

Portland Beavers Leading Coast League Today

ANGELS BEATEN 8 TO 7 WHILE SACS TAKE STARS

Strong Finish By Ducks Enable Them to Overcome Two-Run Lead in Ninth Inning.

By the Associated Press
The Portland Beavers lead the Pacific Coast league today by a one game margin, due to a fortunate combination of circumstances last night. While the Beavers were noosing out Los Angeles 8 to 7 in a wild ninth-inning rally, the Hollywood Stars, who have led the league for some time, lost their second straight game to Sacramento. When play started yesterday Portland and Hollywood were in a tie for first place.

The Ducks came through with a strong finish to beat the Angels after the latter had pushed over two runs to tie the score at 7-all in the first half of the ninth. Jim Keesey, new Portland first sacker, started the rally with a single, and with the bases full and one out, Mike Chosen, shortstop, hit a long fly to left field and brought in Keesey with the winning run. Batteries: For Los Angeles, Baecht, Moss, Ballou and Campbell; for Portland, Dietrich, Jacobs, Peterson and Palmisano.

Vinci, Solon southpaw, pitched fine ball for Sacramento's 5 to 2 victory over the Stars. Although he gave 10 hits, the Stars scored but once in the first inning and once in the ninth. Batteries: For Sacramento, Vinci and Woodall; for Hollywood, Page, Johns and Bessler.

John "Junk" Walters, Seattle pitcher who can't forget the Seals once gave him the gate, took a leading part in the 4 to 2 victory of the Indians over San Francisco last night. He allowed only six hits, and in the third inning, with one man on base, knocked a home run. George Burns, tripe first baseman, accounted for the other Seattle scores when he tripled in the fifth to send two men home. Jimmy Zinn, Seal hurler, allowed only seven hits. Batteries: For San Franciaco, Zinn and Wallgren; for Seattle, Walters and Cox.

The last-place Missions kept up their winning streak by taking their fourth straight game, defeating Oakland 2 to 1. Batteries: For Oakland, Thomas and Gaston; for Missions, Cole and Hofmann.

Pleasant Grove Grange Nine To Tackle Eagles

Last night the Eagles baseball club took its first practice workout since a hard-earned victory over the Mission Indians last Sunday. The club is now preparing for its next game with the Pleasant Grove grange baseball team, to be played on the High school field here, starting at 2 o'clock next Sunday afternoon.

The Pleasant Grove team record, compared to that of the Eagles, provides material for speculation. The grange team is composed entirely of youngsters under 19 years of age, most of them having played on former Imbler High school sectional championship teams. This season the grangers have lost but one game while annexing the scalps of five opposing teams. Their percentage of victories rates at .833. On the other hand the Eagles have won but six games while dropping eight to opposing teams. The Eagles percentage rates at .428. The one game that the grange lads dropped was to the Mission Indians by a score of 11 to 6. The Eagles have played the Mission team twice, the first time losing by a score of 8 to 7, and the last time winning by a score of 7 to 6. From comparative scores it appears that the Eagles have a slight edge on the grange boys, but many local fans seem to doubt the importance of this indication.

The tentative starting lineup for the visitors is as follows: Lewis or Jackson, p.; Crouser or Jackson, 1b.; Wagner, 2b.; Pugh, 3b.; Master, ss.; Conklin, lf.; Potratz, cf.; Oliver or Sanderson, rf.

The Eagles tentative lineup is: Case or Courtney, p.; Selby, c.; Braden, 1b.; Posey, 2b.; Nichols or Hartman, ss.; Evans, 3b.; Cochran, lf.; Hall, cf.; Wicklander, rf.

John Garity probably will umpire the game.

Bob Myers Downs Lux of Wisconsin

PORTLAND, Ore., June 30 (AP)—Bob Myers, former national amateur middleweight wrestler, in his first appearance here in two years, made short work of Eli Lux, of Wisconsin last night. Lux pulled a surprise on Myers in taking the first fall, tossing him with a flying winglock in one minute 58 seconds. Myers then got under way, taking the second fall in 13 minutes, 25 seconds with a body slam and the third in 9 minutes 15 seconds with a reverse headlock. Bob Kruse defeated Rudy Skarda, substituting for Rudy Laditski, suffering with an injured leg, taking two falls with wristlocks. Glen Stone and Pat Beagan went three rounds to a draw without a fall in the preliminary.

HELEN MOODY IN WIMBLEDON FINAL

Defeats Miss Heeley 6-2, 6-0 to Play Helen Jacobs, Home Town Rival.

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 30 (AP)—Helen Willis Moody, four times women's singles champion at Wimbledon, swept into the final round again today by defeating Miss Mary Heeley, unseeded English girl, 6-2, 6-0.

Mrs. Moody will meet Helen Jacobs, a home town rival from Berkeley, Cal., in the final round.
Mrs. Moody, playing her usual steady, powerful game, kept intact her record of not losing a set in the tournament and she won as she pleased with but one interruption.
Queen Mary and Prince George arrived during the play and Mrs. Moody and Miss Heeley, with the galleries of 14,000, stood at attention.
The match was played in a drizzle which continued as Ellsworth Vines, last of the American men's singles players, went out on the court for his semi-final match with Jack Crawford, Australian ace.
Vines won the first set, 6-2. He also took the second set, 6-1.

