

LOCAL BRIEFS

Accident—A car driven by Ferne Haun, of Evans, collided with a cow on the La Grande-Wallowa lake highway last night at 10:05 o'clock. The cow was down in the road and got up just as the Haun car approached, the machine hitting the animal broadside.

Fined—Lee Wilcox and John Garly both paid a fine of $2 in municipal court on a charge of parking their automobiles within the city fire limits between the hours of 2 and 5 a. m.

Meeting Called—J. E. Reynolds, president of the Sons and Daughters of Pioneers, today issued a call for a business meeting of the organization tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the city hall.

Stop For Visit—Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Coveny, of Portland, stopped off in La Grande this week, and made a visit at the W. E. Wilkins home en route to the Reed City from Salt Lake City where they had been visiting. They were accompanied by Mrs. B. P. Alford, and daughter, Jeanne, of Salt Lake City. Mr. Coveny is western representative of the Northern Paper mill, Mrs. Coveny, Mrs. Alford and Mrs. Wilkins are sisters.

Wallowa Co. Pioneers—The annual meeting of the Wallowa County Pioneers' association is to be held next Wednesday, July 27 at Wallowa Lake. Many from this county are planning to attend the meeting.

From Portland—E. W. Mosher, district passenger agent of the Pennsylvania railroad with offices in Portland, was a La Grande visitor today. Incidentally, he is doing a lot of boosting for the national American Legion convention to be held in Portland this fall. He reports that Idaho already has arranged for two special trains, one from the northern half of the state and the other from the south. He expects an unusually successful convention.

Leave La Grande—After attending the summer term at the Eastern Oregon Normal school, Miss Iris Morton, of Portland, and Miss L. E. Woodell, of La Grande, are planning to attend the meeting.

Health

THE LIVER

The liver is the largest organ in the body and one that is essential to life.

At the Mayo clinic and other experimental centers throughout the world, much study has been devoted to this organ. Experiments on animals, whose anatomy and physiology closely approximate the human's, have been made, including the complete removal of the liver.

It has been found that there is a very large margin of safety present in this organ, for even when 70 per cent of the functioning liver tissue was removed in the experimental animal, no appreciable change in its physiology was noted.

The animal remained in a good state of health, despite the destruction of almost four-fifths of its liver.

These and other studies have revealed the multifunction services which the liver renders to the body.

Thus, the liver plays an important part in carbohydrate or sugar metabolism.

Complete removal of the liver is followed within two hours by severe muscular weakness and convulsions, apparently due to the exhaustion of the available sugar in the animal's body.

The intravenous injection of sugar in such cases causes the disappearance of the convulsions and the reappearance of muscular strength.

The liver also plays an important role in the utilization by the body of proteins.

The anti-toxic functions of the liver were also brought out in these experiments, for, as has been well known for some time, the liver plays an important role in the destruction by various methods, of toxic substances which are absorbed from the intestinal tract.

Three experiments, apart from establishing more clearly the multifunction services of the liver, promise to be of service to mankind in the development of dependable tests for liver function.

PLAN HUGE CABLE NETWORK
IN BUILDING HOOVER DAM

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Construction of a network of cables connecting the sheer walls of Colorado canyon is the newest phase of the building of Hoover dam. Only one of the giant cables will be stationary, and that on the Nevada side. The Arizona end will be movable for a distance of several hundred feet up and down the river.

Four other cableways will be movable on both sides of the deep canyon and will be suspended from steel towers up to 90 feet in height erected on steel tracks.

On connecting vertical cables, men and supplies will be lowered and raised.

Two players made a hole in one in the Western open played at Cleveland this year.

TAB BOYER HAS BIG LEAD

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 22 (AP)—Joe Nichols, Long Beach, Cal., medalist in the national public links tournament, was all square at the end of the first nine holes in the third round today with Pete Miller, Chicago's remaining contender.

The fine putting touch and consistent driving Nichols displayed in previous rounds to make victories look easy was not apparent on several of the first nine holes.

Nichols finished the nine holes with 38, two over par, and Miller with 39. Talbot Boyer, Portland, Ore., turned 6 up on Aids Fordham, St. Paul. Boyer, in good form, shot his first nine in 36, one under par. Fordham required 42.

HONOR SYSTEM IN ATHLETICS

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Vanderbilt university and Sewanee have adopted an "honor system" agreement for dealing with another in their athletic relations for 1932 and 1933. The contract calls for each school to furnish the other the scholastic credits and records of its players.

The home office of Japan has banned dog fighting in Tokyo.

CAR IS GIFT TO ARNOLD

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—The front-drive speedster which Billy Arnold piloted to first place in the 500-mile race in 1930 and ran into accidents in 1931 and 1932 when ahead of the field, has been transferred to him as a gift by Harry Harts.

RAILS SPURT TODAY IN THE STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 22 (AP)—Raas spurred ahead in today's stock market and were quickly followed by the oils and a wide assortment of miscellaneous issues, but the movement lost its steam in the last hour and the list closed somewhat under the best. The averages were carried to the summer of some 1,400,000 was the largest in weeks.

There were numerous net gains of 1 to 2 points at the finish, and the tone was firm.

The announcement of approval of the four-party eastern railroad consolidation plan together with a favorable second quarter earnings report by Atlantic Refining, inspired fresh speculation for the rise. A recovery in

Buddy Reynolds To Play In Tourney

Buddy Reynolds, who shoots a nice game of golf with a lower score than many of the adult golfers at the La Grande country club, left this morning, accompanied by his brother, Everett, to play in the boys' division of the junior golf tournament in Portland. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Reynolds.

The tournament will be played at Riverside Golf course, with the qualifying rounds being an event of Monday.
