ABUNDANT CROPS NOW MOVING TO OUTSIDE MARKET

840 Cars of Cherries Shipped with Union County Just Beginning its Harvest.

CORVALLIS, July 14 (AP)—Although the markets are extremely low compared with former years, abundant crops covering a wide variety of fruits and vegetables are moving to market from Pacific northwest growers in volume approaching 750 to 800 cars.

Eastern cherry auctions, according to the federal market service-state college review today, strengthened somewhat during the week with sales netting around 66 lb. of cherries, mostly western shipping points. The northwest has shipped 840 cars of cherries to date, with Union county just starting its cherry harvest. Last year the total was only 600 cars.

Apple Crop Smaller The 1932 apple crop is expected to total only 153,824,000 bushels, or two-thirds of last year's production. Washington expects a crop of 7 percent under last year, while Oregon probably will harvest a larger crop, particularly in the Hood River district. Cold storage supplies in the country are said to be practically cleaned up and early new crop apples are starting to move. The California Gravenstein crop started this week with first prices at $1.25.

The Gresham district has shipped 35 cars of fresh raspberries to date, despite poor markets, mostly to north central states. Yields are smaller than first estimated as dry weather has kept size small.

Apricots Moving Northwest apricots are moving now with yield plentiful and prices low, although fair northern distribution is in prospect because of light supplies from California. Oregon cherry shippers face low priced middle western markets. Some California acreage has been abandoned because of low prices.

Early Gains Lost In Stock Exchange NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Selling in wheat and cotton spread to the stock market in the afternoon trading today and dampened the enthusiasm resulting from yesterday's break advance. Early gains of a point or so were lost and the last closed with a heavy tone, with several leaders off a point or more. Turnover approximated a million shares.

As much as improvement in commodities had been one of the chief talking points for higher prices for stocks, the drops in wheat and cotton are discouraging. Also, the adjournment of the meeting of the house and senate confers on the retail measure without agreement was regarded in some quarters as an adverse market influence.

parts of a "heft" of petitions was circulated in Portland. Zorn stated it had previously been agreed that the petitions would be placed in a Portland bank, but instead, were left in Zorn's office on July 4, the time of the alleged robbery.

Refers to "Sell-Out" In commenting upon the campaign for signatures, Zorn referred to an alleged deal to sell-out, involving friends of the university, as revealed by Brownell. The alleged offer of cash was turned down, Zorn said, because they were fighting for a principle, not money.

Zorn said John Ramage and other merger leaders are also dissatisfied with the alleged interference of Cyril Brownell in their plans. "We had only $100,000," Zorn said, "and Brownell came into the picture without our consent."

The head of the group sponsoring the bill said the campaign on behalf of the bill has thus far been financed by "prominent Portland residents, who desire the merger as a step toward economy, but are not yet ready to have their names made public." He intimated that the names of the persons would be revealed within a few days.

Large Sum Expended Zorn admitted that a large sum of money had been expended to obtain the necessary number of signatures after the reported robbery. He said contributions had been paid as high as 15 cents a name, and that airplanes had been employed to gather up the petitions throughout the state.

In answer to what he described as current rumors that the robbery boys in Portland was intended to conceal the failure of the bill's sponsors to obtain sufficient signatures, Mr. Zorn said:

"We had more than enough names to place the measure on the ballot. Our total count up to July 4 exceeded 77,000 virtually all of which had been verified by the county clerks."

Senator Glass Proposes New 'Wet' Amendment to U. S. Constitution

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—Senator Glass (D., Va.) in the senate Wednesday proposed a new amendment to the constitution to repeal the 18th amendment, but to prohibit sale of liquor in saloons or transportation into any states where it was unlawful.

Long a supporter of the present amendment, the Virginian sought immediate consideration for his proposed substitute.

This was blocked, however, Senator Norris (R., Neb.), objecting. The proposed Glass amendment would be operative unless ratified by 36 state conventions within seven years.

Its text follows: "Article XVIII of the constitution is hereby repealed. The sale of intoxicating liquors within the United States or any territory, subject to the jurisdiction thereof for consumption at the place of sale (commonly known as a saloon), and the transportation of intoxicating liquors into any state, territory, or possession of the United States in which the manufacture, sale, and transportation of intoxicating liquors are prohibited by law, are hereby prohibited. The congress and the several states, territories, and possessions shall have concurrent power to enforce this article."

For breakfast they had 1000 sandwiches, sent to them by Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean.

Butter Advance Occurs Today On Oregon Market

PORTLAND, July 14 (AP)—Advance of 1/2c in the price of prime first butter on the Portland produce exchange, reflects the slight betterment in the situation in underscore offerings, which have been more or less neglected in leading centers along the coast of late.

With decreasing stocks of butter and a normal current demand, the trade is awakening to the fact that prevailing butter prices are extremely low. There were no further changes in prices on the exchange during the late session.

Open market for both prints and cubes suggests a generally steady tone at maintained prices.

Butter values reflect steadiness at least with strength in spots.

Trading in the egg market continues without general price or condition change locally. The same applies to the country generally. Receipts continue to reflect decrease.

Strength has generally disappeared from the market for live hens with reports indicating an early loss of 10 lb. in buying prices as a result of very liberal offerings from Idaho and the Puget Sound country. Springers are scarce and firmly priced.

Well held prices are suggested in the market for country killed meats, with the possible exception of beef, which is inclined to show more or less dullness except for bulls.

Walla Walla outdoor grown tomatoes are now arriving in Portland. Sales are being made $2.25 to $2.50 for July 25 lbs. or better.

Home grown tomatoes are arriving more freely from The Dalles and other mid-Columbia points. Quality is gaining and demand is good. Sales are made mostly around $1 box.

Trifle easier tone is reflected in the Oregon Crop Of Apples Held At 4,950,000 Bushels

 PORTLAND, July 14 (AP)—The first quantitative estimate of apple production in Oregon, made by the U. S. division of crop and livestock estimates as of July 1, indicates a total crop of 4,950,000 bushels. Soil moisture conditions have been very favorable and other conditions have been fair to good generally. Unusual care and attention to spraying programs has kept the damage from first brood of codling moth to a minimum. Trees are generally thrifty and prospects, as a whole, are fairly good at this time. The Oregon estimates are given in the following table along with those of other adjoining states.

States	1932	1931	Ave.
Oregon	4,950	4,150	6,371
Washington	29,382	31,400	28,885
Idaho	4,662	5,000	4,781
Pacific N. W.	39,024	40,550	40,037

Fruit Data July First Apple Production

States	For Drying	Fresh
Oregon	35	80
Washington	40	75

Oregon pear production prospects declined considerably during June, chiefly as a result of one of the worst hail storms ever experienced in Southern Oregon which swept an area of between 1,500 to 2,000 acres of orchard land north of Medford. While the storm did not strike the heaviest orchard district it caused a loss of fruit probably amounting to upwards of 300 cars or around ten per cent of the total pear crop. Although estimates of damage range from 100 to 300 cars the fact that things were just getting under way may make possible the salvaging of a considerable portion of the fruit in the damaged area. Other conditions have been mostly favorable with a plentiful moisture supply and very little fruit damage.

Glaciers Influence Weather A Norwegian scientist who has been giving some very close attention to the movements of the glaciers which abound in this country, says he has traced a very direct connection between the weather and the action of these great moving "rivers of ice." A great advance of the ice causes cold and west summers, when crops do not ripen. Where this covers several years famine is the result.
