BONUS ARMY IS WORRIED ABOUT MEALS

Communists, handled roughly at the veterans' encampments, were singularly quiet during the parade last night, which was held by about 10,000 spectators.

Ready for Action— But police were ready for action to day. The workers ex-service men's league, beaten in attempts to gain mastery in the "bonus army," laid tentative plans for a parade, but a permit was denied.

House Guest— Miss Twilla House, of Echo, is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Bailey, her aunt and uncle. She expects to remain for the rest of the week before returning to her home.

To McEwen— After visiting in La Grande on the occasion of her sister's illness, Mrs. W. R. Hawley has returned to her home at McEwen. Mrs. Hawley is the sister of Mrs. Homer Bidwell who is recovering from an operation at the Grande Ronde hospital.

To Attend Meet— Ray Ragsdale, left today for Portland to attend a convention of the Farmers Automobile Insurance association agents.

Visit— Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Lambert, of Lexington, Okla., visited Sunday in La Grande with Mrs. Sadie Lambert.

More Men Arriving— WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)— Police kept constant touch today with federal authorities as the numbers of the veterans seeking the bonus payment continued to grow.

There were reports, apparently well founded but unconfirmed by officials, that army posts in the vicinity of Washington had taken precautionary measures in view of the mounting numbers of veterans in the city.

Officers attached to Bolling field, the army airport adjacent to one of the veterans encampments, were asked not to leave their reservation after noon today.

The inhospitable reception they received at the hands of police and capitol building officials when they applied for permission to parade there, today caused the leaders of the communist organization much worry.

Claims Held Exaggerated— The communists organization, claiming a membership of 2000 among the veterans now in the city, were estimated by police to have an actual membership of some 250 out of nearly 8000 veterans in the encampments.

Meanwhile, Representative Rainey, the Democratic leader, told newspapermen he would keep the house in session for a vote Monday on whether to take up legislation for immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus.

Rainey, who filed the adverse ways and means committee report on the cash bonus proposal, said: "One hundred forty-five members signed the petition to discharge the rules committee from consideration of the cash bonus proposition, and they are entitled to a vote in the house."

A sudden change in temperature from a hot day to a chilly, foggy night in the Anacostia flats brought a new problem for home and store owners near the Anacostia encampment for veterans.

All lumber of any size in the encampment had been used to build shelters and only feeble bonfires could be built for the veterans to huddle about.

Large numbers sought admission to the 11th precinct police station, but were denied it because of the size of the groups.

They wandered about Anacostia and spent the night in all night deliriums or any spot which promised warmth.

Expect Bill to Pass— Representative Patman (D. Tex.) told newspapermen today that besides the 145 signers of the bonus petition he had assurances 80 other house members will vote for the bill, making a total of 225, more than the majority needed for passage.

Patman also said he received today three money orders from Texas for a total of $65 which he is turning over to a committee of the bonus marchers to help pay expenses.

Emanuel Levin, a communist connected with the Workers Ex-service Men's league said today that a call for recruits to join the league's demonstration Friday had gone out and that "a sufficient number of men to stage a monotonous demonstration would be in Washington within the next two days."

In the house, Representative Black (D. N. Y.) introduced a bill to authorize a $125,000 appropriation for taking care of the veterans.

In a statement accompanying the resolution Black said the funds in the hands of Police Chief Glassford to care for the bonus marchers had dwindled to nothing, and the marchers were in danger of starvation.

He pointed out the "great respect for authority" evidenced by the men, and declared the committee on appropriations should immediately report his bill.

Saying he "believed in fair play," Speaker Garner also told newspapermen the house would be kept in session this week for a vote Monday.

The Black bill also provides that part of the money would be used to transport the veterans to their homes.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY— PORTLAND, June 8 (AP)— Loup Kilgore, Grant county mountaineer who was arrested recently by state and federal prohibition officers on moonshining charges, entered a plea Monday and will go to trial Thursday, July 7. Bail has been set at $1,500.

Dry agents, who say Kilgore had long been suspected of liquor activities, made the trip into his mountain stronghold last month after bad weather and deep snow had stopped previous trips.

Anti-War Riot In Pittsburgh Today

PITTSBURGH, June 8 (AP)— An anti-war demonstration and protest against the appearance of General Douglas MacArthur, army chief of staff, as the commencement speaker at the University of Pittsburgh was stopped by police today.

