Delphian Society In Final Meeting Of The Season—New Officers Are Installed—Manuscript Work Studied

The history of manuscript work is fascinating and shows a gradual evolution from the time books had no chapters, no sentences, no capitals. Then came the enlarging of the first letter following a sentence, then the coloring of it, then the interior of these larger letters and also the margins began to be filled with miniature designs. Next came pictures with beautiful borders forming the frame. It mattered little to the monk whether the manuscript on which he was engaged was finished in one year or 20. He worked solely for his art, for the glory of God, and for the honor of his monastery.

Reproductions of some of these rare old miniatures with a study of the manner in which they were painted furnished a pleasing study for the Delphian society Tuesday following the second annual banquet held at the Sacajawea Inn.

This was the final meeting of the year, which has been devoted to the study of art under the leadership of Miss Ida McMeekin, president.

The following officers for the coming year were installed: president, Miss Henri Herring; vice president, Mrs. L. B. Pierce; secretary, Mrs. Lowell Williamson; treasurer, Mrs. C. E. Anderson.

the La Grande country club tomorrow will begin with a potluck luncheon at 12:30 o'clock, followed by a sweepstakes tournament in the afternoon.

Miss Anne Stange, who set a new course record for 18 holes last weekend, has another record to her credit—a 39 for the first nine holes. She is leaving La Grande tomorrow to participate in a state tournament at the Waverly country club in Portland.
