

Class Day Held At Union High On Wednesday

By Mrs. L. Z. Terral (Observer Correspondent)
UNION (Special) — The program for class day exercises Wednesday afternoon was cleverly worked out and the senior class in a body made three appearances during the program.

"Doc" Green is having rather a serious time with an infection in his hand and was obliged to return to Hot Lake the first of the week.
Mr. and Mrs. Taylor McGraw, who have been with Mrs. Josephine McKenney during the past few months, have gone to Pullman to visit their son, Carl, dean at W. S. O. They later will return to their home in Iowa.

tended the juniors a reception and dance. Stewards of purple and gold, class colors, were stationed from the side walls to the center of the ceiling where they were looped to enclose a cluster of gay-colored balloons. During the evening, as the crowd danced the balloons were released and floated gently down upon the dancers. Lovely evening dresses in a wide range of colors took on different shades as the gay-colored lights played upon the moving throng. The music was furnished by a La Grande orchestra. The whole setting was a symbol of the springtime and gaiety of youth.

tained Mr. and Mrs. Roy Conklin, Roy and Ethel at dinner Wednesday evening.
The senior class has been rehearsing its play "The Knight of the Road" which will be given tomorrow evening at the gymnasium. The play is short but full of thrills that will keep the audience entertained up to the happy ending of the story. The senior class gives a play that is free to the public and a full house is expected this evening.

You Can't Marry

SYNOPSIS: A plot against George's life is revealed in a chapter which shows the various deceptions of her employer's business manager. George's life is in danger through the machinations of a woman who is in love with him. The plot is revealed in a chapter which shows the various deceptions of her employer's business manager.

WORTH A FELONY

A FULL, deep tide of color came flushing back to George's face. "I'll marry you before you go, Ed. Tomorrow if you like."
"Girl!"

Matching glared up at his secretary—his face contorted, his throat working.
"Again. Her lips tightened. Three years ago she had vowed to herself that never, whatever he did or said should the Old Man make her lose her temper. Control had become a habit now, but occasionally—as to night, after a long, hard day and an emotional evening—it was a habit that wore thin.

Braves Continue To Demoralize All Opposition

By Gayle Talbot (Associated Press Staff Writer)
Bill McKee's Boston Braves may not win the National league flag this year, but they promise to establish a lasting record for demoralizing the opposition.

In 22 games the battling Bostonians have been helped along by 48 opponents' errors.
The Giants have suffered most from the Jinx. In six engagements with the Braves they committed 17 bobbles, eight in one afternoon and five in another. Brooklyn made 10 in five games, Philadelphia seven in five.

Now come the league leading Chicago Cubs with a threat to surpass anything previously done. Facing Boston for the first time yesterday, they managed to compile seven errors, more than sufficient to give the Braves an 8 to 3 victory behind Ed Brandt.

The Cubs' young infielders, Bill Herman and Bill Jurgens, divided most of the hard luck between them. Herman with four bobbles and Jurgens with two.

Brandt baffles Cubs. Brandt had the Cubs baffled until the last of the ninth, when Johnny More nicked him for a homerun with two on. The loss cut Chicago's lead to one.

The Brooklyn Dodgers won first blood in their long-awaited series in Cincinnati, 5 to 2, as Babe Phelps hurled a scoreless ball for the first inning. Joe Stripp and Tony Cuccinello, former Reds, played a big part in the victory.

Joe Haines made his initial start of the year for the St. Louis Cardinals and beat the Phillies, 8 to 2. The Cards knocked Jim Elliott from the hill in the second and plastered his three innings.

The Giants' opener at Pittsburgh was rained out, and only one American league engagement escaped the elements. Cleveland played the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 4, when Dick Porter's double scored Cissel after two were out in the ninth. Earl Webb lost the ball in the sun.

Baccalaureate At Cove to Be Sunday

By Mrs. A. G. Conklin (Observer Correspondent)
COVE (Special) — The Methodist choir is preparing special music for the baccalaureate address Sunday evening to be given by Rev. C. E. Calmes.

Cove seniors chose Monday for their sneak day. Mr. LaViolette, their advisor, Mrs. LaViolette and Evelyn Haggy, accompanied them on a trip to the Minam where it joins the Wallowa river. After a day of picnicking, they went to La Grande and enjoyed a picture show.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meyer and Rolex Prillman, of La Grande, were Cove visitors Sunday.
Ivan Murchison, who has been an enlisted man at Hawaii for the past two years and a half, came home last week carrying an honorable discharge.

Mrs. B. F. Delsman and her children are moving to La Grande this week. She has been living on the Andrew Anderson ranch on the hill east of town for several years but has now given up the place.

Two boxes of state library books were packed Tuesday night and shipped to the state library. The officers of the library board, Mrs. Fletcher, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Conklin, assisted Mrs. Grace in checking and packing them.

"Good-night, Miss Revell."
The general manager was making his way to the stairs.
"Ob, I didn't see you, Mr. Croze. Good-night!"

She turned down the side corridor and heard the sound of yet another bell. This one was rung by her pressed on the mechanism set in the corridor floor and it warned the Old Man of her approach. All the same by the time she entered the enormous bed-chamber he was ringing her for the fourth time.

She came impetuously across to the four-poster and tendered the typescript. Already his withered hand was waiting, twitching and fluttering, to snatch the papers from her.

For perhaps thirty seconds a blessed calm prevailed. Then—"Provisionally"—I said "provisionally!" His falsetto broke in a jangle of excitement. He glared up at his secretary, his face contorted, his throat working. "This is no good, any of it. It's an imbecile invention on your part. I never die tired any of this. If I weren't surrounded by incompetent, impertinent—"

"I think if you read on, sir, you'll find you used the word in the third paragraph." She pointed—and her chief, in an access of exasperation, slapped her finger aside. "A provisional loan for which the collateral security—"

"That'll do! That'll do! Shouting out an important negotiation like this—d'you realize that there are three men within a mile of us who'd gladly commit a felony to know what's on this piece of paper?"

He stared at her, rubbing his head, his lips moving in half-audible speech. He looked huge, baffled rather pathetic.
"Ed!" she whispered tenderly. "Ed!" she whispered tenderly. "We get married tomorrow and
