't you know that?"

Today ended the first month of their housekeeping. Her house in order, Kitty took out the budget book and spread it open over the kitchen table. She gazed with pride as she considered the totals for her spending. She'd kept under the allowance for food, and she hadn't starved Gar, either. The new coat and hat had made a big hole in the estimate for clothes, but she figured, she wouldn't need anything for another month. The page given over to "sundry expenses" was less satisfactory—she couldn't enter all that they spent when they went out in the evening because Gar most always refused to tell her when she pressed him. "We're not going to get on that," he'd say with a little warning frown.

Reds Lose Two Players But Win From The Cubs

By Herbert W. Barker. (Associated Press Sports Writer) Dan Howley, the notoriously correct manager of the Cincinnati Reds, already is playing in tough luck and the National league season is just three days old.

The Reds' second game of the campaign cost them the services of Ernie Lombardi, the catcher with the rifle arm, and of George Grantham, veteran second baseman whose chief baseball virtue is his timely hitting.

Lombardi stopped a foul tip with his right index finger and the broken bone that ensued will keep him on the bench for at least ten days. Grantham twisted his ankle and probably won't play for a week.

Reds Win Anyway. But even with these two cogs out for repairs, the Reds punched out a 5-3 decision over the Chicago Cubs yesterday and made it two out of three in the series. They did it by the simple expedient of batting around in the first inning. Doubles by Wally Gilbert and Clyde Manion and triples by Babe Herman and Mickey Heath, plus a hit batsman and a walk gave the Reds five runs in that frame. Behind that lead Red Lucas worked easily, holding the Cubs to eight hits.

In the only other National league struggle of the day, the Pittsburgh Pirates pounded Paul Derringer for 15 hits and trimmed the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4. The Cardinals bunched hits off Bill Harris for three runs in the fourth inning but Larry French held them virtually helpless thereafter.

In the American league, the St. Louis Browns and Detroit Tigers broke into the winning column for the first time. Sam Gray allowed only five hits as the Browns turned back the Chicago White Sox, 3-0, the second shutout of the major league season.

Wittlow Wyatt had the better of a pitching duel with Willis Hudlin and Detroit defeated Cleveland, 3-1. Wyatt allowed four hits and struck out seven.

Weather conditions held other American league clubs idle but at Philadelphia Connie Mack, venerable manager of the champion Athletics announced Roger Grammer would replace the veteran Bing Miller in the outfield. Cramer is just starting his second term with the A's.

American Bank At Spokane Closed

SPOKANE, Wash., Apr. 15 (AP)—The American bank here, with deposits of about $3,000,000, was in the hands of the state banking department for liquidation today, and the Spokane State bank, an affiliate, with deposits of $200,000 suspended today as a result.

The directors of the American bank decided on this action late last night, after unsuccessful efforts to obtain reconstruction finance funds to continue business. D. W. Twoby, member of the advisory committee of the reconstruction finance corporation, said insufficient security was available.

Without an official statement from the directors, the Spokesman-Review said "poor loans and depreciated securities" were responsible.

North Carolina, Kansas Vote Dry

North Carolina joins Kansas in voting an outright majority for continuance of the eighteenth amendment in the semi-final returns of the Literary Digest's nation wide prohibition poll as announced in tomorrow's issue of the magazine.

North Carolina goes bone dry by a majority of 81 votes out of 61,463 reported returns from the Tar Heel state and, in Kansas, the drys have a lead of 272 votes from a total of 77,878 polled.

A total of 4,329,416 ballots are reported in the semi-final returns of which 1,137,287, or 26.27 per cent, vote for continuance of the prohibition amendment and 3,192,129, or 73.73 per cent, register their sentiments in favor of repeal.

The dry vote shows a seventh consecutive gain during the poll raising from 15.85 per cent of the total vote of the initial returns in this "straw" referendum.

THE sky cop told the Tinies they had best be sailing on their way. "Just take your time," he shouted. "I will wait till you return." "And when you do, land on this spot. I will be snoozing, like as not. The engine will not start because there's lots of gas to burn." The small propeller then whizzed 'round and soon the plane rose from the ground. "Goodby," exclaimed the Tinies. "Have a good sleep while we're gone." "We'll sail and sail and search around until our good friend Duncy's home. We hope to come right back to you before another dawn." UP, up they went. The sky was clear. "Gee, we can see real well from here," said Scouty. "I will watch the earth. Don't fly the plane
