At a pretty church wedding in the Presbyterian church, Tuesday morning at 11:30 o'clock, Rev. J. Geo. Wals performed the service, solemnizing the marriage of Juanita Hill and Frank C. Droke, both of Union, Ore.

Zelma Plass To Visit Friends Here

Miss Zelma Carolyn Plass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Giles Plass of Walla Walla, Ore., left Chicago on June 19th on a motor trip which will take her on an extended tour through Washington and Oregon.

She is being accompanied on her western trip by Mr. and Mrs. Charlas Mitchell Mixer who will visit Mrs. Mixer's mother, Mrs. F. D. McCully of Joseph, Ore. Mrs. Mixer, before her marriage was Lucile Dunbar, has gained recognition as a character artist, pianist and composer of humorous dialogues.

COUCH TAKES PART IN MAPPING PLANS FOR WINTER RELIEF

Judge Victor P. Moses, of Benton county; Ray Gill, master of the Oregon state guard; Paul V. Maris, director of extension, Oregon State college; Ben T. Oeburne, secretary of the Oregon State Federation of Labor; Mrs. W. W. Gabriel, leader in relief work among women's organizations; and Alex J. Barry, state commander of the American Legion.

Statements of delegates to the conference revealed that there is plenty of foodstuffs in the state to supply the entire population, including the unemployed. Newspaper announcements had said the conference would be held in the Multnomah hotel but the governor's call designated the directors' room of the United States National bank as the meeting place.

SEATTLE TAKES FIRST IN LODGE TEAM CONTEST

PORTLAND, Ore., June 22 (AP)—Home camp drill team of Seattle won first prize of $400 in the drill team competition held here last night as a feature of the head camp session of the Woodmen of the World.

Seattle camp team was second, winning $300. Tacoma camp was third, winning $200; and Fremont camp, Low Angeles, was fourth, winning $100. Eugene camp team, made up entirely of young women, was given an award of $50 for winning fifth place.

Sport Slants

By Alan Gould

The years and a long absence from competition have not affected the skill of Jerome Dunstan Travers on the greens. He is still one of the best putters in golf and he still uses a center-shafted aluminum-headed putter that he has now had for 23 years.

I watched Travers give a great exhibition of his short game, paired with Johnny Farrell, in an exhibition match during a pouring rain at the North Hemstead Country club on Long Island. He got two long ones down on the first nine for birdies on surfaces that were soon slowed up by the water.

"You will notice," he replied to one of my questions, "that I do not attempt to anchor either arm in taking my putting stance. The arms are free, giving me an easy pendulum motion. I simply take a natural, easy stance on the greens and let my comfortable stroke do the rest."

"Of course putting takes a lot of practice, just like any other shot in golf. Give the ball a chance, too. It's better to be two feet past the cup on the approach putt than that much short."

MOWRY MOPS UP Scout Vessels reports that Joe Mowry, the sensational young Minneapolis outfielder, is all that the boys are busily touting him to be in the American association's upper flight of ball players.

away from his batting average in a week's time, Mowry came back with another batting blast, collecting 12 hits in two double-headers. He's been hitting close to 400 all spring. Only 21 and just a year out of the University of Iowa, Mowry moved into double-A company this year after spending the latter-part of last season with Nashville in the Southern association.

His manager, Donie Bush, considers he is youngster one of the greatest prospects he has ever handled. The bidding for his services is reported to be little short of frenzied.

HURDLERS BEST IN YEARS

The hurdling race of the century should take place in the final American track and field tryouts at Palo Alto, in mid-July, with an encore in the Olympics at Los Angeles a few weeks later. This country has had some great timber tappers but never at one time anything to compare with the present recordbreaking trio of high hurdlers—1. Percy Beard, national champion, who set a new American record of 14.2 seconds last year, bettering the official world mark by two-tenths, and has lately been romping over the sticks easily in 14.4 for the 120-yard distance. 2. Jack Keller of Ohio State, Big Ten titleholder, who flew the route in 14 seconds flat, with the wind, this spring. 3. George Saling of Iowa, who won the N. C. A. A. championship, beating Keller and others, in world record time of 14.1 seconds, and has several times done 14.4.

would "bring an irreparable disaster." The foreign relations chairman, in a formal statement said: "Looking over the president's proposal somewhat hurriedly, it seems to me fair and sound. I am for drastic reduction of armaments and so long as all nations are treated fairly I do not care much how it is brought about."

"I sincerely hope the proposal of the president will bring the conference to a realization that a failure to lift this burden of armaments and do it at once will come near to being an irreparable disaster."

"If we should fail to bring about drastic disarmament and the reparations and money problems should remain unsettled, it would be difficult to foresee the evil consequences which would follow."

Britain Planning to Rebuild Empire on Trade Base at Ottawa

By Alvin Hallman London, June 22 (AP)—The shadows of uncounted smokeless factory chimneys, slanting in the sun across Britain's once teeming industrial areas, will be fresh in the minds of the delegation which the mother country sends to the Imperial conference at Ottawa in July. Lowering the Barriers To put fires back in those factory furnaces, to re-employ the millions of workmen made jobless by the island kingdom's diminishing importance as an exporter of manufactured goods, the delegation will be willing to make almost any concession.

The price which probably will be exacted of them will be the dropping of newly erected tariff barriers, insofar as they affect agricultural produce of the dominions. In return, the dominions will be expected to lower their own tariff barriers against British manufactures.

To start smoke pouring forth once more from those idle chimneys, the dominions must put British manufactured goods on store counters at a distinct price advantage over manufactures of other nations—particularly the United States.

Visualize Economic Uolt Of the empire it has been said: "The sun never sets on British soil." It stretches round the world. It covers more than a quarter of the world's land surface. Its population is 450,000,000, a fifth of the world's total. The trade of the empire in 1929 was estimated at 28.2 per cent of the world's total.

Yet no part of the empire is self-contained. Each is dependent upon overseas markets. Great Britain's exports of manufactured goods are a vital necessity upon which the livelihood of the British people depends. Conversely, the Dominions, British markets in Denmark; to
