ceedingly difficult for killers to remain in business.
Very little demand is showing for turkeys but country holdings are extremely heavy and offers to sell are liberal. However there appears little disposition to accept current low values.

Steadiness is generally shown in the market for California strawberries with Florin-Sacramento at $1.75 for 20s and Fresno at $1.50. Oregon stock is still of such quality to make it difficult to move.
Weather conditions have greatly increased consumptive call for head lettuce and there is a very heavy demand for Californian at full prices. Local stock is just beginning to move in earnest but is still much below the California top.

Further cut in the selling price of new Bermuda type onions is reflected here with general sales down to $2.00 per 50 lb. sack or hamper. Old Oregon are dragging; mostly around $3.00 to $3.50 cental.

In general there was practically no change in the price of country killed meats for the day. Venal are steady at the late betterment with hogs and lambs just holding.

Notes of wholesale trading: California new potatoes are weaker but no lower for the day. Asparagus demand was better with prices steady to a shade better. Mexican peppers are being sold for a song with quality lacking. Naval oranges in very small supply and keen demand.

FAIR FISHING REPORTED BY 3-A OFFICES

The haunts of the rainbow, the Eastern Brook, the Dolly Varden and other types of trout are being sought out by fishermen these days, with excellent catches made in some of the smaller streams, the La Grande office of the 3-A announces. Good road conditions near La Grande add to the popularity of the sport, although the height of the season is not reached until in June.

The warm weather of the past week has melted the snow in the high mountains with the result that many streams are too high and colored, although good fishing is reported in the Upper Grande Ronde river toward Starkey, Lookingglass creek, Indian creek, Beaver creek, Mendowbrook and Five Points.

Catherine creek and the Minam river are still too high, but excellent fishing conditions are anticipated in the streams during June, July and August.

Northeastern Oregon offers the sportsman and tourist fishing unequalled by any other section of the state, with good streams close to La Grande, while others are accessible for weekend trips. For short Sunday trips for picnickers who are not interested in fishing, the 3-A office suggests Catherine creek, Ladd canyon, the Starkey region and Mill or Deal's canyons.

Lack of General Change Seen In Market for Eggs

PORTLAND, May 13 (AP) — There remains a lack of general change in the market for eggs here and generally through the country. Low prices are held everywhere. Receipts are decreasing.
Butter market is generally held steady.
Very quiet trading tone is showing for live chickens locally with no change reflected in the buying prices. Small springers are under pressure as a result of dumping by Western Washington.

An insistent call not only from local handlers of live poultry, but from producers, is being made for the city to impose a suitable license fee upon peddlers from other states who continue not only to upset the local market for chickens but make it ex-
