

Oregon Cherry Shipments at Peak

YIELD ABUNDANT BUT PRICES ARE NOT ENCOURAGING

Eastern Auction Returns Have Netted F. O. B. Prices of 3 and 4 Cents a Pound and Less.

CORVALLIS, Ore., July 6 (AP)—With many cherry producing districts of the northwest now making their heaviest shipments, reports received by the O. S. C. extension service and the U. S. D. bureau of agricultural economics indicate the movement of this crop is at its peak. The season has been favorable and the yield abundant but prices have been low. Eastern auction returns have netted f. o. b. prices of 3 to 4 cents a pound and less. Some eastern movement has been by refrigerated freight instead of express to curtail shipping costs.

Oregon's carlot movement of green peas is through, curtailed somewhat by cannery contracts guaranteeing growers 3 1/2 cents for No. 1 stock. Puget Sound points are near peak loadings. The first car of Oregon celery moved last week, although the northwestern market has been supplied for several weeks. Prices dropped to $1.25 to $1.50 per crate of 3 to 5 dozen stalks, loose pack, f. o. b. Portland.

OREGON MADE BUTTER RANKS NEAR THE TOP

PORTLAND, Ore., July 6 (AP)—Portland made butter was within a quarter of a point of topping the entire industry at the annual display held by the National Creamery Butter Operators association at Mason City, Ia. Word of the high scoring of Portland butter has been received here with much satisfaction. The high award went to Lyle Ham-mack, one of the butter makers at the Raven dairy in Portland. The score was 95 per cent. The top score, which was received by an Iowa maker was 95 1/2 per cent. The award received by the Portland maker was very important in view of the fact that the judges had 332 entries to look over. They were from every section of the United States.

Strengthening Of Egg Trade Now Indicated

PORTLAND, Ore., July 6 (AP)—Strengthening of the egg trade is indicated generally with continual decrease in offerings. This applies to not only the local territory but to the coast generally. In fact decrease in supply is reported from practically every section of the country. Local prices appear steady to higher for the day with lessening competition from unattached producers although some outside interests are still reported selling to big stores at 25 substantial discount from established prices here. Make of butter is showing a general heavy decrease in the Portland territory which creates more or less of a steady tone in the trade of the Pacific coast. Butterfat is unchanged. Advance of 1c lb. in the buying of hens of all weights is reported by the trade here, following a decrease in the supply. No change has as yet been made in the price of broilers. There remains a very good demand in the market for country killed hogs along the wholesale way with recent advances sustained. Veal are a trifle weaker and lower in spots but lambs are definitely weaker and especially so for the ordinary to poor stuff. Sudden increase in the demand for string beans is noted in the trade with the chief call for yellow stock, which is generally unfilled. Both green and wax prices are held steady. Walla Walla onions of the new crop are being offered by the trade; the first supply having reached Portland late Tuesday. Sales are being made around $1.25 central, California prices here are 'shot'. Prices continue on the downward trend in the tomato market; affecting both the hot-house and outdoor offerings. California stock is in liberal offering, and down to $1.25 lug for both San Pedro and Merced stock. Local hot-house is not selling at practically the same price as for Dalles outdoor grown. With the arrival of the first big lots from Yakima and increasing supplies from The Dalles, the 1932 northwest apricot season is fairly well under way. Prices are weak to lower. Notes of wholesale trading: Watermelons are generally lower at 2 1/2c lb. Cantaloupe trade is just about steady. Green peppers are weaker and lower at 8c lb. in spots. New potatoes are steady to a trifle lower. Celery market is weaker and lower in spots. Lettuce is steady for quality stuff. Strawberries are firmer and higher; others about steady.

SOCIETY WOMAN FREED BY JURY

Attracts Great Crowds Because of the prominence of both Stephen and Mrs. Barney, the trial had attracted great crowds since Monday, when it began. The spectators for the most part were persons prominent in society and in the arts. The defendant was discharged immediately after the verdict was given, but Justice Humphreys, who presided, advised her not to leave Old Bailey until the crowds had been cleared from the streets in the vicinity. When she realized the jury had acquitted her, Mrs. Barney collapsed and was carried from the courtroom. Lady Mullens, her mother, also collapsed, but was revived.

Baker at Opera as Democrats Decide Destiny

While his rivals were receiving sporadic cheers from sweltering delegates crammed in the Chicago convention stadium, Newton D. Baker, powerful "dark horse" candidate for the Democratic nomination, was cool and comfortable in Cleveland's new civic stadium, on the opening night of the out-door opera season. And while Al Smith was receiving an ovation on his appeal for a wet plank, Baker at almost the same hour was receiving a rising ovation from the fashionably-dressed throng of opera-goers. Here is Baker with his daughter, Peggy, and Mrs. Baker, in their box while Mary Garden sang Carmen.

Long's wife, prostrated in a hospital, could give no explanation of her husband's actions save to tell police that "he was always a mean man."

