

Kills Sweetheart And Then Turns Gun On Himself

HAMPTON, Va., May 12 (AP)—Picture of Carl H. Holston and his sweetheart, Miss Pearl Lufzy, whom he killed before taking his own life yesterday, were published side by side in the Newport News Daily Press this morning under the caption suggested by Holston in a note to the paper: "Lovers die together."

Holston wrote he had decided to take the life of his sweetheart and his own because the girl's parents had objected to their marriage.

Mrs. C. L. Lufzy, the girl's mother, said she hurried downstairs after hearing three shots fired. Holston met her in the hall aimed his revolver at her and pulled the trigger twice but the gun did not fire, she said.

In the living room she found her daughter dead with two bullet wounds in her body.

Holston returned home, wrote two letters, one to his mother and the other to the press, and then fired a bullet into his brain.

Billy Howell and Charlie Yates are expected to share the spotlight at the Southern amateur golf tournament.

BATTALINO RETURNS FOR MORE PETROLLE

Above is the way Billy Petrolle and Bat Battalino stack up. The pair meet in a 10-round bout in Chicago May 20. Petrolle stopped the former feather champ in 13 rounds in the first bout.

By Loren Disney (Associated Press Sports Writer) NEW YORK (AP)—They probably gave Bat Battalino the butcher knife to play with when he was a baby.

At any rate, the former featherweight champion somewhere developed the habit of playing with dangerous toys. He's going to fight Billy Petrolle again, this time in Chicago May 20.

Bat's face, a grotesque crimson mask, when he was helped from the Madison Square Garden ring last March, was eloquent testimony of the danger of fooling with the fists of the old Fargo Express.

In that battle for 11 rounds Battalino walked into Petrolle, who can put a left hook through the eye of a needle. Bat's plan was to get in close to nullify the leverage of Petrolle's blows.

Following the "dad's" conference each of the seven high school students who were formerly accused of abducting and beating Dejarain apologized to him and agreed to aid rather than abet him in school activities, the fathers reported.

In Chicago there will be no 12th round, for the bout is scheduled for ten. An ironic note in the first fight was that Battalino, who before had proved himself a strong finisher, wanted 15 rounds, while Petrolle insisted 10 rounds was long enough.

Battalino's flaming courage against Petrolle must have been a surprise to Cincinnati fans who earlier in the year had seen him fold up in three rounds from some light taps by Freddy Miller.

However, Bat had about outgrown the feather title and wanted to campaign in the heavier divisions. Battalino says he was weakened from making 126 pounds.

Bat has always been an indifferent performer in bouts that didn't count. He turned in numerous sloppy jobs in non-title fights while featherweight champ. But in the important battles, against La Barba, Chocolate, Singer, Ran, he always has come through.

Fred Sington, former Alabama football star, is playing first base with the Columbus, Ga., Foxes of the Southeastern league.

France expects to spend more than $42,000,000 on the coming year on a national highway works program.

All Peaceful At Salem High; But Not Yesterday

SALEM, May 12 (AP)—All was peaceful at the Salem high school today. The course of events since yesterday, including a second attack upon Victor Dejarain, expulsion of another high school student, and a conference between the fathers of the attacked and attacking students terminated in an agreement to "bury the hatchet" and urge upon school officials to reinstate seven boys ousted for kidnapping.

Following the "dad's" conference each of the seven high school students who were formerly accused of abducting and beating Dejarain apologized to him and agreed to aid rather than abet him in school activities, the fathers reported.

REVISED PROTOCOL REPORTED TODAY (Continued From Page One) The vote was 11 to 9.

Foes of the court succeeded in adding a reservation requiring that the other signatories to the court protocol formally accept the senate's ban against advisory opinions affecting the United States before American entry is effective.

Senator Walsh (D., Mont.) made the motion for a favorable report. Aroused by the action in putting the protocol before the senate at this time, Senators Johnson (R., Cal.) and Moses (R., N. H.) two outspoken opponents of the court, announced they would force the issue immediately.

Those voting for the favorable report were: Republicans: Capper, Kansas; Reed, Pennsylvania; Peas, Ohio; Vandenberg, Michigan; Democrats: Swanson, Virginia; Pittman, Nevada; Walsh, Montana; Harrison, Mississippi; George, Georgia; Black, Alabama, and Connally, Texas.

Against: Republicans: Borah, Idaho; Johnson, Moses, La Follette, Wisconsin; Robinson, Indiana; Glenn, Illinois; and Cutting, New Mexico. Democrat: Lewis, Illinois.

Farmer labor: Shipstead, Minnesota. Senators Robinson, of Arkansas, and Wagner of New York, both Democrats, were not recorded on the vote.
