MAN THOUGHT MURDERED ON UNION BRIDGE

and they were too frightened to go outside to investigate. They reported hearing a car go over the bridge at the time of the shots and again at about 1 o'clock. As soon as it was light, Mrs. Jory looked out the window and saw the body on the bridge, which is a short distance from her home. She ran to the home of neighbors and called Guy Church, marshal, who immediately notified Dr. P. L. Ralston, coroner at La Grande. The body is now at Cook Brothers, undertakers. District Attorney Carl Helm, Sheriff Jesse Breshnars and State Officer Dick Robertson were called to Union this morning to investigate. They held but slight clues on which to start a search, they said. A strange collection of rumors and facts about the picturesque life of the elderly guide was accumulated today as officers and reporters inquired into his activities here. Yesterday he came into the Observer office and informed a reporter who had interviewed him for last Friday's paper that he was taking out a marriage license that afternoon and would wed Mrs. Jory Tuesday (today) at 3 o'clock. This afternoon Mrs. Jory denied any engagement. County Clerk C. K. McCormick said no license was issued. Several La Grande men said he sought to borrow money from them during the day. He was in good spirits while he was in La Grande, according to those who talked to him. During the evening he had been with Mrs. Jory at dinner at the home to Adrian Goodbrod. They had returned home at 11 o'clock. Officials at Union said they had wired Yellowstone park for information about the dead man and in return received word that nothing was known of him there. However, several people, both in La Grande and Union, who had known him previously testified this morning they had known him at Jackson Hole, Wyoming, and could establish proof that he had worked in that region as a guide. In his interview with the Observer he described his part in Wyoming rodeo and told of receiving his early rodeo training from John and Fred Spain, of Union. He also said he had been a guide for many noted Americans, including Jack Dempsey. Little was known of his past life. Efforts were made today to locate his mother who is thought to be in Nevada. He had been staying at the Union hotel since June 7 and had spent much of his time in La Grande. The conclusion made at the autopsy follows: "The autopsy disclosed a bullet had entered on the right side of the umbilicus and ranged upward, touched the liver, cut through the spleen and then had gone outside the thoracic cavity between the ninth and tenth rib and lodged in the fleshy part of the shoulder blade." Dr. Ralston said at noon today he did not know definitely when or where an inquest would take place. Police continued this afternoon to seek further light on the shooting.

GARNER WILL SEEK REPEAL OF DRY LAW

"I have maintained the position I assumed when I was elected speaker of the house of representatives, that I would not indulge in the discussion of controversial issues not immediately under consideration by the house. Views on Records "Moreover, during the 30 years I have been a member of congress, practically every principle involved in the problems of the nation today have been before the house and my views thereon are a matter of record. "This country has erected tariff barriers that are practically excluding the products of foreign nations.

This makes it economically impossible for these nations to buy from us the products of our farms and our factories, thereby aggravating our industrial depression. "All relief measures so far have been purely temporary and do not go to the root of the trouble. No sound thinking citizen can favor the dose; neither can the government sit idly by and see its people starve when they are willing to work. "Enough work must be provided to keep the people from starving and we shall be fortunate indeed if this irreducible cost minimum does not greatly exceed the amount provided in the relief measures which I sponsored. "The government of the United States owes it to its citizens to collect from the debtor nations to the extent of their ability to pay and there should be no film-film accepted as to that ability to pay. Always Against Dry Law "When the prohibition amendment was proposed I, as a member of congress, voted against it. I have never believed it sound or workable and it should be repealed. "The cost of government — city, county, state and national — can and should be reduced not less than one-third. "The principal obligation of a government, established in accordance with the American principles and traditions, is to protect all of its people in the free enjoyment of the fruits of their labor and the pursuit of happiness. "The constantly increasing tendency toward socialism and communism is the gravest possible menace. The government should use every means within its power to prevent their further spread and they should receive no encouragement from any American citizen, high or low. "The Democrats of California and of my native state, Texas, are sending delegations to the national convention in Chicago instructed to vote for my nomination for the presidency. "This has been done without my solicitation. I appreciate the support of my friends and am willing to serve my country and my party to the limit of my capacity."

