Police Continue to Guard White House — Troops Guard Deserted Camps

VIRGINIA TURNS VETERANS ABOUT

Mayor of Johnstown, Pa. Sends Welcome Message — Sabers, Tear Gas Used By Troops Thursday.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Troops hurled tear gas bombs and set shafts of the bonus army in the vicinity of the capital again this afternoon, at a time when President Hoover at the White House was serving emphatic notice that the federal government "cannot be coerced by mob rule."

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Wholesale arrests of radicals who have been active with the bonus army took place this afternoon, under the spur of direction from President Hoover that local authorities "at once find the instigators" of the attack on police which led to the killing of a veteran.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—From break of dawn on into the day, four soldiers stood guard over the four desolate spots that had housed the bonus army, an exodus of soldiers, veterans and hangers-on took place from Washington.

As for days past, police kept sentry at the White House to guard against radical demonstrations. The officers had instructions to call for reinforcements if any disturbance materialized.

In the early morning hours, numbers of those who were forced to fall back in front of tear gas attacks by Fort Meyer troops took to the highways for shelter elsewhere.

Members of the "B. E. F." who had gone to a private estate, christened Camp Barrett, two miles from the burned Anacostia camp, gathered together their few belongings to depart this forenoon.

Many ill tempered As the result of yesterday's happenings in which one veteran was killed and many police, veterans and soldiers injured, some of the remaining bonus marchers were anything but good tempered.

A few returned to the Anacostia flats and sought permission to search among the charred ruins for belongings. The number became so great that orders were issued that no one be allowed among the ruins, so that they still burning or smoldering.

NEWSPAPER COMMENT

By the Associated Press. Newspaper editors' comment on the Washington bonus army evacuation follows: New York Times—"x x x now that the latest spirit of insolent lawlessness has been injected in overt acts, the country should demand that the whole affair be thoroughly cleaned up, the veterans dispersed as speedily as possible and Americans be no longer called upon to witness an insubordinate body of men asserting at the national capital that they are above the people as a whole and more powerful than the government itself."

New York Herald-Tribune—"x x x whether these men are really communists or not is immaterial; they are agitators, and their assault upon the police—who bore the attack with courage and restraint—was bitterly unjustified."

Cleveland Plain Dealer—"The obvious course of the authorities in Washington is to maintain order at whatever cost. The capitol cannot surrender to the B. E. F. or to any other group insisting on rights that do not exist."

The New York Daily News—"x x x the government cannot surrender to these men. But neither can it afford to go one inch beyond the abhorrence of their methods."

Attempt to See Moon From Mine Fatal To Five

Three Boys Killed By Gas and Two Men in Party of Rescuers Listed Among the Dead.

MINTO, N. B., July 29 (AP)—An attempt to see the moon in daylight from the bottom of an abandoned mine shaft near here cost three boys their lives, and two men died trying to rescue them.

The youngsters descended the shaft yesterday they were overcome by gas and fell 40 feet into a pool of water. A fourth lad in the experiment ran for help after seeing his companions drop. The two men who lost their lives were the first of a party of rescuers to attempt to reach the boys.

The victims were Alwyn Gaudine, 9, Cyrus Strack, 13, and Ernest Strack, 15, all of Minto. Their father, five children, and Thomas Gallant, 48, father of nine.

ENROLLMENT AT BOYS' CAMP 50

Leaders to Leave For Wallowa Lake Tomorrow — Boys to Follow Later.

With the enrollment swelled to more than 50—at least 15 more than had been anticipated, with favorable weather in view and with a well-balanced daily program prepared, it appeared today the annual boys' camp at Wallowa Lake would be very successful.

Elmo Stevenson, who heads the Boy Scout movement here, and Harvey Carter, who will be camp director, will leave tomorrow morning with a truckload of provisions. Orders on the staff will be to leave tomorrow evening to assist them in making arrangements, and the final carloads of campers will leave La Grande Sunday morning.

Those who do not have means of transportation will meet at the W. H. Bohlenkamp company at nine o'clock Sunday morning. Cars will be provided there. Boys attending will be reminded that they were to take their noon lunch with them to the kitchen facilities at the Methodist camp grounds where the encampment will be made.

