

Chats With Parents

PLAYING SOLDIER
Flying Judson Peale
Parents often are shocked to see what brutal games of make-believe their children invent.

Hunting, killing, war, bombardments, wholesale slaughter of an enemy people are carried out with the greatest enthusiasm.

Dolls and toy animals are stabbed, shot, dismembered, imprisoned and executed without compassion.

The adult watching does not understand how a child who has been always humanely treated, who has seen little or no cruelty in his life, can come by such ideas or how he can derive such obvious delight in acting them out.

Usually the attempt fails. Even if it seems to succeed, continued observation will show that it surely crops up again in a new although perhaps less direct form.

The young child playing such games is merely acting out an aggressiveness which is inevitable under the circumstances.

For many reasons he feels rage and a sense of frustration for which the actual environment offers him no other outlet.

Is he not a child and as such ordered about, thwarted, limited at every turn? Must it not be painfully plain a dozen times a day that he is inferior to the great grown-ups who dominate his existence?

Somehow he must get even. He must imagine himself — since he cannot be so in reality — in a position of power and authority. He must revenge the wrongs which his inattentive, pleasure-seeking self feels that he has suffered.

Considered from a mental hygiene point of view, games of cruelty are a most valuable vent for feelings which might pile up dangerously and discharge themselves at last in really undesirable behavior.

PERRY PERSONALS

By Willa O'Neil
(Observer Correspondent)
PERRY (Special) — Perry was practically deserted the Fourth with most of the people going to the hills. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Benson and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pierson and children, Jennie O'Neill, Bob Garly, Mrs. DeCousy went to the junction of the Big Minam and Little Minam meeting another group there.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Proctor and children, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Pierson and children and Mr. and Mrs. Lou Evans and children spent the day at the Lee Seal ranch on Hobbs hill.

A group of the younger people had a two-day camping trip on Mt. Emily; George and Joan Winch, Mrs. Ethel Hatch and children, Ernest Carmen and Evelyn Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Greenough and son, Glen, spent the weekend at the Robert White home at Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Snider and daughter, Betty, of Pendleton, were visitors at the Pierson home Tuesday.

A Team Of All Nations
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—New York's melting pot has little, if anything, on that of the Houston baseball club in the Texas league. A checkup revealed players of the following nationalities: Polish, Hungarian, Irish, English, Italian, German, and Dutch, not counting one man of Irish and French extraction.

Gambler's Throw
by Eustace L. Adams

SYNOPSIS: Once more on the Kildappers' trail, Jerry Callahan, intends to wipe out his former failure to run them down. He has a powerful new scheme, and with Emory's aid, he is on the lookout for the hideout of the gang. The ransom money collected failed due to his poor airplane. Now he has a powerful new scheme, and with Emory's aid, he is on the lookout for the hideout of the gang. The ransom money collected failed due to his poor airplane. Now he has a powerful new scheme, and with Emory's aid, he is on the lookout for the hideout of the gang.

Chapter 10
MURDER PERMITTED?
JERRY swung over lake and shore line in a series of immense concentric circles, urging his powerful new ship up and up until her controls became loose and the pointer on the altimeter refused to rise on the dial.

He was happier, at this moment, than he had been since he could remember. The pulsing drone of the marvelous new 525-horsepower motor was sweeter music to his ears than the most exquisite harmonies of a symphony.

Emory, his fiery blue eyes dancing with anticipation, was studying the magnificent panorama through navy binoculars. Never, since inheriting his father's substantial fortune, had the mere ability to spend freely given him such pleasure as now.

It seemed to him that never had he made as wise a purchase as the airplane. What better use of money than to buy adventure. He remembered the toast of the old gang in his squadron, hard-bitten, hard-eyed men rose and drank "bottoms up" to the words, "Anywhere but here!"

Stevens wiped an ugly little sub-caliber machine gun with a bit of oily cloth. He chewed rhythmically, his faded old eyes looking at nothing in particular. He had accepted the airplane as he accepted everything else, unquestioningly.

He saw no romance or adventure in the task before him.
If he had to live his life over again, he would have chosen a different job. One which didn't call for always being ready to shoot first and hit the bull's eye on the first shot.

"There she is!" Emory's exulting voice cut through the blurred snarl of the motor. "The same amphibian. Over there!"
Far below, hurtling over the corrugated blue washboard that was the lake, appeared a tiny airplane, heading straight out from the shore. Jerry throttled his engines, turned and carefully jockeyed the monoplane into its position between the sun and the speeding plane fifteen thousand feet below.

Mt. Glen Personals

By Mrs. E. D. Whiting
(Observer Correspondent)
MT. GLEN (Special)—Independence day was celebrated here in various ways: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence DeGraw and son, Esper, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Feik, and daughter, Donna, spent the weekend camping on the Grande Ronde. They were joined Monday by Mrs. Ella Waite and family, Owen and La Grande Allen, who spent the day fishing.

Those in La Grande were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Snyder and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Allen and daughter, Yolanda, Mr. and Mrs. Will Davies and daughter, La Verne, Philip Burrows, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Gilliam and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Briggs and Retta.

King spent the day at Cove.

J. A. Leak and Luther Peck spent the weekend fishing on the Minam. Mrs. Beale Leak entertained at dinner honoring Mr. and Mrs. Will Loft, of La Grande.

Clair and Mildred Butcher, of La Grande, were house guests at the Clarke home here over Monday.

About 15 members of the Berry family spent the fourth on a picnic and fishing trip at Wallowa.

An accident, which might have proved serious, occurred here recently. While Mrs. R. S. Allen was canning fruit a jar exploded forcing the lid off and throwing the boiling liquid into Mrs. Allen's face, burning her severely. The wounds are healing and it is thought there will be no permanent scars.

Keith Larsen, of Baker, visited last week with relatives here. Ernest Snyder is repairing the fence around the school and also has the wood contract for the coming year.

GIRL'S SCENARIO THESIS WINS ARCHITECT DEGREE
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ruth Morris won her the degree of professional architect at Ohio State university. Miss Morris, after receiving the degree of bachelor of architecture in 1924, went to Hollywood, where she assisted the art staffs in producing sets for moving pictures.

When she returned to the university for another degree she wrote a movie, "Catherine the Great" for her thesis. It contains 17,000 words. Sketches showing various dramatic incidents in the play were interspersed in the thesis.

The TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)
THREE of the Tinies promptly hopped inside the balloon, but Scout stopped and asked, "Where will I take us, when we get up in the air?"

"At other times we have been tossed around by wind till we were lost. If that's to happen this time, for the ride I do not care."
The kindly old balloon man smiled and then he said, "Don't worry, child. You'll merely have a real good time and then come to the ground."

"Jump in! You have no time to lose. I'll wait right here and take a snooze. When you come back again, beneath that bush I can be found."

So Scout joined the others who were yelling, "Hey! What's ailing you? We're not afraid to take this trip. The sky is very clear."
"Just hang on tight and up we'll go. If we rise fast, instead of slow, it won't be very long until we'll be real far from here."

"Goodby," exclaimed the friendly man, as to his sleeping spot he ran.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE WITHOUT CALOMEL
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
If you feel sour and sick and the food you eat doesn't seem to do you any good, it's because your liver is not working properly. Calomel is a harsh, irritating drug that does not clean the bowels and a more movement doesn't help at all. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just stays in the bowels and poisons you. You feel sick, you have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Your skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you go down and out. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes three good 60¢ CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, and it is when it comes to making the bile flow freely, that don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 O. M. Co.
