Plaintiffs in the suit are John W. Siemens, Russell H. Durke, Hyman Wechsler, Edward Hodge, Barney Chambers, Edward W. Lawrence and Clarence W. Underwood, who are trustees of the Strahorn railway terminal facilities and acting on their own behalf as well as for the 650 others.

The matter has been pending since August 17, 1916, when the citizens of Klamath Falls, determining they wanted a railroad that would connect with five major lines, allegedly made a deal with the defendant corporation. They wanted the line constructed through the main streets of Klamath Falls, through the towns of Olean and Yonka Valley to the Sprague River valley and on to Bend, connecting at Crane with the Union Pacific at Lakeview with the Nevada, California and Oregon railroad; at Bend with the Oregon Trunk and the O-W-R & N., and at Klamath Falls with the Southern Pacific. The plan, it is charged, is called for a terminal in the center of the Klamath Falls business district.

It is alleged further that the citizens appropriated the money to acquire the necessary right of way for construction of freight sheds, a passenger depot and other terminal facilities. The railroad, it is charged, expressed willingness to proceed with the line if an appropriation of $300,000 were raised.

A trust fund of $60,000 was acquired through donation of the more than 650 persons involved, and this was used to purchase of the right-of-way. The city of Klamath Falls was then bonded for $300,000 and sold to the railroad for $150,000, it is alleged. The railroad, however, the complaint cites, has failed to build the line and has refused to return the property.

The suit asks that the properties be returned and that a decree be required that the defendant acquire the properties for terminal purposes only.

Their End in Sight? The elephant, crocodile and rhinoceros are among the animals that appear to be on the down grade of evolution and that will some day disappear like the great dinosaurs.

Other members of the faculty are Rev. Leroy H. Walker, of Hillsboro, Ore., who will lead in the consideration of "Young Folks Problems"; and Rev. C. O. Heath, of Caldwell, Ida., who will lead in singing and will include solos, duets, quartets, chorus singing and an orchestra.

Mr. Hertzog is assisted on the executive committee of the institute by Mrs. Edgar A. Pollock, of Walla Walla, dean of women; Rev. Hall K. Wallis, of Enterprise, business manager; Mr. Pollock, manager of the commissary and dining hall; and Mr. McCallister, district superintendent.

Equipment requirements include camping, athletic and musical equipment, cameras, fishing tackle, bathing suits, Bible, note book and pencils.

Monday evening, July 18, the Union League will be in charge of the "Get Acquainted Time," and for the next four evenings the services will be addressed by Mr. Walker, who will present a series of dramatic story sermons. Saturday evening will be given over to the annual business to be followed by camp bonfire group meetings. Mr. Hertzog states.

Special services have been arranged for Sunday and will include: 7:30 a. m.—Early morning communion service conducted by Dr. Harry S. Hamilton. 8:30—Breakfast. 11:00—Public worship and preaching service. 3:30 p. m.—Business meeting of Camp Ground association. 7:00—Epworth League, Boise First Church league. 8:00—Farewell service.

LONDON (AP)—Brigadier General A. C. Critchley, enthusiastic and professional amateur golfer, pulled off a chance of nearly five million to one in this year's golf championship draw.

He was drawn against Captain R. Amos Wilson, an old friend, in three championships—the English amateur, the French amateur and the British open.

The actual odds, figured by a chartered accountant, against such an eventuality are 4,850,000 to one. General Critchley recently won the Surrey championship. He has played many rounds with Captain Wilson.

Officers brought Bohn to town. Questioned by police there, Bohn said he was at the family garage a week ago today when the men seized him at the point of guns.

"They took off my glasses and wound tape over my eyes," said the youth, whose father is a manufacturer here. "They drove for an hour and stopped at what apparently was a garage. After about three hours, one man walked me for about 200 feet. He took me into a house and down some steps, into a basement. I think."

He said he was kept there until an hour before his release. He thought

650 Citizens Of Klamath County Prosecute Suit

PORTLAND, Ore., July 7 (AP)—Hearing of a suit brought by more than 650 residents, merchants and business men of Klamath Falls and nearby districts against the Oregon, California & Eastern railway for return of certain property, continued today before Federal Judge James Alger Fee.

The hearing opened late Wednesday and probably will continue for a week or more. A great amount of evidence is to be presented.

Plaintiffs in the suit are John W. Siemens, Russell H. Durke, Hyman Wechsler, Edward Hodge, Barney Chambers, Edward W. Lawrence and Clarence W. Underwood, who are trustees of the Strahorn railway terminal facilities and acting on their own behalf as well as for the 650 others.

ST. PAUL YOUTH IS RETURNED BY KIDNAPING GANG

Officers brought Bohn to town. Questioned by police there, Bohn said he was at the family garage a week ago today when the men seized him at the point of guns.

"They took off my glasses and wound tape over my eyes," said the youth, whose father is a manufacturer here. "They drove for an hour and stopped at what apparently was a garage. After about three hours, one man walked me for about 200 feet. He took me into a house and down some steps, into a basement. I think."

He said he was kept there until an hour before his release. He thought there were four or five men in the gang. He was well fed and had plenty of cigarettes to smoke, but the tape was kept over his eyes all the time.

Chief Thomas Dahill said the arrested men had confessed they had promised to return Haskell Bohn if the money was forthcoming. They gave directions where to leave the money. A fake package was prepared and taken to the designated spot.

Arrest of the men followed. They gave their names as Harold Wilder, 28, alleged leader in the attempted extortion; Louis Bartol, 30, and John O'Connor, 29. Whether they had any connection with the actual disappearance of Bohn was not announced by police.

FEW LETTERS ARE RETURNED FOR POSTAGE

Very few letters posted yesterday at the local post office had to be returned to their senders for more postage, post office officials announced this morning. The new 3-cent postal rates went into effect yesterday, and the post office congratulates La Grandeans, most of whom remembered the change.

No slump was noticeable in the number of letters mailed, contrary to the report of other offices about the state which reported that the number of letters decreased on the first day under the 3-cent rate. Other postmasters in the state believe that the slump was due to the fact that many mailed their first class letters earlier in the week before the rates went into effect.

The sale of one-cent stamps was greatly increased, and is expected to continue at an increased rate until the public uses up the two-cent stamp supply, at which time the new lavender three-cent stamps will replace the green and red combination now seen on most envelopes.

Eight cents is now required for the first ounce sent airmail and 19 cents for each additional ounce, and the postmaster reports that the former 6-cent airmail stamps may be combined with extra postage to bring it up to the proper amount.

If the return address is on the envelope all letters bearing only 2 cents are returned to the sender for additional postage.

DO YOU INHALE? "We've spilled the beans" in the smoker's interest DO you inhale? "You've spilled the beans!" said the cigarette trade when first we asked this simple question—a question which long had been treated with silence that would "shame a Sphinx!" Why? Wasn't the subject vital enough to pursue? Or, was there a hidden reason for the general avoidance of the question by others? Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has chosen to raise this question... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it! Do you inhale? Of course you do—and so, in the smoker's interest, Luckies have not feared to "spill the beans."
