Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to the flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting.

THE ONLY SOLUTION

Every spring we hear more or less discussion on the part of various La Grande citizens concerning the advantages and possibilities of inaugurating daylight saving time during the spring and summer months.

It is evident that a good many people are dissatisfied with the present system. La Grande — in fact most of Eastern Oregon — is so situated geographically that without daylight saving time a large amount of daylight is wasted during four or five months of the year.

The sun comes up long before the average person is awake, and sets in the evening long before anyone cares to retire. Very few people make use of the early morning daylight, but a great many would be glad of an extra hour of light in the evening, which would permit playing golf or tennis, working in the garden, or auto riding while it is still light enough to enjoy the scenery.

But, judging by the results of a rather recent experiment, it seems almost certain that we cannot hope to succeed with any daylight saving plan in La Grande unless the entire state were to adopt it.

An attempt was made two years ago to institute daylight saving time in La Grande, but after a week or so the plan was admitted to be a failure, principally because of the confusion between railroad time and daylight saving time, and the clocks that had been set ahead were turned back to their standard positions.

However, there is a solution to our problem — and one that would cause no inconvenience to anyone. Briefly, it is this. Place all that section of Eastern Oregon east of Umatilla in the mountain time zone, with Umatilla and Burns the places for changing watches when traveling east or west, instead of Huntington as at present.

Ontario and a large section of Southeastern Oregon now have mountain time. The sun sets here at almost exactly the same time as in that region, yet the time difference is a full hour! Why not straighten out the line and give all of Eastern Oregon mountain time?

Such a plan would cause no confusion. It would give us standard time the year 'round, and at the same time allow us to make the most of the daylight hours during the pleasanter months of the year. The plan is not new and untried; it has been used in the East. Many Michigan cities recently changed from central to eastern time by shifting the line westward. We could do the same thing here if Baker, La Grande, and Pendleton would get together and ask our congressional delegation in Washington to effect the change for us.

The Observer will be glad to receive and publish the opinions of any subscribers who care to express themselves on this question. What do you say?

WE MUST WORK ON FOR PEACE Some one said to this writer the other day that it was foolish to spend time and money and words to prevent war. War, he said, repeating a time-worn argument, is inevitable, because there always have been wars. The thing to do is to go on preparing for war, and not to waste money on efforts to prevent it.

finger has been itching at the trigger too long, will fire a shot. And next time there won't be any learned and industrious men writing long books on the causes of it all. There won't be any learned and industrious men, and there won't be any books. There will only be a few idiots gibbering among the ruins. And sometimes, even now, I feel like one of them." — Klamath Falls Herald.

HOOVER'S SHOWING California gave President Hoover a handsome complimentary vote at Tuesday's election. The president received considerably more votes than the combined tally of all three of the Democratic candidates. The record reveals the strength of the president in his home state and indicates that he will easily carry it against any Democratic candidate this fall.

Another straw in the wind was Hoover's decisive defeat last week of Maryland's favorite son, ex-Senator Joseph I. France. France stands well in his home state and his friends made an active campaign in his behalf. It is customary and almost traditional throughout the states that the "favorite son" candidate be given the compliment of control of the state's delegates at the convention.

But Maryland Republicans disregarded the custom and paid a high tribute to the president by instructing the state's delegates to give him. This same fellow, Joseph I. France, of Maryland, has filed for the presidential nomination in Oregon. His name will be the only one for that office on the Republican ticket in this state. Owing to the fact that Hoover is practically assured of his party's nomination, his managers are saving the expense of campaigns in those states which do not bind their delegates to the results of the primary. Therefore Hoover's name will not be printed on the Republican primary ballot. To vote for him it will be necessary to write in his name and put an "X" before it.

To send a delegation to the Republican convention nominally instructed for this man France of Maryland, who is merely seeking publicity, and who has not a Chinaman's chance at the nomination for the presidency, would be little short of a big joke, and somewhat embarrassing to the delegates. It would be a gracious compliment if he were in Oregon, his hoodlum home, President Hoover's name were written in by a sufficient number of voters to defeat the publicity-seeking contender from Maryland. — Oregon City Enterprise.

In Washington

By Herbert Plummer WASHINGTON—Whatever else Tom Hefflin impressed on those gentlemen of the senate, whom he refers to as my "one-time comrades," his recent appearance to argue his election contest perhaps left no doubt in their minds that he is a great showman as ever.

Alice Roosevelt Longworth is said to have once told Hefflin: "Tom, you'll probably never get many people to agree with you, but you're the greatest showman in congress."

He proved the truth of the latter part of this statement when he appeared before the senate the other day to "sell the truth" about the Alaska election in which he was defeated. He seemed to forget nothing—not one of the tricks so much a part of him.

Of course the Hefflinesque style of dress—that black coat, creamy vest, black bow tie and prince-nez on flowing black ribbon—was in evidence.

Belittles The Galleries But that played a minor part. It was the antics of "Cotton Tom" himself that delighted those packed galleries and human-lined walls of the senate chamber.

Repeated raps of the gavel were necessary to restore order after one of Hefflin's cracks. Once Senator Moses, president pro tem of the senate, waved the budget when he was not discreet he would order the galleries cleared.

The laughter was provoked when Hefflin referred to Black of Ancker, his opponent's junior senator, completely ignoring Blackhead's claim. And at other times when his mimicry and odd ability to tell funny stories contrasted a point dropped up the galleries and senators, too, were unable to restrain themselves.

Standing by the desk of Senator Swanson of Virginia, absent at the Geneva disarmament conference, and with papers laid out on the desks of both Auburn of Arizona and Walsh of Montana, who were not present, Hefflin held forth.

He addressed himself almost entirely to the Republican side, turning now and then to look straight at Sheppard of Texas, who sat at his desk, or to wave in the direction of Black and Blackhead.
