Market For Eggs Shows One Cent Advance

UNDERSELLING BY OUTSIDERS IS CONTINUING

Conditions Within Butter Market at Least Steady —Provisions in General Advance.

PORTLAND, July 18 (AP) — Market for eggs showed an advance of 1c dozen for the week's opening, announcement of which was made by Manager Dixon of the Pacific co-ops. The underselling continues by outsiders.

General conditions within the butter market are at least steady with spots indicating more or less strength. Make is still showing a fractional decrease. Butterfat appears fully steady.

For the first time in many months, there is a really firmer tone displayed in the market for cheese. Not only has strength been shown in the major eastern exchanges, but price lifts have been recorded generally for the first time since the current season started.

Locally there was no change in the price for the week's opening but values are more steadily held.

Prices Maintained

In the market for live chickens, the market for broilers reflects more than passing steadiness with prices generally maintained. No change is showing for hens although a cut was forecast.

Former advances in the price of hogs, much of which are being wiped out, resulted in a further general rise in the price on provisions. New advances are scored for hams and bacon for the day.

For the week's opening the market for country killed meats was practically unchanged and the immediate future of values will to some extent depend upon the action of the live-stock market.

There was again a weaker showing in the market for dried beans. One of the big handlers was freely offering small whites from California around $3.00@$3.10 cental.

Tomatoes Slipping

Price continues to show a downward trend in the market for tomatoes with The Dalles stock showing a general top of 90c for the day although here and there 80c was reported for a few selections.

Notes of wholesale trading:

Watermelons are again lower but may strengthen with better weather.

Car cling peaches with a few Albertas due from California.

Local peaches in small supply with a fair call around 50@65c.

Demand for corn remains favorable with prices maintained.

Outdoor cucumbers are very weak and lower; sales down to 30@40c box.

Lower Columbia peas are down to 5@5½c lb. with others selling ½@1c below this.

Walla Walla onions are again lower at $1.00@$1.15 cental.

New potatoes are a trifle easier again for Central Washington stock with more locals available. Better quality too.

Berry markets are weak with generally reduced prices.

NAME AMUSEMENT CENTER

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—"The Midway, City of a Million Lights"—that was the name announced today for the amusement center of the 1933 world's fair.

On it, extending far down the 15 miles of Lake Michigan shore that constitute the exposition site, will operate rides, wheels, wild west shows, and refreshment stands.

Newspaper columnists, exposition officials, and the public helped to select the name, the first two words of which showmen the world over use to describe amusement areas of carnivals, fairs, and circuses.

All broadcasting stations in Japan are members of one association, under direct government control.

Grain Markets Lower; Export Demand is Dull

WASHINGTON, July 18 — Grain markets turned easier during the week ending July 15, with improved prospects reflected in upward revision of crop forecasts and continued slack inquiry for current market offerings, the principal weakening influences, according to the weekly grain market review of the U. S. bureau of agricultural economics. Domestic wheat markets weakened, with a dull export demand, although a moderately active local milling inquiry was apparent in most markets. Corn showed some independent strength under the more favorable feeding situation, but the favorable crop outlook was a weakening market factor. Rye was easier with wheat, and oats and barley weakened under the influence of the approaching good harvest. Domestic flax markets worked slightly lower in sympathy with other grains and despite the firmness in the situation abroad.

Wheat

Domestic wheat crop prospects improved during June and the indicated outturn of all wheat July 1, was placed at 736,971,000 bushels, as against 894,204,000 bushels produced last year. Stocks of old wheat remaining on farms July 1 totaled 71,025,000 bushels against 31,865,000 bushels a year ago. The increase in farm stocks was largely offset by smaller stocks in store at the principal markets, which totaled 158,436,000 bushels as against 203,967,000 bushels for the corresponding date last year. Official data are not yet available for merchant mill and country mill and elevator stocks, but trade advices suggest increases in stocks in these positions, although such increases will not be sufficiently large to offset the reduction in the new crop. Even though domestic supplies for this season should be reduced materially from those of a year ago, they will still be well in excess of the usual domestic requirements. During the last crop season, utilization of wheat within the U. S., including wheat ground for domestic consumption and wheat used on farms where grown, amounted to approximately 738,706,000 bushels as against 727,807,000 bushels for the preceding year. Mill grindings, exclusive of wheat flour exports, totaled 467,889,000 bushels as against 480,559,000 bushels for the preceding year. Wheat fed on farms growing wheat, exclusive of wheat purchased for feed, reached the record amount of 184,158,000 bushels as compared with 139,142,000 bushels in the preceding year, and was four times as large as the annual average from the six preceding crops. Annual seed requirements of wheat during the period 1924-1931 have been between 70,100,000 bushels and 92,700,000 bushels. Wheat ground at local mills for home use during this period has ranged from 5,800,000 to 8,100,000 bushels.

