Gayly Colored Croquet Sets Adorn Lawns as Game Gains Popularity; Local Tournaments Are Suggested

For the La Granders who feel that the urge to be out-of-doors but who prefer their exercise in smaller "doses" than is afforded by golf, swimming or tennis, croquet is coming into its own as a summer sport with appeal. Several lawns are to be seen dotted with brightly colored croquet balls, and a group of enthusiasts have suggested opening a wicket tournament.

LOCAL WOMAN IS LOSER IN COURT

Mrs. Elmo Finley Fails to Receive Compensation From Commission.

BAKER, Ore., June 13 (Special)—Judge C. H. McCulloch ordered the jury in the case of Nettie Finley versus the state industrial accident commission to bring in a verdict for the defendant Monday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock. Mrs. Finley filed suit for a judgment entitling her to compensation under the workmen's compensation act for the death of her husband, Elmo Finley, an employe of the state highway commission. The case was the first scheduled to be heard at the June term of circuit court.

Mr. Finley was fatally injured on the evening of May 23, 1931 while driving toward his home in La Grande in his automobile. He worked with an oiling crew that day near Huntington.

The facts as to the accident were admitted, there being only question involved in the suit—whether the accident occurred during the course of Finley's employment. The accident occurred Saturday night when Finley and a group of other men were en route to their homes in La Grande to spend Sunday with relatives.

The plaintiff contended that "Finley's boss, Roland Hopper, told him to go to get Ray Scarborough and take him home." The plaintiff held that Finley was thus under orders of his superior and entitled to the benefits of the workmen's compensation act.

Witnesses for Mrs. Finley were: Ray Scarborough, Jack Miller and Fred Bowery.

Just before noon attorneys argued a motion for a non-suit and Judge C. H. McCulloch took the motion under advisement until 1:30. The court held that "there is nothing to show that the highway commission is under any responsibility to transport men." Judge McCulloch however, denied the motion "under the present conditions of the testimony."

Roland Hopper, superintendent of the state highway department, testified that he did not instruct Finley to take Scarborough to La Grande and said that employes of the department are transported only to and from work.

Other defense witnesses were: Ray Scarborough, Charles Thornton, Roscoe Furman and Clinton Holman.

The jurors are: Lee Stewart, George Coble, Egbert Coffinberry, R. G. Cameron, William Lightfoot, Floyd Jones, George Erickson, James H. Shinn, Robert Shook, Hugh Foster, John Braswell and S. J. Grantham. Attorneys are R. J. Kitchin, of La Grande, for the plaintiff and Victor

H. Gregg for the state industrial accident commission.
Other cases docketed for this week are: Mary Jones versus Howes-Thompson, state of Oregon versus R. L. Sears, W. W. Bunch versus Standard Oil company, and Shockey Lumber company versus Baker Community Hotel company, et al. If time permits a criminal case will be tried.

Mrs. Finley makes her home here and is owner of the Normal Grocery.

SCHOOL BILL GETS GRANGE ATTENTION

State Committee Hears Pro and Con on Union Plan.

SALEM, June 14 (S)—Main arguments for and against the proposed initiative measure for the consolidation of the state's higher institution of learning in the hearing before the committee of the state grange yesterday were made by Hector MacPherson of Albany and William Tugman, Eugene. The committee will report to the state grange convention in Silverton which opens today.

The committee presiding at the hearing was appointed by the grange to consider financing the state unified educational system, but since that time the consolidation measure was proposed and the group was asked to report its findings on the matter. Mrs. Walter Pierce is chairman of the committee, with Ray Gill and Loyal Graham.

MacPherson claimed the proposed consolidation of schools as outlined in the bill not only would raise the standard of education but would be more economical. He said the state board of higher education now claims to be saving a million dollars a year in its unified plan, but that it had not touched the bigger items of savings.

Schools Not Worthy
He pleaded for one big university, which he said could be effected by moving the Eugene school to Corvallis. "We have neither a university nor a college worthy of the name now," he declared. "We have two halves, which the proposed bill would put together, eliminate competitive programs, and have a well-rounded center of culture."

The proponent of the initiative measure has long been active in educational matters and is a member of the Oregon legislature. In his argument he said "I doubt whether there is one man on either faculty who will come up to the first rate educators." He further charged that the director of elementary teachers' training (J. A. Churchill) was not the proper man for that position as "he had not done one honest day's work in his life."

Editor Argues
William Tugman, managing editor of the Eugene Guard, in his argument against the initiative, said the bill represents the economists the state is seeking in higher education. He declared the consolidation would decrease the property valuation of Eugene by $3,500,000 and would wipe out $1,100,000 in fraternity and sorority property.

He further stated such a plan would play havoc with the tax structure of the state, would cause a heavy financial loss to Moonmouth and that the change could not be made without a heavy building program at Corvallis.

Tugman stated the question came down to whether the state should permit the board of higher education's unified system a fair trial, or to scrap the result of three years' work and attempt a new idea at once. He declared the federal survey recommended against such a plan as proposed by the initiative as a "physical consolidation was out of the question."

LABORATORY YIELDS NEW FACTS ON KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

Its "Bulk" and Vitamin B Help Relieve Constipation; Also Has Blood- building Iron

New laboratory experiments demonstrate that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has sufficient "bulk" to exercise the intestines, as well as Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Now you can overcome common constipation by this pleasant, "cereal way" and banish the headaches, backaches, loss of appetite and energy that so frequently result.

No need to worry along with pills and drugs, which often lead to harmful habits.

Instead, just eat two tablespoons daily of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—adequate for most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Special processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming. Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Do you inhale?

"Let sleeping dogs lie"

Why should smokers accept this old-fashioned notion of the cigarette trade?

BY this time you must be pretty well convinced of the fact that other cigarettes do not like to talk about inhaling.

And yet—this subject—so "untouchable" in cigarette advertising—is very close to your welfare! For you do inhale—we all do—knowingly or unknowingly, every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

"Let sleeping dogs lie" may be the cigarette trade's answer to us! But what's their answer to you? Do you inhale? Lucky Strike does not avoid this vital question. It meets the issue fairly and squarely—because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Lucky Strike's famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!
