Presbyterians Pick Fort Worth For 1933 Meet

DENVER, June 2 (AP) — The record books of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A., held the accomplishments of the church's 144th general assembly as ministers and elders scattered to their homes in all sections of the country and to missionary posts in far corners of the world.

Before the assembly was dissolved yesterday by Dr. Charles W. Kerr, of Tulsa, Okla., moderator of the church the commissioners chose Fort Worth, Tex., for the 145th assembly next year. A protest against holding the assembly in the Texas city was recorded by the Rev. Irving W. Underhill, negro missionary. He urged the negro delegations to refuse to meet "in any place where a negro can not be treated as a man and a brother." There was no discussion on the protest which was recorded in the assembly records.

Church leaders saw in the results of the assembly sessions several outstanding developments. Indicated were the decisive votes of confidence given the general council and existing government of the church and the admission of women to the general council for the first time in the church's history.

The commissioners were also emphatic in their desire that the church continue relations with the federal council of Churches of Christ, despite opposition from a fundamentalist group. The church reaffirmed its unequivocal support of the 18th amendment and opposition to attempts to repeal or nullify the prohibition laws.

A change in the confession of faith in regard to marriage gave tacit approval to supervised practice of eugenics, the church holding that "children have the right to be well born."

Ministers of the church were reminded of new responsibilities in coping with prevailing social and industrial conditions.

OREGON'S FIRST VOTE FOR FRANCE

ney, was elected permanent secretary of the group of 13 delegates who will leave Portland on the night of Thursday, June 9, arriving at Chicago, the convention city, Sunday morning, 48 hours before the opening of the national meeting.

Under the Oregon statutes each candidate for position of delegate to a national convention agrees to and signs a pledge that "if I am selected . . . I will use my best efforts to bring about the nomination of those persons for president and vice president of the United States who receive the largest number of votes at the coming primary election . . ."

No penalty for non-compliance is provided, and violation of the pledge is classified as a "political offense."

An attempt by L. B. Sandblast to present to the meeting a motion he had prepared on the prohibition question failed. The chair contended "such matters can better be taken up at Chicago."

All delegates receiving letters from the McMinnville Women's Christian Temperance Union urging the delegation to "give its vote for enforcement rather than submission for repeal" of the liquor question.

A staff writer from the Portland bureau of the Associated Press will accompany the delegation to Chicago to cover the activities of the 13 men for member papers in Oregon, and will remain to write of the Democratic convention which opens June 27.

OUSTING OF MAYOR TO BE REQUESTED

wound up late yesterday. Newspapers predicted ouster charges would be laid before Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt soon, possibly next week.

Because Gov. Roosevelt is a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination and Mayor Walker is an adherent of Tammany hall the possible effects of the Walker case on the national political picture have come more and more to the fore.

Very different from the flaming battle between the mayor and Seabury was the set-to yesterday between the investigator and Dr. William H. Walker, the mayor's brother. A stout man who sat uncomfortably in the witness chair and bit his eye-glasses until they broke in two, Dr. Walker heard Seabury produce evidence to show his bank deposits in the last four years were $431,258.

Denies Any Graft
To a question suggesting possible graft, he entered a denial. He acknowledged he split money with a group of doctors who received large fees from the city for treating injured employes, but denied splitting city fees, except with one doctor. With this doctor, he said, he had a joint bank account, in which both deposited, and the money was split "fifty-fifty."

He said it was just a coincidence that payments by another doctor to him were exactly half of city fees received by that doctor.

Seabury's charge that Mayor Walker had, under the city charter, forfeited his right to office by holding bonds of a corporation doing business with the city brought a rejoinder of "unfairness" from Mayor Walker, who is in Detroit. He said he didn't know the Reliance Bronze and Steel company had a $43,000 contract for new traffic standards on Fifth avenue.

No more public hearings until fall are expected in the $750,000 investigation of the city, which has been conducted by a legislative committee with Seabury as counsel. Sensational disclosures have marked the hearing, one of them leading to the removal of Sheriff Thomas M. Farley for failing to explain swollen bank accounts.

Among Seabury's disclosures about Walker was that a promoter interested in the taxicab situation turned over $26,000 in bonds to the mayor, and that an agent of a bus company for which he signed a franchise brought him a $10,000 letter of credit.

The mayor said the $26,000 came from a pool in which he put no money, but was ready to stand any loss, and that the $10,000 was advanced him and members of his traveling party, not the bus man.

Seabury sought to show that Russell T. Sherwood, who handled nearly a million dollars before he disappeared, was the mayor's fiscal agent. The mayor denied it.

Wallowa Sawmill Operating

Bowman-Hicks Opens Up Work In Two Counties

The Wallowa sawmill of the Bowman-Hicks Lumber company resumed operations this week after a shutdown lasting since October, 1930. H. N. Ashby, western manager of the Bowman-Hicks company, is at Wallowa today in connection with the work there. Previously he announced that the mill would cut only pine lumber, which would be sent to this city to supply the La Grande planer. He said that approximately $12,000 would be placed in circulation in Union and Wallowa counties by the operations of the Wallowa mill and the local planer.

The sawmill resumed work because of depleted stock, and Mr. Ashby was not prepared to say how long the run would continue.