HOOVER AND SOLONS NOT IN AGREEMENT

(Continued From Page One) WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—A two-hour conference between President Hoover and senate and house leaders on the $2,122,000,000 Wagner-Garner relief bill broke up today with a breach still existing between the legislative and executive branches. Speaker Garner, co-author of the bill, at first told newspapermen as he left the White House that "we did not reach an agreement." Garner said later, however, that the conferees and the president were "virtually in agreement" upon all points in the measure except the section dealing with loans to individuals. The president has remained adamant in opposition to this provision. Garner said the next step would be to call back the house and senate conferees into a meeting on the measure, and re-discuss it "in the light of the conferees we held here today and last night." Representative Rainey, the house Democratic leader, was even more emphatic in his stand. "We are going ahead with the bill as it is," he asserted, "and if he wants to veto it he can." Asked what points were in disagreement, the white-haired Democrat said with a shrug of his shoulders "we could not agree on anything."

ALBANY, N. Y., July 6 (AP)—Carrying out a four-year-old idea, Governor Roosevelt and his four sons will go next week on a short cruise in a forty-foot yawl up the New England coast. The Democratic presidential nominee said he and the boys James, Elliott, Franklin Jr., and John, would put out next Monday from some point on Long Island with Portsmouth, New Hampshire, as their destination. In addition to Mr. Roosevelt and his sons there will be one other person on board, a press representative who will meet newspapermen when the boat ties up each night. Returning to the executive office with the mantle of his party's presidential candidacy on his shoulders, Mr. Roosevelt turned to state affairs, receiving as his first visitor Mark Graves, director of the budget. Women employees of the executive office presented him with a large basket of yellow roses. Mr. Roosevelt said he had talked with Speaker Garner, his running mate, Monday night, and that the speaker's plans for campaigning and the official notification ceremony were being held up pending the adjournment of congress. It was indicated that Mr. Roosevelt and Speaker Garner would have a personal conference in the near future. The governor said he was pleased with the comments of Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican of California, who approved of the Roosevelt acceptance speech in Chicago. Roosevelt said he would study the reply of Mayor Walker to charges brought by Samuel Seabury during the next week's boat trip if the reply reaches him before Monday morning. Walker indicated his answer would be in the governor's hands this weekend. No further plans for campaigning have been made. Mr. Roosevelt told newspapermen, The Democratic standard bearer will meet James A. Farley, national committee chairman, this weekend. Campaigning and financing of the campaign will be discussed. Roosevelt will go to Hyde park on Friday night and into New York on Sunday. There has been some belief that during the Sunday stay in New York City a conversation between himself and former Governor Smith, one of his opponents for the nomination, would be arranged. So far, Roosevelt's former political ally has not commented on the Roosevelt candidacy.

Knapp, Tiffany, Stuart To Face The Grand Jury

Victor Knapp and L. A. Tiffany were brought before Judge L. Denham in the court of the justice of the peace for hearing and Eiden Stuart was arraigned yesterday afternoon. Knapp is charged with a statutory offense, and was bound over to await the action of the grand jury, with bond set at $1000. "Dutch" Tiffany is charged with larceny of a truck, valued at $400, from L. C. Morehead, who filed the complaint. He also was bound over to the grand jury with bond set at $1000. Eiden Stuart is charged with forgery, and at his arraignment yesterday afternoon demanded a hearing which is set for this afternoon. He is under a bond of $750, and he was bound over to the grand jury.

A contingent from Bellingham went home yesterday for tents and bedding, announcing they would return today with several hundred recruits. Others were expected today and tomorrow from Seattle, Tacoma and Grays Harbor. The third attempt to see Gov. Roland H. Police reported that a body of communists, members of which disrupted a demonstration on the capitol steps Monday, also had sent out appeals for recruits. Anticipating further trouble with the communists, leaders of the other unemployed groups have placed their camp under strict military guard. "If the communists bother us again, there will be no conversation," London declared. "We are not inviting trouble, but we are ready for it." Citizens here, alarmed over the new call for unemployed, have urged state officials to induce the governor to hear their demands immediately. The council's action was taken in an effort to discourage further concentrations of unemployed here and in an effort to avert further possible clashes between members of the two leagues and the communists. Police late yesterday escorted out of the city a group of avowed communists who made a second attempt to obtain an audience with the governor and who held another demonstration on the capitol steps. They were informed Governor Hartley was not in the city. The unemployed have avowed they will remain in the city until the chief executive either grants them a hearing or definitely answers their demands for relief. London has described the governor's refusal to meet with unemployed workers and destitute farmers as simply a 20th century version of King Louis the Fourteenth.

REPORTED THEFT DONE TO CREATE PREJUDICE, CLAIM

PORTLAND, Ore., July 6 (AP)—Advised of the alleged theft here Monday night of two suitcases filled with petitions for major physical changes in the higher educational institutions of Oregon, Amedee M. Smith, of Portland, general chairman of the school tax saving association, and Lawrence T. Harris, of Eugene, spokesman of the Eugene chamber of commerce university committee, issued the following joint statement: "Because of the extremely peculiar circumstances attending the alleged theft of petitions for the Zorn-MacPherson bill, we are requesting Lotus L. Langley, district attorney of Multnomah county, and Police Chief Jenkins, of Portland, to make a searching investigation of the case. "Serious charges and insinuations have been made in connection with this affair. The people of Oregon are entitled to know precisely what did happen. "From the beginning, the people opposing this measure have been puzzled by the refusal of the bill's promoters to reveal what interests have been financing and supporting this vicious measure. Now comes a tale obviously created to stir prejudice in the matter. The people of the state will be served by having this preposterous situation sifted to the bottom."