A group of students recently protested the engagement of General MacArthur, army chief of staff, as the commencement speaker. Chancellor John G. Brown disregarded the protest and said the group represented a small percentage of the student body.

Loving Cup in History— No definite date can be set for the introduction of the loving cup as a sporting trophy. It was customary from very ancient times to award prizes for athletic prowess.

Ask the Children— Considering the amount of expert information available on the subject of child guidance, the children must be guided about far enough to tell their parents whether the experts are right.—Indianapolis News.

live scene. The background was formed by the seniors in dark blue caps and gowns.

Her Majesty Arlene, "Queen of Knowledge," reigned over the Evensong, attractive in a flowing pink robe and crown of matching tint.

Queen Arlene presided at the torch lighting ceremony.

"In ancient Greece," so the legend runs, "at a certain time of year, all the fires of Lemnos were extinguished, and fresh fire was brought from the sacred hearth at Delos.

The ten tribes of Africa each chose ten men to compete in carrying the torch. Each group of 10 had only one torch, which the first runner carried over his course; during his run he was required not only to make speed, but keep the torch alight, covering and fanning it and carrying it carefully.

His course being run, he was required to hand it over to his eager successor, waiting to receive it and bear it forward with renewed speed and vigor toward the goal. It mattered not to each competitor how exhausted

Other numbers were "East Oregon Beloved," by Donizetti; "Welcome, Sweet Springtime," by Rubinstein; "America, the Beautiful," by Ward; "Hall to Our Normal"; "Oregon, My Oregon"; and "Day is Dying in the West," after which the seniors with their lighted candles, marched down the steps and filed out into the audience, symbolical of entering the world with the torch lighted from the beacon of the queen of knowledge.

This afternoon commencement exercises were to be held at the Normal school auditorium with E. P. Irvine, of Portland, giving the address, and Herman Oliver, of Canyon City, to present the diplomas.

and overcome he was at the end of his course, if only he could pass his blazing torch to a fresh comrade.

The ancient Greek legend was symbolical of the torch lighting ceremony of last night. Queen Arlene urged the seniors, who have been searching for learning, to light their candles from her torch and carry it out into the world, holding it high, "a sign of knowledge spread space," as a token to future generations that they have sought for learning at the Normal school.

Attending the queen, Miss Arlene Byrd, of Pilot Rock, were Miss Lucille Hudson, of North Powder; Miss Ruth Leonard, Lostine; Miss Dorothy Barker, Cove; Miss Gladys Billings, Imbler; Miss Vada Black, Enterprise, and Miss Louise Hardman, of Unity. Her attendants were dressed in organdy frocks, of tiptoe length, and carried sprays of gladioli, the colors matching their dresses.

Lee Johnson and Austin Dunn were chroniclers and escorted the queen to her throne of brown marble.

The torch lighting ceremony was preceded by songs sung by the students, under the direction of Miss Jennie Peterson. The ability of the director was again demonstrated last night in the effect rendered by a scattered group singing in perfect harmony with precision.

Miss Jola Gooding, accompanist, also added to the perfection of the whole.

Two musical selections, by local composers, were sung and met with

"They say..." KILLED BRUTUS. Brutus was a good dog, the friendly, tail-wagging, smiling kind of dog. Wanting to be petted he jumped upon the lady, who was frightened. The person she told this to said Brutus had jumped and snapped. The next person had said Brutus was frothing at the mouth. Some boys saw Brutus and threw stones. Brutus ran. "Mad dog! Mad dog!" the boys cried. Brutus was cornered and shot. From gossip to scandal is a short step, and heaven help the person or thing against whom the public mind is poisoned. Successful merchants and manufacturers are those who realize the mischief that can be created by "They say." These business men, determined to say the truth, themselves, employ advertising to protect themselves and the public from half truths, from falsehoods and from the common garden variety of ignorance that works havoc among the very best of intentions. These merchants and manufacturers are under no delusions. They know they cannot tell untruths about their products and get away with it because there is nothing that will bring ruin so fast and sure as to turn the bright, white light of publicity on inferior wares or unsatisfactory service. Advertising forces manufacturers to compete for your trade and your dollars. It compels the offering of better merchandise, better service, fair prices.
