

Heavier Butter Offerings Noted Over Northwest

PORTLAND, Apr. 27 (AP)—Greatly increased offerings of butter are reflected throughout the Pacific northwest sector as a result of general betterment in weather conditions.

General lack of change is showing in the market for live poultry here.

Corn of old crop onions held by a local broker, is still holding here but sales at the extreme prices asked have practically ceased.

McLAUGHLIN APPLIES FOR RADIO PERMIT sufficient high class programs to fill in the time that might be allowed him for use of the air.

He believes that programs could be put on the air that would bring many more tourists to this area each year, and that would cause passing tourists to spend two or more days in this locality.

If granted, the transmitting station would be erected in the Sacajawea Inn building, Mr. McLaughlin said.

At present only one outside station provides satisfactory daytime reception in this section of the state and there are no broadcasting stations operating at present in Eastern Oregon, he said.

La Grande Band To Give Concert In Baker Sunday

BAKER, Ore., April 27 (Special)—The La Grande band, known and praised throughout the state, will give a concert directed by Andrew Loney Jr., at the Clark theatre next Sunday afternoon and evening in addition to the regular picture program.

Although none of the La Grande players now rank as professional musicians, a few have had rather outstanding experience.

Mr. Crews formerly played bass drum in the United States marine band and is an expert tympanist.

Mr. Robinson, solo trombonist, was formerly a member of the coast artillery band and at one time was a member of the Rosarian, Eikas, firemen's, policemen's and Shrine bands of Portland.

During the war he was first sergeant and solo trombonist with the crack 43rd infantry band. He has had considerable experience in theatre and symphony orchestras, and rates easily as one of the outstanding trombonists of the northwest.

A successful teacher of the clarinet is Roy Mattoon, solo clarinet with the band. A pupil of Henri Leroy, solo clarinet with the Carde de Republican band of Paris, during the war, Mattoon was soloist with the 122nd infantry band. He also has had wide experience in orchestra and bands.

L. Lindsey, French hornist, is another player whose fine musicianship on the horn and violin goes to add perfection to the band.

appeared to have contributed to the lightness of the vote.

Smith's victory came after one of the most bitterly fought campaigns in the history of Massachusetts.

A feud of several years standing between Mayor Curley and the regular Democratic state organization, as personified by Gov. Ely and Frank J. Donahue, state chairman, who named the Smith slate, cast a shadow over the campaign that at times almost hid the real issue — Smith or Roosevelt.

The defeat came as a severe blow to the Roosevelt adherents. Mayor Curley and James Roosevelt, son of Gov. Roosevelt and also a candidate for delegate at large, had hoped to get at least a few places on the at-large ticket and several district delegates.

Although a newcomer to Massachusetts politics, James Roosevelt ran neck and neck with Mayor Curley at the head of the Roosevelt slate.

Senator Walsh received the highest total vote on the Smith slate with 153,303. Governor Ely was in second place with 148,944. Former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston, had 144,508 for third place and Suffolk County, ran fourth with 143,900.

The highest Roosevelt vote, that given James Roosevelt, was 56,480. Mayor Curley received 56,454 votes with the totals for the remainder of the Roosevelt slate running as low as 44,597.

The 12 delegates-at-large have a half a vote each in the convention whereas the district delegates have a full vote each. The Republican delegates have a full vote each.

The Republican at large slate which was chosen without opposition consisted of former U. S. Senator William M. Butler, former Governor Alvin T. Fuller, George F. Booth, Worcester publisher, and Mary Pratt Foster of Greenfield.

ROOSEVELT HAS SLIM LEAD PHILADELPHIA, April 27 (AP)—With more than one-third of the count completed, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt led former Governor Alfred E. Smith by only a little more than 2,000 votes in Pennsylvania's presidential preference primary today.

The vote from 298 of the state's 8181 precincts gave Roosevelt 49,760 and Smith 47,647.

The preferential expression is not binding on the delegates who will cast Pennsylvania's 78 votes at the Democratic national convention. The Roosevelt forces have claimed 66 votes.

In the Republican senatorial race Senator James J. Davis up for re-nomination, held a lead of 252,718 votes over Major General Smedley D. Butler, but Butler refused to concede defeat.

"I shall make no statement," the former marine declared, "until I know just how the people voted all over the state."

Senator Thanks Supporters Senator Davis, however, took the results, so far, as conclusive and thanked his supporters.

Results from 4435 of the state's 8181 precincts showed: Davis, 532,017; Butler 279,299.

In the race for Republican nomination for congress in the far-flung "Horseshoe district," which covers eight counties in Northern Pennsylvania, Representative Louis T. McFadden was nearly 4,000 votes ahead of Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, wife of Pennsylvania's governor.

The vote, in 213 districts out of 312, was: McFadden 17,418; Mrs. Pinchot 13,542.
