Hanabergh, of Cincinnati, Ohio, stopped in La Grande last night and called at the offices of the Oregon State Motor association to inquire concerning the roads to Walla Lake. They left this morning for the Lake and plan to stay there about a week. Mr. Hanabergh is an officer in the United States Army.

Recruiting for B. E. F.—J. C. McGill, who has been in Washington for the last few weeks with the "Bonus Expeditionary Forces," was in La Grande yesterday seeking to recruit additional men to join the bonus army marchers in the capitol city.

Perfect Citizenship—The title "epitome of good citizenship" has been applied to the verses found in Mark 12:17; Luke 20:25, with respect to payment of taxes: "Render unto Caesar (the state) the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's."

Silk From Wood Pulp—Within recent years wood pulp has been used for the production of artificial silk (celanese), which is made into stockings, underclothing and dress materials.

Serves Them Right—A doctor declares that 90 out of every 100 persons carry germs. I am glad to think that the other ten make the little beggars walk.—London Tit-Bits.

To Rout Temptation—Let a man be earnest in praying against temptation as the tempter is in pressing it, and he needs not proceed by a surer method.—Short.

Long Paved Highway—Pacific avenue, running from Los Angeles, Calif., to Vancouver, British Columbia, mostly paved with concrete, is 1,478 miles long. It is probably the longest stretch of paved highway in the world.

Petroleum's Origin—The origin of petroleum is not definitely solved, but nearly all authorities agree that it has been derived from living matter of past geological epochs, fish, most likely.

Jab at the Conceited—Conceited men often seem a harmless kind of man, who, by an overweening self-respect, relieve others from the duty of respecting them at all.—Beecher.

Depth Brings Religion—A little philosophy inclineth man's mind to atheism; but depth in philosophy bringeth men's minds about to religion.—Bacon.

Reverse Process—Rising in life is not like rising in a balloon—in the former case you must get rid of the gas and keep the sand.—Boston Transcript.

Chalk Basin Supplies Water—Hundreds of artesian wells in London, England, draw water from the chalk basin 500 feet below the surface.

How Delegates "Speak Out"

Here's how delegates to the Democratic national convention make their voices heard in great Chicago Stadium. Miss Christine Stern, delegate from Virginia, is seen speaking into the lapel microphone of Stuart Godwin, a page of Evanston, Ill., while the session was in progress. The "mike" is brought down the convention aisles by a pully attachment.

Made Run, Anyway—In 1872 a Democratic convention at Louisville, which had refused to accept the nomination of Greeley for President, at Baltimore, nominated Charles O'Connor of New York, a Catholic. O'Connor refused the nomination by telegram, but the convention proceeded to nominate him anyway. In the subsequent election he received thousands of votes in 23 states.

How It Is Done—A father and his little boy were having a discussion on legal matters. "What is a retaining fee?" asked the little boy. His father replied: "A retaining fee is a fee paid to a lawyer before he will undertake to do any work for a client." "Oh!" replied the little boy, "like putting a shilling in a meter before you get any gas."—Toronto Globe.

Earliest "Gold Standard"—When Phillip of Macedon started a great gold currency, it was then that sufficient fluid capital could be wielded to attack Persia. The union of that great kingdom, the mightiest known in the world till then, from the Balkans to Lahore rested upon a vast gold basis, the central store being 200 tons of gold, worth $150,000,000.

Where Commander Died—When General Kearny was wounded in fighting on the Ballad farm in Virginia, during the Civil war, he was carried to a large stump of black oak which was four feet across. Here he died in a short time. The stump therefore, was always known as the Kearny stump. After it decayed and crumbled, a stone marker replaced it.

The Impressive English—The English are perhaps the best fitted of all nations to impress foreigners. The personal calm, security, activity, sturdiness and prosperity give an almost unrivaled example of what all men wish to be like.—Goethe.

Odd "Reason"—History records that in the early period of English history two dogs suffered death for assaulting one of the lions in the Tower of London, on the principle of its being treason against royalty!

"Crank's" Salvation—"A man may be sumpin' of a crank," said Uncle Eben, "an' not have much trouble if he's willin' to go 'long wit de general machinery, 'stid of tryin' to turn de other way."—Washington Star.

Potato for Burns—It is well to remember that raw potato is a good remedy for burns. Scrape or grate the potato and apply it like a poultice to the injured surfaces. It will be found most soothing.

Miss Stoddard And George Scott Wed

La Grande friends of Miss Norma Stoddard and George Scott, both of Baker, will be interested to learn of their marriage on Thursday afternoon in Baker. David I. Stoddard, of La Grande, president of the Union stake of the L. D. S. church, performed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stoddard.

Miss Stoddard, dressed in a beige suit trimmed in fur with white accessories and carrying a bouquet of gardenias, lilies of the valley and roses, was met at the stairway by her father, who gave her in marriage. Mr. Scott was accompanied by Merrill Stoddard, brother of the bride. The wedding march was played by David Hardley. Before the marriage ceremony Mrs. David I. Stoddard sang "At Dawning."

Covers were laid for 22 at a dinner served immediately after the wedding. The rooms were beautifully decorated with pink and white Canterbury bells. The same color scheme was carried out on the tables with roses and sweetpeas.

Progress and Family Life

A great many things have affected family life during the last 100 years. Among these are the invention of the automobile and the improvement of our roads, the moving picture, the telephone, the radio, the fact that many wives earn an independent income, the establishment of good nursery schools, the development of hotels, restaurants and apartment houses.

Preserving Documents

A good method of preserving valuable paper documents is to paste the sheet between two sheets of strong thin transparent material such as silk or Japanese tissue. This treatment adds strength to the paper and also delays the chemical changes.
