LAUGHS APLENTY ARE SCHEDULED

Three of Four Features at Liberty During Week are Mirthful Movies.

PROGRAM FOR THE LIBERTY

Sunday and Monday: "The Unexpected Father" with "Slim" Summerville and Zasu Pitts.

Tuesday and Wednesday: "This is the Night" with Charles Ruggles, Lily Damita, Roland Young.

Thursday and Friday: "Alias the Doctor" with Richard Barthelmess, Marian Marsh, Norman Foster.

Saturday Only: "The Big Shot" with Eddie Quillan, Maureen O'Sullivan.

The week's program at the Liberty theatre, beginning Sunday, looks just about like a celebration of "laugh week." Three of the four features scheduled are sure to draw laughs aplenty from audiences, and the other probably will have some comedy now and then through its story.

"The Unexpected Father" Take the opening attraction—"The Unexpected Father." Can anyone

Eddie Quillan in "The Big Shot."

A scene from "The Unexpected Father," coming to the Liberty theatre.

Charles Ruggles, Lily Damita and Thelma Todd as seen in "This is the Night."

Imagine Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts in a tragedy? We'll wager anything we own that there is lots of comedy here.

Even the advance notices agree with us! Here's the dope—Slim Summerville acts the role of a millionaire bachelor who adopts a baby, and from then on things happen!

Others in the cast are Cora Sue Collins, Alison Skipworth, Dorothy Christy, Grace Hampton, Claude Allister, Tyrrell Davis, Tom O'Brien and Richard Cramer.

"This is the Night" The second picture of the week, scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, is "This is the Night." One glance at the cast is sufficient to satisfy those who like their movies mirthful. Charles Ruggles, without a peer among Hollywood stars as a story teller, has the main lead and assisting him are Lily Damita and Roland Young.

In it there is a "let's-just-pretend" bride—on a "make-believe" honeymoon. And she is pursued by three persistent suitors. And there are scenes in Italy, Paris and Venice.

Others in the cast are Roland Young, Lily Damita, Thelma Todd, Cary Grant, Irving Bacon, Claire Dodd and Davison Clark.

"Alias the Doctor"

"Alias the Doctor" is a different picture. It has Richard Barthelmess in the role of a young Austrian farmer boy who makes his way to fame and glory as a brilliant surgeon under an assumed name, only to have the world collapse about his ears, leaving him only the final solace of love and the laborious work of a country farm. There is drama and unexpectedness in this movie.

Barthelmess is supported by a cast including Marian Marsh, Norman Foster, Oscar Apfel, Boris Karloff, Lucile Laverne and others.

"The Big Shot"

Eddie Quillan and Maureen O'Sullivan share the honors in the Saturday only feature, "The Big Shot." Quillan is a small town boy with big ideas and he attempts to enter the world of business by purchasing an auto camp without first examining the property. And to make matters worse his sweetheart throws him down flat without an explanation.

Others in the cast are Mary Nolan, Roscoe Ates, Belle Bennett, Otis Harlan, Frank Darien.

PORTLAND LIVESTOCK

PORTLAND, Ore., Apr. 23 (AP)—Cattle 1475, calves 81 for week. Market appeared steady as rule, with faint showing of strength in spots. Tops in steers quotable at $7.00, although nothing sold above $6.85 and good stuff ruled as low as $6.25. In the steer division heifers moved around $6.25 to $5.50, although some selected steers and heifers scaled around $6.50 to $6.85; cows were $5.00 to $5.25 for the better grades, while bulls sold at $2.50 to $3.75; yearlings and calves showed range of $2.50 to $6.00.

Hogs 5268 for week. Top hogs were generally quoted at $4.50 at weekend in light butcher class, although small lot sold previously at $4.60; heavyweights and underweights sold generally around $3.50 to $4.00, and packing hogs at $3.00 to $3.25, while feeder pigs generally scaled around $3.50 to $4.00.

Sheep and lambs 1063 for week. Market reflected slight showing of weakness again in spring lambs with sales down to $6.50 for tops, which is 50c below last week's final. Choice yearlings were quotable at $4.00 top, with cull to choice ewes $1.00 to $3.00.

