Pledges amounting to $30,908.50 have been received in the La Grande Work Promotion plan, and it is hoped to have reached the quota of $50,000 by the end of the week, according to members of the executive committee. Many of the projects which have been pledged already are under way and are furnishing employment for several of the unemployed. The Work Promotion plan was inaugurated several weeks ago by representatives of city-wide organizations in La Grande, in an effort to foster business and supply work for the unemployed. About 80 solicitors have been making a house to house canvass asking householders to build, buy or remodel, and the citizens have responded to the request to help the city take care of its own problems.

Harold C. Boone is executive secretary of the committee in charge of the plan and has been assisted by Clyde Bunting, Roy Farnum and Angus McAllister, executive committee members.

Far-fetched Resemblance
The hyrax of Africa, though a little animal no longer than a rabbit, is said to be related to both the hippopotamus and the rhinoceros. It does not resemble either to any marked degree except that its teeth are like tiny copies of those of the hippopotamus and its feet are shaped like those of a very small rhinoceros.

Nut of Pines
The pine nut is a large edible seed of any of several species of pines called nut pines. They are small trees with leaves in ones to four leaved clusters, globose cones and large seeds. They are found in hilly country throughout the Southwest. Pinus edulis and Pinus cembroides are the two most important species.

four minor opposition parties, command only 283 of the 450 seats in the Prussian diet. They could form a government only if the 67 members of the Centrist party, which is that of Chancellor Heinrich Brüning, were to support them.

The rule is that the present government holds over, in any event, until a new one is formed with the support of 51 per cent of the diet.

The only other party in Prussia to make a gain was the Communist which now has 57 seats compared with its former 48. The Social Democrats (Socialists) were the heavy losers. They dropped from 137 seats to 97. Even the Catholic Centerists lost four seats.

The Hitlerites polled 7,444,000 votes in Prussia; the Socialists 4,261,000; the Centrist, 3,241,000; Communists,

SILVERTON WOMAN KILLED

Sport Slants
By Alan J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
The decline in major league attendance from the outset can be charged to three factors:
1. The cold weather.
2. The well known economic situation, and
3. The sharp curtailment of "Annie Oakleys."
The magnates hardly can be expected to do anything about the first two items, although the suggestion of President Heydler of the National league that the season be delayed two weeks, in the hopes of outwitting the weather, has been debated pro-and-con.
They might just as well save their breath, for there is no more assurance that the weather will be good the latter part of April than that the world's series won't run afoul of a storm in October.
It might be safer, on the average, to shorten the season at either end, but the magnates don't fancy this idea, either.
As to the economic situation, the club owners have done about all that can be expected for the time being, short of reducing the price of admission. They contend, of course, that these prices were not hoisted during boom times, but that would help the prospective customer who might be willing now to part with 25 or 50 cents, but can't meet the tariff at 75 cents or a dollar.

Frey won eight games and lost 12, with a last-place team in 1931, but the important feature of his record is that he was most effective against first-division clubs, which the Cardinals must beat if they plan to stay around the top.
Bennie was particularly effective against the Giants, the team picked to make it most troublesome for the world's champions in the current National league race. With the Cardinal defense behind him and the Red Bird bats booming a tune in his behalf, Frey should be no less effective against McGraw's tribe than before.
Perhaps Messrs. Brandon, Rickey and Street had this all figured out when they worked out their latest transaction with the Reds.

Let's Thaw Out FROZEN DOLLARS!

"Credit is the blood stream of our economic life. Restriction or destruction of credit cripples the revival of industry, commerce and employment."
—President Hoover

THE President estimates that hoarded money—money withdrawn from circulation—amounts to $1,500,000,000. A patriotic appeal is being made to all citizens to restore this money to circulation.

But hoarded cash is only a drop in the bucket compared to the billions of dollars tied up in hoarded credit—in unpaid bills! Millions of people in this country who can afford to pay—and don't—are working untold hardships on their retail stores, their physicians, their dentists, by withholding payment of their bills long after they are due—

Working hardships on everybody, even themselves, because credit works in circles, through the retailer, the wholesaler, the manufacturer, back to the worker and the consumer.

Let's thaw out those frozen dollars! Idle dollars won't put idle hands to work! If all of us would pay up our unpaid bills now, it would put billions of dollars back into circulation, would stimulate business, would put millions back to work, would hasten the return of prosperity.

Pay your bills now—as a patriotic duty—as a just obligation to your creditors . . . your country . . . yourself!
