Miss Hawksworth Elected to Office

Four members of the public library staff, Mabel Doty, Blanche Herzinger, Gertrude Wagener and Ella Niederer and Mildred Hawksworth, librarian of the Normal school library attended the meeting of the Eastern Oregon Library association in Pendleton Saturday. They report a most interesting meeting with 30 or more librarians and board members in attendance. The morning session was devoted to roll call, a representative from each library telling of some outstanding accomplishment of the library during the year. Miss Hawksworth also gave an interesting account of the American Library association in New Orleans. The Old Oregon Trail motif was cleverly used at the luncheon which was served at the Pendleton hotel to 50 members and guests. There were three speakers at the afternoon session. Miss Harriet Long, state librarian, talked on present day library problems. "Northwest Literature" was the subject of Mr. Russell Blankenship's address. Miss Rose Le Bran of Milton, gave an entertaining account of her recent experiences as a war correspondent in China.

The following new officers were elected for the coming year: president, Jane Olson, librarian Umatilla county library; vice president, Mildred Hawksworth, librarian, Eastern Oregon Normal school; secretary, Miss Cochran, Umatilla county library.

It was a surprise for New York's Broadway and Park Avenue when Eleanor Post Hutton, society belle to $50,000,000, over-rode her family's wishes to marry Preston Sturges, playwright best known for his long-run comedy, "Strictly Dishonorable." Now their romance is to end, according to reports from Paris, where Sturges is said to have been served with papers preliminary to a suit for annulment of the marriage. The picture shows them in happier days.

EDUCATION FOSTERED BY MOOSE

While the Moose founded its child city of Mooseheart — a surprising community situated 35 miles west of Chicago — with an idea of caring for its dependent children and providing them a home until such time as they could take care of themselves, the fraternity also looked to the future. While every practical need of the children, together with many comforts and a few luxuries, are supplied, the Moose see that each has a high school education and instruction in a trade before he goes out to meet life. A corner of the sheet metal department at Mooseheart, Illinois is shown above. The educational features of this noted child city are highly vocational and practical. About twenty-five of the most useful crafts, including agriculture, are being operated as a part of the educational work.

Dr. Landis Here— Dr. R. P. Landis, of Portland, who practiced in La Grande for several years, was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Loney Jr. during the weekend. Dr. Landis was well known in La Grande, taking an active interest in community affairs and serving on the city commission and the school board.