Make of Butter Shortage Fails To Change Price

PORTLAND, Apr. 23 (AP)—There continues an unexpected shortage in the make of butter at Pacific northwest points. Both city and country manufacture is reported slightly decreased for the week, following the previous liberal expansion in churning.

Cold weather has put a crimp into the increasing flow of milk into creamery channels, this being noted not only in the Pacific northwest, but along the coast generally.

There was no change in egg market conditions for the weekend trade. Prices were unchanged in all positions. Underlying by outside interests and unattached growers keeps values at a wide spread.

Advance of 1c is being quoted by some killers for heavy hens. Medium and light weights remain unchanged generally.

Market is still surprisingly loaded with ripe apples that need a home body, therefore the unusual volume of such offerings keeps the general price list down.

Pull steadiness continues in the market for country killed calves. Late receipts have been of fair volume with demand taking everything that came. Dressed hogs are holding.

There appears determination on the part of the Willamette valley trade to force offerings of spring lambs on the market. Much off-grade stuff has been received lately with sales down to a dime a pound.

Market for strawberries showed a somewhat better tone for the weekend with reflections of improved weather. Quality was better. A general asking price of $2.50 for 20s was reported.

Demand for practically all offerings was steady during the weekend session of the east side farmers' wholesale market. Offerings were very much restricted. There was little change in the price list.

Asparagus was in small supply and sold readily at $1 dozen bunches generally; the exception being some select Mosier stock selling $1.10.

Spinach was firmer. A lot of Seattle stuff sold 90c with most of the best local 1 1/2 orange box.

Rhubarb was steady around 50c @ 55c for 30s.

Radiators held steady at 20c dozen bunches with chain stores featuring those at a very low price.

Many Local People In Recent Contest

Many local people wrote letters in the recent contest of the Seiberling Tire company, but none were able to cash in on the prize money, according to word received from Mr. Bohnenkamp today.

First prize, $1000, went to Mrs. A. J. Dillehay, of Akron, Ohio; and Louis W. Beck, of Walla Walla, Wash., won the $500 second prize. The only Oregon prize winner was Augusta O. Hewitt, of Portland.

EX-SERVICE MEN FOR CASH BONUS

In such a way that it did not reflect in improved conditions as applied to the masses, and

Whereas the voice of the American Legion as sounded at the national convention at Detroit in opposition to the payment of the adjusted service certificates was sounded in good faith for the best interests of the country insofar as those in attendance were able to foresee and it was not foreseen that such substantial interests when we were advised that no money could be made available to aid the ex-service men, and

Whereas those in attendance at the convention at Detroit were only those that were financially able to attend and consequently were men who could not at that time feel a personal need for financial aid, therefore did not represent the great majority of ex-service men,

Be it resolved that this mass meeting of ex-service men go on record favoring the immediate payment of the remainder of the adjusted service certificates.

Be it further resolved that this body go on record in opposition to the practice of one man or a group of men speaking for the ex-service men without giving them an opportunity to express their personal opinion.

Be it further resolved that this body go on record in opposition to any limitations of any kind on veteran medical aid, or to any limitation on who shall receive payment on the adjusted service certificates.

AL SMITH IS FAVORED IN CONNECTICUT

Members said the conference had no authority to bind its followers to any compromise plan.

"Apparently this makes a contest in the convention inevitable," said Homer S. Summings, former national chairman and a Roosevelt supporter, when notified of the governor's decision to call off the meeting.

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—Speaking at a celebration of the centennial of the creation of Union Square former Governor Alfred E. Smith today urged against a let down "in the eternal vigilance that must be maintained to preserve democracy and freedom."

"There is no such thing as a ruling class," he said, "and that phrase is often used to arouse passion and prejudice. The lowest man in the street is equal to the president of the United States on election day when it shall be decided who shall be asked to rule and uphold equality and liberty and the freedom that the forefathers won at such great sacrifice."

