

Eastern Trouble Reflects on The Portland Marts

PORTLAND, June 21 (AP)—Extreme weakness of the poultry market here and especially light weight hens, appears the result of congestion in the eastern markets.

There was no further change in the price list from the week's opening but depressed trading is suggested.

There remains a generally steady tone in the local butter trade and without quotation change for either cubes or prints.

Somewhat better feeling is also expressed in the market for country hams and lard. It is the first improvement in the latter for some time past, but extreme quotations in both lines are on a nominal basis.

All through the market for tomatoes broken prices are reflected for the day. Offerings of all sorts are greater and the trade's full wants are more than taken care of.

Owing to the forced maturity as a result of a shortage of water, the Pasco section is rushing potatoes to market.

Several carloads are on the track here. Prices are ranging mostly around $1.15 per 50-lb. bag.

Surprising increase in local demand for celery continues with most excellent quality offers from Milwaukie and the LaBash sections. Prices are held firm at the late advances.

Notes of wholesale trading: Cherry market is overloaded with supplies and low prices are sent still lower.

Strawberry market is steady as is the raspberry position. Offerings on currants are liberal with most sales $1.25 crate.

Cantaloupes and watermelons are reported steady. Green beans in more liberal supply and down about $1 lb. again.

Cauliflower market is very slow; mostly $1 crate for 1s. Head lettuce is firm with the late advance maintained.

Asparagus maintains its recent strong demand and price.

MOVIE PICKETING HELD ILLEGAL BY SUPREME COURT

theatres these plaintiffs were transacting a lawful business. The right to transact such business is a property right, the exercise of which without unlawful injury of interference by others is protected both by the federal constitution and by the constitution of this state.

"We think," the opinion stated, "that under the great weight of authority picketing is regarded as a legitimate means of economic coercion if it is confined to persuasion and is free of molestation or threat of physical injury or annoyance. But it is a privilege which may be invoked only when some lawful justification for its exercise exists. The primary object and purpose of this picketing was not to benefit the union, but to injure the business of the plaintiffs."

Justice George Sutherland concurred in the opinion by Justice Brandeis while Justice Brandeis dissented. In his dissenting opinion Brandeis held that a dispute did exist between the labor unions and the theatres involved, and that the unions did have a right to picket.

Other opinions handed down today were: Charles L. Gano, appellant, vs. Sam Zidek, et al, appeal from Multnomah county; motion for rehearing denied in opinion by Justice Campbell.

to build, equip, and support another school as soon as the measure goes into effect. So, instead of obtaining relief, our taxes would be increased. Moreover, said Mr. Brady, the sponsors of the proposed bill would wreck the work of the state board of higher education in formulating the unified plan which is just getting underway, and which is based on the advice of the nation's leading educational experts.

recommended the unemployed would be put to work conserving the food against future needs. Details of this plan are to be considered at a meeting of the conference executive committee with Governor Meier later this week.

OREGON TO WAR AGAINST HUNGER FOR WOMEN

The conference also expressed itself as favoring congressional enactment of a bill providing for a loan of $300,000,000 to the several states by the federal government. The money would be used for relief purposes.

Although unemployment was considered by the conference it was the general opinion that the relief council would have all it could do in dealing with the question of converting agricultural surpluses into foodstuffs which may be administered at the lowest possible cost. It was proposed that scrip be issued against these supplies to workmen employed under the emergency plan.

SALEM, June 21 (AP)—The request of the state-wide unemployment committee at its meeting in Portland yesterday, and forwarded to Senator Charles L. McNary by Governor Julius L. Meier, will be read in open session of the senate today, the executive department was advised by telegram this morning.

The Oregon group urged favorable consideration of the measure providing federal aid in the unemployment situation this fall and winter, declaring local and state funds for this purpose have been depleted and government assistance is essential. The telegram sent Governor Meier by McNary is as follows:

"Confirming our conversation by telephone yesterday and on receipt of your wire today, pleased to advise you that the bill to provide loans to the states to aid in relief of unemployment and to facilitate the construction of self-liquidating projects is now before the senate for discussion and action.

"I kept the senate in session late last evening and many provisions of the bill were discussed. Section three of the bill provides for emergency construction along the federal aid highway system and improvement of the national forest highways; also prosecution of river and harbor projects.

"In my opinion the adoption of this provision of the measure would be of considerable benefit to Oregon. There is much opposition to this provision from members of congress representing eastern states. I shall have your wire read in open session of the senate today."

Eagles Worry About Beating Team of Femmes

La Grande baseball fans, after the announcement last week that the Southern Kansas State Lines girls' baseball club of Wichita, will play here on Monday, July 25, are guessing as to the probable outcome of the local Eagles squad against feminine playing.

The local team, willing enough to meet any and all men's teams do not desire to let a team of girls defeat them and are anxiously watching the reports of the girls' tilts as they are being received here.

This knowledge is making things even worse for the Eagles because the feminine crew is bowling over their men opponents in unmerciful style.

"I don't mind getting walloped by any man's team, but I'd sure hate to think that this girls' outfit will beat us," declared D. W. Hall, manager of the Eagles team, yesterday. "And if the reports of the girls' victories are to be taken we're in for a tough contest on July 25."

Further enlightenment as to the strength of the girls' team was received from Irvin Van Blarcom, manager of the famous girls' club. He explained that the girls had been coached in playing baseball for the past four years and are reaching a degree of skill that is enabling them to beat more than half their men opponents.

An expert in girls' athletics, Van Blarcom took over a group of versatile girls in 1927 and coached them long and strenuously until they were able to take up regulation baseball as played by men's teams.

Later a corps of interested professional players added their knowledge to the coaching and developed all of the girls into skillful fielders and hard hitters.

Journeying through 13 states in three months' campaign the feminine group amazed fans with their ability and the ease with which they stepped up to the plate and hit the offerings of star masculine pitchers they faced in many games.