Swimming, hikes, overnight trips, campfire programs and scout training are included on the daily program. The outing will last two weeks, with different enrollments for each weekly period.

REVERSAL IN MONEY FLOW FAVORS U.S.A.

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—The sudden reversal in flow of international funds, which has been reversing back to this country, is attributed largely by Wall Street bankers to revival of the belief that when business recovery appears the United States will lead the way.

Around the middle of June the heavy outflow of capital began to slacken. In July when it became clear that the European central banks had drawn down virtually all of their gold balances which had been placed in this country, there was a change in trend. In the present week, the gold balance has reached its highest point, fairly sizeable shifting of foreign balances to New York having developed.

SQUAD OF POLICE WATCH PROGRESS

All Amiable, No Hint of Plans For Trouble in Spite of Early Reports to Officers.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—A report to the police at 12:15, that several hundred bonus veterans were marching in the southeast section for a march toward the capitol and possibly the White House resulted in a squad of police being rushed to meet them.

This band, which appeared somewhat smaller than the 300 to 500 as it had been reported to police, included men from several states, including an Oregon representation.

It progressed slowly and without any hint of plans for trouble along streets leading toward the Maryland boundary line, away from the White House direction. Police watched. All was amiable, and Johnstown was the destination.

Two truck loads of federal troops followed by a supply car and three ambulances moved out of the Anacostia flats and went in the direction of the capitol.

Officers declined to say where they were going, but police said the troops were ordered out to clear off a number of bonus marchers encamped on federal property on Maryland avenue near the capitol.

Another group of a hundred Texas and Tennessee veterans also shouldered their packs and headed for Johnstown.

They had asked Glasford for a motorcycle escort out of town but Work Rushed On Highway East of Pendleton, Ore.

PENDLETON, Ore., July 29 (Special)—Contractors working on the improvement of the Oregon Trail just east of Pendleton will be through with their rock surfacing work by Monday or Tuesday and will then commence oiling operations which will last for 20 days, says W. C. Williams, division engineer, who was here Thursday.

The highway when completed will be a permanent affair according to Mr. Williams. It will be a Bill Job, which is the standard bituminous macadam, the same type of work as on the La Grande section. There will be a two and a half inch compacted surface supported by a foundation consisting of 12 inches of rock or gravel.

In the Adams-Milton resurfacing work the contractors have completed four miles of highway between Adams and the railroad crossing near Alder. The work is complete about a half mile of highway each day and the entire job will be finished about September 1.

The highway is being widened four feet, two feet on each side, and is being resurfaced with non-skid surfacing.

EMPLOYED TO ASSIST PLAN BE ASKED TO

Urged to Purchase Equivalent of One Day's Pay in Labor Certificates

SUM NEEDED TO OPEN OPERATIONS

Union County Labor Exchange Plan is Showing Progress—Public Meeting Held Thursday.

Decision to ask employed La Grander to exchange one day's salary for the exact value in certificates which will buy produce was reached that night when the Union County Labor exchange committee held an open meeting at the city hall.

The plan was received enthusiastically by the committee as a distinct advance over the donations asked from the employed last year. Cash necessary to put the exchange into operation will be obtained without any donation from individuals, it was pointed out at the meeting last night.

Leaders in the movement confident the La Grande public would cooperate in the plan, inasmuch as it does not require a contribution. The idea is one presented to the committee by Harry McKinlay, who is president of the La Grande chamber of commerce.

All employed persons are asked to contribute to the fund. The fund will be given certificates on payment of the amount.

The entire exchange plan was felt to be progressing definitely and those working in the movement expressed satisfaction that the system would be successful.

Hiram Smith, general chairman, presided at the session. There were only a few citizens in attendance but those who did turn out added to the interest of the meeting with inquiries and took part in the general discussion.

It was said in an official White House quarter that Mr. Hoover felt the measure had been passed in the confusion of the last moments of the recent session, and that everything that was made available to the reconstruction finance corporation act.