The Canadian spring wheat crop has made generally favorable progress during the week and prospects are now considerably better than a year ago. The condition of all wheat as of June 30 was officially reported at 99 per cent of the long time average yield, as against 58 per cent at the corresponding date last year. Recent rains over the west have greatly added to the moisture supply and with few exceptions the moisture condition is fair to good, according to the Manitoba Free Press. An early harvest is indicated in Manitoba and Southeastern Saskatchewan, where the wheat is mostly headed, but Southern and Central Saskatchewan will harvest about their normal time, while warm, bright, dry weather is needed in Northern Saskatchewan and most of Alberta to hasten maturity of the crop. Heavy stands of grain in these districts are inclined to lodge, with some wheat already coming down, while local hail damage occurred in a few areas. The dominion bureau of statistics reports a lack of sub-soil moisture over large areas, which will necessitate further rains during the next few weeks for continued favorable crop development.

European crop conditions are still mostly satisfactory, although some deterioration has recently occurred from unusually hot, dry weather. Harvesting in the winter wheat regions of Russia was interrupted by rains, but conditions are reported generally favorable except where severe winter killing occurred. Additional inquiries for space for grain shipments from South Russian ports to the United Kingdom or continent during August and September were reported during the week. Cutting of wheat is expected to begin in Germany next week and a record harvest of 183,423,000 bushels is forecast, as compared with 155,546,000 bushels harvested last year. High temperatures with less than normal precipitation in Northwestern Europe during the first half of July were somewhat unfavorable to crop development but tended to hasten harvest. In the countries of the Lower Danube during the first ten days of July, hot, sultry weather caused premature ripening and shriveling of grain and favored rust development, which spread throughout the Danubian basin. Yields are now reported to be around 33 per cent under those of a year ago, with prospects of considerably lower quality.

Pacific northwestern markets showed some independent strength and were relatively firmer than middle western markets. Cash wheat prices were weaker than futures and showed losses of from 2@3c, reflecting the lack of export inquiry and slack domestic milling demand. Growers were offering sparingly at current low values and receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals totaled only 230 cars as against 918 for the same week last year. Merchant exchange statistics report wheat and flour exports from Puget Sound and Columbia river ports for the year ending June 30 at around 53,800,000 bushels against 48,600,000 for the previous season, with increased shipments to the Orient and California more than offsetting the smaller movement to Europe. The first car of new crop wheat arrived at Portland from Central Oregon, grading No. 3 soft white and testing 57½ lbs. per bushel.

KAYE DON BREAKS SPEED RECORDS

The first lap, from south to north, on the second run, was covered at 120.50 miles an hour and the southward lap at 119.12, an average of 119.81.

First To Travel So Fast

Don's flash over the course on the northern run in his second attempt gave him the distinction of being the first man in the world to travel over water at more than two miles a minute.

He said no incident of importance marked either of the two runs.

"I just kept her full out and she responded like the glorious lady that she is," he said.

He added much of his success was due to the extraordinary skill of his mechanics and engineers. He planned to fit new propellers on the boat before he made another trial.

Don was mobbed by the crowds when he returned to his hotel. Girls struggled to kiss him and men fought to shake his hand.

85 MILLION PEOPLE will see this..

WHY will this advertisement appear in more than 1,800 newspapers, reaching over 85,000,000 readers?

BECAUSE we want every smoker throughout the length and the breadth of this country to know that Chesterfield cigarettes are milder...

The tobaccos are the mildest that money can buy. Ripened and sweetened in the sunshine . . . cured by the farmer . . . then aged for two years in wooden hogsheads.

We want to tell every smoker from coast to coast that Chesterfield cigarettes taste better...

Chesterfield's way of blending and cross-blending fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos brings out better flavor and aroma.

We want every man and woman smoker to know this:

Chesterfield cigarettes are pure—just as pure as science can make them—just as pure as the water you drink.

We want every one to know that you can depend on a LIGGETT & MYERS product.
