Wants All Sufferers To Know of Sargon "Health Now Better Than in Thirty-five Years"

"I don't believe I would have ever gotten rid of constipation if it had not been for Sargon Soft Mucous Pills. I tell every sufferer I meet about them, and I am doing that very thing every day of my life. In my case, I was 39 and had been in poor health since I was a young woman. My entire system was run-down. I was terribly weakened, my nerves were on edge and my liver was out of order. I suffered with constipation almost as far back as I can remember. I just can't say too much in praise of this wonderful new treatment."—Mrs. Rachel M. Sillik, 4956 Green Street, Denver, Colo. Res. Cross Drug Store. —Adv.

Jury Finds For Plaintiff; Two Cases Are Set

The jury in the case of Donald Heiton vs. the state industrial accident commission, returned a verdict in favor of Mr. Heiton Saturday afternoon in the circuit court before Judge J. W. Knowles. Green and Hess were attorneys for the plaintiff, while Attorney General I. H. Van Winkle, Salem, represented the commission. Verne Hurst vs. the Heasty Service station involved settlement for injuries which Mr. Hurst sustained when he fell into an excavation at the Heasty Service station. The case was settled out of court and the court enjoyed a holiday this morning on that account. However, Judge Knowles set the case of the state vs. James, Charles and David Plak, charged with illegal possession of mash, for this afternoon at 1:30. The state vs. the Droke brothers and Bud Henley, accused of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, was set for June 15, 9 o'clock by the circuit judge.

Beet Sugar

The first factory for the manufacture of sugar from beets was erected by Edward Lee Church at Northampton, Mass., in 1838, and the following year it produced 1,300 pounds of sugar. A few other factories followed, but all were failures. In 1870, E. H. Dyer erected at Alvarado, Calif., a factory which became successful in 1870 and marked the beginning of the modern sugar-making from sugar beets.

Texas City's Nicknames It is related that Fort Worth, Tex., was nicknamed the Panther City as a result of a story written by Robert E. Cowart of Georgia for the Dallas Herald, in which he told of discovering a panther walking in the streets of Fort Worth. The nickname Cow Town is given to Fort Worth because it is the live stock market of the Southwest.

Wall of Holy City There is much controversy as to the exact dimensions of the ancient wall of Jerusalem. The modern wall, which followed as closely as possible the ancient wall, had a circuit of 2 1/2 miles, with an average height of 35 feet, with 35 towers and 8 gates (one of which was walled up).

From the Scriptures According to Brewer's Dictionary of Phrases and Fables, the expression, "Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die," is a traditional saying of the Egyptians who, at their banquets, exhibited a skeleton to the guests to remind them of the brevity of human life. It is taken from Isaiah 22:13.

Old Time Financial Crisis The financial crisis of 1837 grew out of the refusal of President Andrew Jackson to renew the charter of the Bank of the United States. This institution, privately owned, sought to become the unofficial bank of issue of the nation with special privileges. It was widely extended, and when a renewal of its charter was refused it was compelled to close its doors, with serious consequences to all who had dealings with it.

Children's Day Is Observed In Local Churches

Children's day was appropriately observed by the Sunday school and congregation of the First Presbyterian church on Sunday morning during the Bible school and morning worship hours. Many of the parents and friends of the children were present to hear and witness the parts taken by the children upon the program. The main school participated in songs and responsive services at the opening of the program, after which, to the strains of a march played by Mrs. Lynn Wright, pianist, members of the cradle roll, beginners and primary departments took their places at the front of the auditorium.

Songs, recitations and exercises were features of the program by those departments. The birthday service presented by the superintendent and children of the beginners department was exceptionally beautiful and impressive.

At the 11:00 o'clock hour Mrs. T. Maxwell in a most tender, thoughtful sweet-toned voice sang the children's song "When I Read the Sweet Story of Old." Miss Edris Maguire accompanying her on the organ. The minister brought a helpful message to the boys and girls, using the magic box for illustrating the need of good folks to brighten the dark and dreary world, emphasizing that good men and women grow from good boys and girls. His message to the congregation was based upon the prophet's words: "A little child shall lead them."

Several other churches had special Children's day programs yesterday also.