Later, Representative McDuffie, of Alabama, the Democratic whip and staunch supporter of Speaker Garner told newspaper men prohibition should be submitted to the people on the straight question of repeal. "I believe there is sentiment enough in this country to justify submission of the straight question of repeal," said McDuffie, long counted among Southern dry forces. "I think the speaker's statement is honest, straight-forward, manly and courageous. In these days and times the American people are not interested in pussyfooters on any question. "No one has ever learned insofar as I have ascertained how President Hoover stands on prohibition."

Senator Sheppard (D. Texas) said that though he disagreed with Garner on prohibition, he would continue to support him for the presidency. The co-author of the 18th amendment said: "I do not agree with Speaker Garner on repeal, but this does not affect my support of him for the presidency. I regard him as sound on all other vital questions." Other comments follow: Senator Wagner (D. N. Y.): "That shows the drift. I hope the convention will recommend repeal. A declaration that a repeal amendment should be submitted would, however, be free from ambiguities and could be understood by the people." Senator Pittman (D. Nev.): "I think he's made a very clear expression of his views, past and future. It is evident that it will have a popular majority at the convention."

Senator Copeland (D. N. Y.): "That's good. I'm glad to hear it. It is very significant that a man who has occupied the position he has should express himself as he has. There will be a bitter contest over the plank and Garner's declaration plus the liberal stand of McAdoo makes it probable that the Garner delegates will vote for a liberal plank." Senator Fess (R. Ohio): "I have no doubt the convention will come out for repeal." Senator Blaine (R. Wis.): "They turn wet very quickly, don't they?" Representative Howard (D. Neb.) one-time secretary to William Jennings Bryan: "The speaker's statement will make a repeal plank in the platform."

Representative Cullen, leader of the Tammany delegation: "That is great language. There is no evasion there. It is the kind of a statement the people expect and demand from every man in public life." Representative Bankhead (D. Ala.) another house leader, said: "It is a good statement. All of it is in accord with good, sound Democratic doctrine. Any Democrat can support it." Representative Rainey, the Democratic leader: "I voted in the house to re-submit the 18th amendment, and I think the time has come to re-submit it to the people unqualifiedly."

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—Speaker John N. Garner, in a statement today, said the 18th amendment "should be repealed." Returning to the capitol after several days illness, the speaker handed newspapermen a statement saying: "When the prohibition amendment was proposed, I, as a member of congress, voted against it. I have never believed it should be workable, and it should be repealed." Garner added that although he had not solicited support for the Democratic presidential nomination he is "willing to serve my country and my party to the limit of my capacity."