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Apr. 23 (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Hogs 7000; 5 to 10c lower; 220-250 lbs. $3.00 to $3.75.

Cattle, 100; compared week ago; fed steers weak to 25c lower; vealers back to low time of century; practical top both heavies and long yearlings $8.00; vealers $5.50 to $6.00.

Sheep 4,000; today's nominal. For week: fat lambs 50 to 75c lower; sheep around $1.00 and more lower; closing bulks: woolled lambs $3.25 to $3.75; ewes $2.00 to $2.50.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Apr. 23 (AP)—The wool market has been extremely dull the last week. Few buyers were interested enough to make bids on wool or wool crop. Occasional bids apparently for purpose of testing the market were below quoted values and were mostly rejected. A limited quantity of choice 48-50's fleece wools was sold at prices fully up to the quality of quotations the last two weeks. Odd lots of 64's and finer short combing western wools were available at very irregular prices, but most holdings were not offered because of unsatisfactory general trade conditions.

OMAHA SHEEP

OMAHA, Apr. 23 (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Sheep 450; compared week ago lambs 50c to $1.00 lower; sheep and feeders 25 to 50c lower; closing bulks: fed woolled lambs $6.00 to $6.25; California spring lambs $7.00; woolen ewes $2.50 to $3.50.

FOUR COMPANIES DAMAGED BY FIRE AT MEDFORD, ORE.

EUGENE CONTINUES INQUIRY

EUGENE, Ore., April 23 (AP)—The simultaneous outbreak of two separate fires in Medford's industrial section today, resulted in redoubled effort on the part of Fire Chief W. Nausbaum, of Eugene, to determine the origin of four fires which were started at the same time in Eugene's factory area Thursday night. Prompt action by Eugene's fire department confined the damage here to about $10,000.

Chief Nausbaum said yesterday there was little question that the work was done by fire-bugs motivated either by a "thrill" complex or by anarchistic convictions.

It was regarded as significant that in the two cities the fires started in the industrial centers.

In Eugene the flames were first seen in the Eugene excelsior plant. A short time later a fire was found in the Copeland lumber yard, built in a pile of combustible material. Similar evidence of fire-bug activity was found in the Eugene Fruit Growers' association building and the farmers' warehouse.

before the grand jury that "prior to granting the permit no question was asked as to whether the department would consider notes as money." Allison, under cross examination, said he was asked by John Carson, Marion county district attorney, to "refresh his memory" and that he came to Dallas, bringing notes pertaining to McCullister's appearance before the jury.

Rebuttal witnesses called by the state were Charles Goodwin, auditor for the state corporation commission, who verified the statement that the files in connection with the Empire company did not contain the balance sheet setting forth the amount of money that was subscribed in cash or notes. He said he had read a series of articles published by a Salem newspaper and could not explain when or how photostatic copies of certain documents in the file had been made. They were published in the newspaper. As far as he knew Sheldon Sackett, managing editor of the Oregon Statesman and author of the articles, had never had access to the file.

Spring Crop Of Wheat May Not Be Very Large

WASHINGTON, Apr. 23 (AP)—Unless generous rains fall this spring in northwestern states, the agriculture department believes the spring wheat crop may be reduced again because of last year's drought.

This was pointed out in estimating the prospective total wheat crop at approximately 700,000,000 bushels, made up of about 450,000,000 winter and 250,000,000 spring.

"Spring wheat yields," the department said, "show a close relationship to fall precipitation and weather conditions from April to July. Last fall there was continued dry weather throughout some of the spring wheat area and this points to low yields unless there is generous rainfall in these areas during the spring months."

A total wheat crop of 700,000,000 bushels is about 30,000,000 below the domestic utilization of the last two years. Because of a short corn crop and low wheat prices, farmers have been feeding large amounts of wheat to livestock. The usual utilization would be about 650,000,000.

Supplies of wheat available for export and carry-over on April 1 in the four principal exporting countries, United States, Canada, Argentina, and Australia, together with quantities afloat and United Kingdom port stocks, were estimated at 830,000,000 bushels against 883,000,000 a year ago.
