HEROES ARE MADE—NOT BORN

witness appeared in court to say that Ruddle was not drunk—News item in Morning Oregonian.

It is such miscarriages of justice that makes the enforcement of the prohibition law difficult.

Although the evidence in the above case was to the effect that the defendant was guilty of drunken driving, the jurors freed him because they believe in the right of the individual to drive a car while he is intoxicated if he cares to.

The safety of others is no consideration with them nor is the law—Albany Democrat-Herald.

FUND SHOULD HELP If Washington and Oregon receive nothing from the national relief fund beside the sums available for highway building, quite a measure of employment should be afforded.

There is seen, in the distribution of this emergency fund, much hope for this district. Oregon's quota includes $773,000 for forest highways, added to the present appropriations.

The primary object of the relief bill is to provide employment for as many men as possible. The working week has been purposely kept short in order that more men may have work.

Preference is specified for married men and ex-service men with families will be the first preferred.—Walla Walla Bulletin.

WOOL REPORT BOSTON, July 22 (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow: "The wool market is well sustained. There has been a moderate demand for nearly all descriptions at prices which showed little or no change for the week."

"A further sale of 4 1/2 million lbs. of adult Texas hair in the original bags has gone a long way toward cleaning up the new clip. This sale was made to three regular users of the staple. The price was not divulged. It is believed to have been approximately 7 1/2 cents, although some small lots have been sold for more money."

The London colonial wool auctions closed with prices up 5 to 10 per cent on merinos and 15 to 20 per cent on crossbreds above the previous sale's close. The East India sales in Liverpool were 5 to 10 per cent above the previous series.

"A little stronger tone has developed in the piecegoods markets and the outlook is considered brighter than it has been for some time."

"In the west, there continues to be a steady movement of wool at steady rates."

The Bulletin will publish the following quotations: Secured basis: Oregon: Fine and f. m. staple 34-35; fine and f. m. clothing 29-30; valley No. 1, 31-33.
