Doctors Operate On Girl's Puppy; Bill Is Torn Up

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Little Lucy Graub, just 11, walked into the hospital for the ruptured and crippled carrying in her arms a little white puppy-dog. "This is Trixie," she told Dr. Edward Barnett, "and her leg is broken, and the dog-doctor said he would have to kill her; but I don't want him to kill her because she is the nicest dog in the world, and so I brought her to your hospital."

World's Fertility Scientists estimate that 40 per cent of the land area of the earth is desert, 30 per cent is cultivatable, and 30 per cent poor grazing land, marsh, forest, waste and high mountains. There is no agreement as to the exact portion that is inhabitable.

Always "Present" At Capitol

Not a roll-call has Congressman Robert A. Green (above) of Florida missed since he took office on March 4, 1925—which is a Capitol record. Maybe that's one of the reasons why he alone of all Florida's representatives was re-nominated in the state's primaries this year.

Surprising Scene

Maybe it was the camera that startled Queen Mary. Or perhaps she caught sight of a particularly beautiful display of flowers. Anyway, the photographer portrayed her in this attitude of surprise as she attended the National Rose Society's Show in London, England.

WHEAT A BIT BULLISH

CHICAGO, July 13 (AP)—With spring wheat growth now entering a critical stage, prospects of a northwest hot wave likely to affect the crop adversely tended to give some stimulus to buyers today. Reports were that some unexplained heavy buying at Winnipeg might be linked with the economic conference to be held shortly in Ottawa.

"Prosperity has always returned, and will again" . . . That was John D. Rockefeller's annual message to the American public when he posed for this picture, on his 93rd birthday anniversary, at his Tarrytown N. Y., estate. He's confident he'll fulfill his predictions of living to be 100.

"Bombs Bursting in Air"—As Capital Marks Fourth

Brightening the night sky and giving illumination to the famous white shaft of Washington Monument, a bursting bomb afforded this spectacle during the capital's Independence Day celebration. The Tidal Basin, in the foreground, bears upon its surface the reflections of the fireworks display, the monument and the lights of the city.

Peaceful Crook Refuge

Liechtenstein, the little country of 10,000 people, which lies between Switzerland and Austria, has today no crime, courts or prisons, yet it contains, paradoxically a large colony of crooks who have "cleaned up" in other countries and retired there to live under the protection of the simple naturalization laws. —Collier's Weekly.

Earliest "Gold Standard"

When Philip of Macedon started a great gold currency, it was then that sufficient fluid capital could be wielded to attack Persia. The union of that great kingdom, the mightiest known in the world till then, from the Balkans to Lahore rested upon a vast gold basis, the central store being 200 tons of gold, worth $150,000,000.

No Royal Road

Moving along the line of least resistance is not the royal road to anything worth while. Insight, grasp and self-mastery come rather by doing hard jobs. Rolling downhill on green grass does not develop robust, enduring, effective manhood as does climbing the Alps over loose rock and rugged snow-fields. There is no such thing as "painless education" in the market.

Women Can Keep Secrets!

In the African jungle there are several tribes whose women have a secret language of their own which they never have taught and never will teach to any man.

Cradle Songs Of Many Countries Sung at School

Cradle songs of many nations were presented in song and costume this morning at the weekly assembly of the Eastern Oregon Normal school, at 10 o'clock in the auditorium, by the J. H. Ackerman Training school under the direction of Miss Melba Williams, musical supervisor. While the cradle songs comprised the second division of the program, the first included talks by students of the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, supervised by Mrs. Caroline Stevenson, who is directing a study of mountains; Miss Margaret Carstairs, nature study; and Miss Mildred McCarter, world's fair and the Olympic games.

An American cradle song opened the program, presented by pupils of the first grade. Luan Brady, Othello Pulp and Susan Knight were dressed in costumes, while members of the chorus who sang the song were Betty Arlene Emmet, Virginia Finley, Ivan French, Jackie Hays, Donald Lester, Verner Murray, Gordon Roberts, Edwin Rudd and Helen Jean Webb.

From France came the song sung by the second grade. Betty Jo Clark, Dorothy Lester and Patricia Wetzel were dressed as little French girls, and members of the chorus were Lorraine Chrusoskie, Darlene Geddes, Lyle Hansen, Mary Ingle, Jack McCormick, Merlede Moore, Junior O'Rourke, Marcia Sanford and Eva Ruth Scarborough.

Eleanor Benton, Letha Carson and Lorraine Noland, dressed in Bohemian costumes, were the representatives of the third and fourth grades who sang a Bohemian cradle song. The singers were Violet Andrews, Norma Carson, Glenis Clark, Louise Edwards, Beth Fross, Evelyn Hamman, Rayjean Hendrickson, Catheryn O'Rourke, Frances O'Rourke, Sarah Patton and Annie Svetich.

Mildene Goss, Violet Gunn, Nancy Lee Lindsey, Frieda Marshall, Marie Stitt, Annette Turn, Verna Ward and Floy Wetzel sang a Japanese cradle song and all were dressed in appropriate costumes. They are all pupils in the fourth and fifth grades.

Riding the Radio Waves

Though doctors' orders prevent Gertrude Ederle from swimming, they don't keep her entirely from the water. Her most recent aquatic stunt was broadcasting her impressions of a 46-mile-an-hour surf-board ride over the Hudson river at New York. She spoke into the midget microphone which you see attached to the left shoulder-strap of her bathing suit. An ear affliction has kept the English Channel conqueror out of active swimming competition.

Hollywood's "Figure" Expert Is Wed

Madame Sylvia, who's an authority on film stars' figures through being Hollywood's best known masseuse, is Mrs. Edward Letter now. Here you see her in New York with her new husband—an actor 11 years her junior. She's 51. They were married at Egremont, Mass.

prize costumes. They are all pupils in the fourth and fifth grades. Nancy Rechin was the winsome little German girl who accompanied the song from that country sung by Desda Vee Austin, Martha Jane Clark, Phyllis Douglas, Helen Geddes, Margaret Lasater, Dorothy Shultz and Marjorie Williamson.

Two countries were represented by the eighth grade, Norway and Russia, with Frances Singleton dressed in a representative costume of the former and Nadine Zweifel of the latter. Members of the chorus which sang songs from both countries were Laverne Anderson, Vadis Baxter, Adele Bunch, Gaylene Hammack, Stella Jean Ingle, Irma Klinghammer, Maxine Noah, Adalade Zweifel.

As a grand finale to the program the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades sang a lullaby of the American negro with the following boys dressed as dandies: Francis Adams, Jack Cox, Pat Fitzgerald, David Geddes, Earl Gullickson, George Gunn, Robert Høgenesen, Dick Karther, Frederic Lewis, Kenneth Lilly, Robert McAnulty and Hart Rechin.