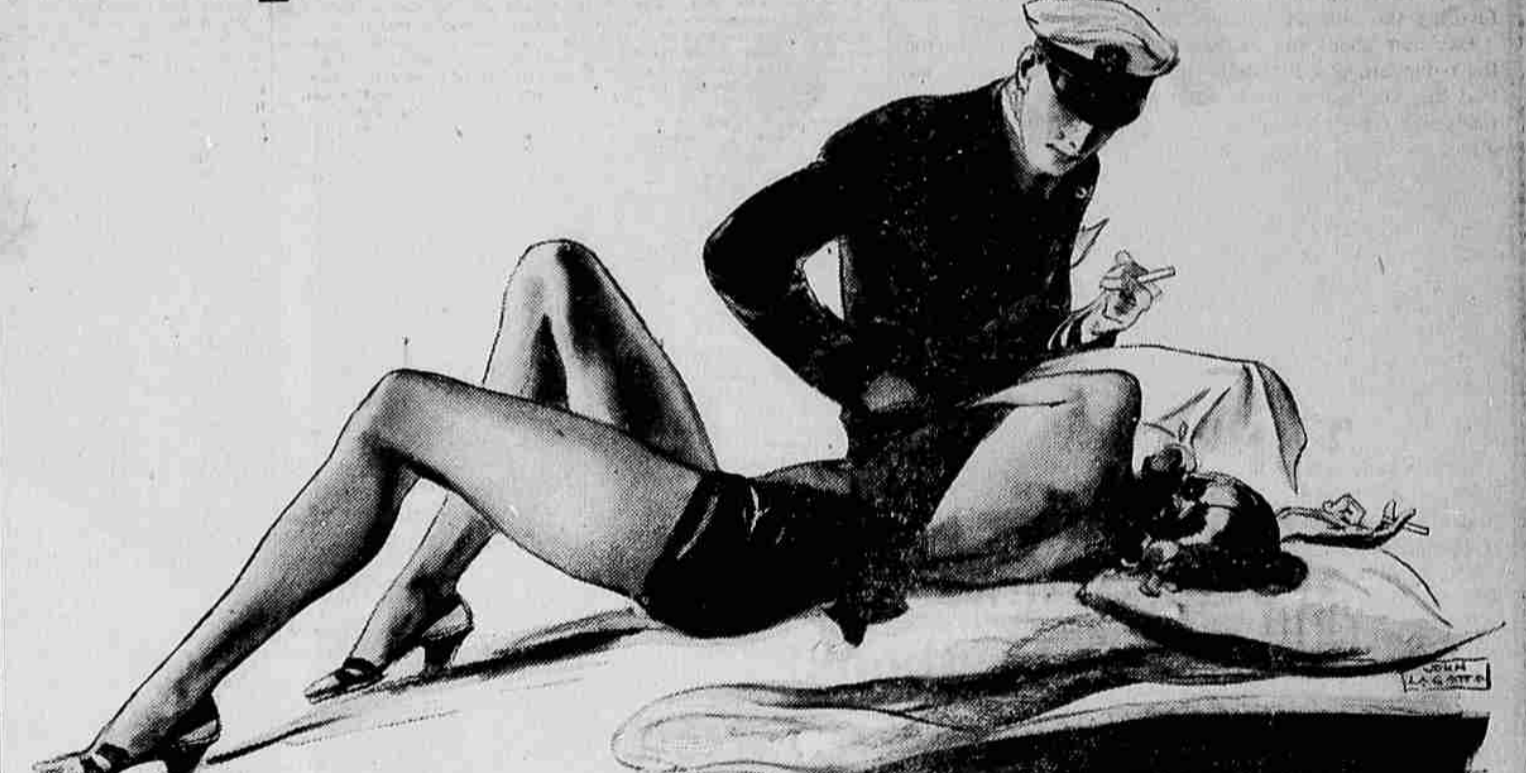

This later statement was interpreted by Garner's friends as a guarded announcement of his availability for the Democratic nomination. He said: "The Democrats of California and of my native state, Texas, are sending delegations to the national convention in Chicago instructed to vote for my nomination for the presidency. "This has been done without my solicitation. I appreciate the support of my friends and am willing to serve my country and my party to the limit of my capacity."

Bishop Cannon in Prohibition Plea

Embattled leader of the nation's dry forces, Bishop James Cannon Jr., is shown here as he addressed a "loyalty convention" of prohibition organizations in Chicago. Wets who challenged him during his speech were ushered from the church which was the scene of the meeting.

Do you inhale?

The tobacco trade is at "sixes and sevens" on this embarrassing question

DO you inhale? This simple question caught the cigarette trade by surprise! "Why bring that up?" they asked. "Why don't you let well-enough alone?" But "well-enough" is not enough for Lucky Strike! The subject of inhaling is vitally important... for every smoker inhales knowingly or unknowingly. Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette! Do you inhale? Lucky Strike dares to raise this vital question... because Luckies' famous purifying process removes certain impurities concealed in every tobacco leaf! Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it! Do you inhale? Remember—more than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes!
