BIG REFUND BOND ISSUE NECESSARY

all long term or part long term and short term bonds long term not yet been decided.

Chairman Leslie Scott of the commission, basing his views upon estimates provided through cooperation of the department of state, declared the commission would be short about $2,000,000 on October 1 of expected revenue at the time when the million dollar bond issue authorized last spring will fall due. This deficit would take into consideration a possible installment buying of automobile licenses now being considered by the governing secretary of state.

The commission to date would receive about $1,600,000 from sale of license plates, which is about $1,750,000 under the anticipated amount, Scott said. Also at present due to the combination of emergency relief work and decrease in sale of licenses, the commission has expended $250,000 in excess of revenues.

Should a quarterly payment basis not be decided upon it would only add about $500,000 to the revenues by October 1, it was estimated. But the commission is considering the amount of funds required planned on a possible installment system being invoked.

The meeting was called here today primarily for consideration of log-hauling restrictions and regulations which matter was being discussed preliminary to the conference later in the day with the Oregon Mill and Truck Owners' association. State Engineer R. H. Baldock recommended general reductions in weight and speed on all types of trucks where roads would not carry the traffic, and further investigation of the question before final rules are adopted.

Only citizens of the United States and residents of Oregon, outside of keymen, may be employed by contractors on highway work, the commission declared today, when complaint was made that some foreigners were being employed. A delegation from Grande Ronde declared 10 aliens were being employed in the road quarry there. The matter will be investigated. Baldock reported a recent survey revealed that out of 879 laborers, only 12 were found to be non-residents of Oregon. The John Day highway association, through a delegation, requested the widening of the Fossil-Dayville section of that road. The higher reported $4,700,000 had been spent on the John Day highway and for widening and resurfacing it would cost an additional $3,800,000. The Fossil-Dayville project would cost about $1,725,000. The project is being considered on the state's five-year highway budget, it was announced.

More Jobless Expected Next Winter, Report

PORTLAND, Ore., July 1 (AP)—Reports indicating the number of unemployed next winter probably will be 20 per cent above the peak number of last year were received here yesterday by the state executive relief committee. Seasonal employment, reports said, have not offset the growing number of unemployed.

The committee has begun a study of information already gathered and general recommendations for organization of relief measures will be given as soon as possible.

The committee requested county relief councils to begin at once to plan for an organized relief program for gathering and preserving surplus supplies for distribution next winter. Some counties, the committee said, already have begun organization. At the suggestion of Mrs. W. W. Gabriel, chairman of the women's division, various statewide women's organizations will be asked to participate in the work. A plan suggested by her would call upon women of the state to set aside for charity one tenth of all the berries, vegetables and other foodstuffs they can during the summer.

FIERCER BATTLE DEVELOPS

PORTLAND, Ore., July 1 (AP)—A fierce battle between Eddie Hogan of Portland and Johnny Shields of Seattle developed in the semi-final round of the Pacific Northwest Golf association tournament here today while H. Chandler Egan, of Medford, seemed a safe distance in front of Johnny Robbins, Portland.

When they paused for lunch, after 18 holes of neck-and-neck golf, Hogan was 1 up on Shields. He carded 35-37-72, while Shields had 37-36-73.

Egan, known as the "grand old man" of this tournament, shot sub-par golf to go to lunch 5 up on Robbins. Egan posted cards of 35-36-69, three under par. Robbins went out in 38 and came back in 37 for a 75.

The fight for the women's crown seemed to have resolved itself into a north-south affair. Mrs. Brent Potter, the defending champion, was 4 up on Mrs. Sayward Wilson, of Victoria, at the turn, and Mrs. Vera Hutchings, of Vancouver, B. C., was four up on Mrs. Harry Braddocks, of San Francisco. They were playing only 18 holes.

STOCKS MOVE HIGHER

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—Short covering in anticipation of the market's three day vacation gave stocks a lift today. Net gains of 1 to 2 points were general. Transactions approximated 600,000 shares.

The recovery in shares was the best in a fortnight. Except for a momentary setback caused by some scattered selling early the list won on the upgrade and closed around the best levels.

Fish "Pullmans"

Oxygen tanks are employed on trucks used by the government in transporting live fish, and fine streams of compressed air furnish this breathing element in the fish "Pullmans." This enables the workmen to transport the fish long distances without injury to their charges.

Old Musical Instrument

The Jew's-harp originated in Europe several hundred years ago. The date and name of the inventor are not known. Two origins for the name are suggested: (1) from Jew's harp (the method of playing), and (2) because it was made and sold in England by the Jews.

Twelve Days' Madness

There are over 450 varieties of mistletoe; the berries of some are pink. Only one kind grows in Great Britain. The Christmas season proper lasts for 12 days—December 25 to January 5. The Puritans termed it "The Twelve Days' Madness."