VINES REACHES FINALS

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 30 (AP)—Ellsworth Vines, American champion, paraded into the final round of the Wimbledon men's singles championship today with a straight set victory over Jack Crawford, star of the Australian Davis Cup team, 6-2, 6-1, 6-3.
Playing in a drizzle on a wet court with Queen Mary and Prince George in the gallery of 14,000, the slim Californian capped the climax of a day that saw Helen Willis Moody another

Mary Heeley, English girl, in the last of the women's singles semi-finals to join her fellow-townswoman from Berkeley, Helen Jacobs, in the final round.
Vines will meet the winner of the second semi-final match between Jiro Satoh, clever little Japanese, and H. W. (Bunny) Austin, England's ranking young star.

American tennis fans who read the papers, and especially those fans around New Orleans, Memphis, Cincinnati, Chicago and Milwaukee, are beginning to believe that at least once Bill Tilden spotted an infant phenom who will live up to all advance blarney.
A couple of years ago Tilden was quoted as saying that Frankie Parker of Milwaukee was the most promising player for his year that he, Tilden, had ever seen. That was when Parker, a 14-year-old lad of barely 100 pounds, had yet to win the national boys' title that came to him last summer.
Tilden has carried the torch for other prodigies of the courts, and has personally sponsored several, but none save Junior Coen has really rung the bell in top flight tennis and even Coen has not developed as sensationally as he started.
But the trail which Parker has been blazing through spring and early-summer tournaments has netted random thrilling to a new hope. At New Orleans last winter he vanquished George Lott, and extended Wilmer Allison to two deuce sets before losing.
In the National clay court meet at Memphis, the Tri-State at Cincinnati and the Western at Chicago his play was the talk of all galleries. He became an objective of autograph-seekers almost overnight following his great five-set final battle with Lott at Cincinnati, and his victory over the same player at Chicago four days later.

Tennis devotees who watch the boy in action are enthralled by his workmanship and his unhurried, smooth stroking. As one galleryite in Chicago expressed it: "He hits every shot, no matter where or in what position, as though that particular shot were the one he had specialized in for years."

He's still not a big fellow by any means, but he's in rare good health and his 135-pound physique is well knit, which could not be said for the scrawny, 65-pound Frankie Parker who six years ago began lugging a cast-off battle axe racket into kid tournaments in Milwaukee.

Tilden, though, wasn't the real "discoverer" of Parker. Mercer Beasley, tennis coach of a Milwaukee club and at Tulane university, first detected Frankie's talent, interested a wealthy Milwaukee tennis fan in the boy, and thus changed the whole course of his life.

He was put in a country boarding school (his parents were not well off), given a set of body-building exercises and regulated diet, and a tennis tourney schedule was mapped for him. This included four successive starts in the National boys' meet at Culver, Ind., where he was a popular figure for three years before achieving the crown last summer.

Frankie's assortment of strokes is probably as complete and finely polished as any of the lesser internationalists. This temperament, on the court and off it, is ideal, and his stamina is all that could be asked.

If he has a weakness it is only that of lack of experience. And he's getting that, this summer.

Thurston Wins His Sixth With Brooklyn Team

By Gayle Talbot
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Max Carey, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, did his best bit of master minding of the season when he decided a month ago to give Hollis Thurston a break.

Up to then, Thurston had been doing relief pitching now and then with indifferent success.
On May 28, Carey sent the 32-year-old righthander against the Giants. Thurston went the route and won, 6 to 4. Since then, Thurston has gone to the hill five times, and yesterday he marked up his sixth straight victory. His rate success since he was promoted to the varsity is one of the big reasons why the Dodgers are in a tie for fourth place in the National league today, only three games from the top.

Second Straight Shutout
Yesterday's 7 to 0 win over the Phillies was Thurston's second straight shutout and ran his record of consecutive scoreless innings to 22. He was only the third pitcher to blank the Phils in their home park this season, and he had to keep five hits well spaced to turn the trick. Hack Wilson's 15th homerun with two on featured the Brooklyn assault.

Although they rallied to score four runs in the last of the ninth, the Cincinnati Reds dropped another one-run decision to St. Louis, 10 to 9. Charlie Gilbert hit into a double play with the tying run on base. Only two games were billed in the National.
Lefty Gomez, seeking his 12th straight victory, was knocked from the hill in the eighth, but the night-flying Yankees defeated Washington, 9 to 5, and maintained their long lead in the American league. Joe Sewell's two homeruns played a big part in the Yankee triumph. George Pipgras relieved Gomes and received credit for the win.

Detroit thumps Cleveland second place by thumping Cleveland, 13 to 4, behind Earl Whitehill's tight pitching. Joe Boley, former Athletic hero, made his appearance at shortstop for the Indians and handled five chances.
Irving Hadley allowed only four hits in pitching the St. Louis Browns to a 6 to 1 win over Chicago. Lyn Storti hit a homerun for the winners.

Mrs. Brent Potter, of Palo Alto, defending women's champion, experienced little difficulty in downing Miss Marjorie Todd, of Victoria, B. C. 5 and 6.

Today's pairings included:
Men's: Eddie Hogan, Portland vs. Vincent Dolp, Portland; H. Chandler Egan, Medford, vs. Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland.
Women's: Mrs. Brent Potter, Palo Alto vs. Miss Angie Pankhurst, Burlingame, Cal.