Turkeys Used To Fight Army Worms

ROSEBURG, Ore., July 29 (AP)—Douglas county turkeys in large numbers are being transported into the garden districts of Melrose and Dilhard to half destructive invasions of army worms. Four hundred turkeys completely eliminated army worms from a 100-acre field at Melrose in four days, it is reported. Turkeys may be safely used in practically all vegetable tracks except broccoli, which the birds prefer as a diet to that of worms. Turkeys used to exterminate worms were found to thrive on such food.

FOREST SEASON IS COSTING LESS

Protection Expenses Show Decrease of $41,755 in Oregon So Far.

SALISBURY, July 29 (AP)—Expenditures for forest protection in Oregon on lands coming under the jurisdiction of the state forestry department the past six months were a third less than for the first six months of 1931, Lynn F. Cronmiller, state forester, announced.

The expenditures include all those made by various associations of the state as well as those made directly out of the forester's office. Total for the first six months this year was $87,722 as against $127,476 a year ago, showing a decrease of $41,755.

A contributing factor in the reduced expenditure has been the favorable fire season. Cronmiller said. However, a reduction in salaries and the sale of surplus equipment also has contributed its share. Fires started at the time of the serious windstorm of April 29 and continued throughout the season. This made it necessary to immediately place the full personnel in the field.

"So far the 1932 season has been the most favorable the patrol organization has ever experienced in a number of years," Cronmiller said. "Continued rains and cloudy weather during the first six months contributed to a material lessening of the hazard, making it unnecessary to place the full organization in the field."

"At present conditions in the state are generally fair although the hazard is becoming greater each day. This is especially true of the Eastern and Southern Oregon sections. Exposed south slopes have dried out and grass has become a tinder-dry mat. Numerous fires already have been reported but they have been held to a very small acreage and little damage has resulted."

The state forester's office also has been advised by the U. S. forest service that the federal Clarke-McNary allotment for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932, is $401,488. This is a reduction of $6004 under that received for the previous year.

These funds represent the federal government's responsibility in the protection of private and state owned forest lands from fire. The allotment to Oregon is based upon the total expenditures for the previous year. Only two other states received a greater share than Oregon, these being California and Michigan.

These funds are allotted to the various protective organizations of the state and are used in the regular work of the units.

Mayor Walker's Reply Sent To Gov. Roosevelt

New York Executive Denies Any Official Dishonesty or Corruption in 27,000-Word Letter.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 29 (AP)—James J. Walker's denial of official dishonesty or corruption as mayor of New York City was being studied today by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt.

His reply to Samuel Seabury's complaint that he was unfit to remain in office was submitted to the governor yesterday. In 27,000 words he set forth his reasons for contending that Seabury and others who sought his removal were wrong in believing that he had used his office for personal gain.

"Since the day of my birth," Walker assured Governor Roosevelt, "I have lived my life in the open. Whatever I have done I have done known to everyone—but disloyalty to my native city, official dishonesty or corruption, form no part of these shortcomings."

Denying all accusations, he assailed the counsel to the Hofstadter legislative committee, informing Governor Roosevelt in one instance that "Mr. Seabury deliberately identifies the meaning of the record." He also accused Seabury of withholding from Roosevelt part of the significant evidence gathered by the committee.

He said the investigation was "conceived, born and fostered in politics." Governor Roosevelt had nothing to say about the Walker reply, which he requested more than a month ago. He may remove Walker or exonerate him.

Obstacle To Be Cleared Receipt of the Walker reply meant a major obstacle which had been delaying the Roosevelt presidential campaign was about to be cleared. Walker's removal, as the Roosevelt campaign masters see it, would be a costly affront to the strong Tammany organization. Exoneration of Walker, the managers fear, might be interpreted in the west and south as yielding to Tammany.

Roosevelt, insisting that the impartiality of his action not be questioned, has threatened contempt citation against any individual who attempts to translate his decision in terms of political strategy.

Entry of Paavo Nurmi Rejected By the I. A. A. F.

By Alan Gould (Associated Press Sports Editor)

LOS ANGELES, July 29 (AP)—Like Hans Klenow, the celebrated Dane in the Olympic games will launch his most spectacular athletic show this weekend without Paavo Nurmi, the most gifted runner and most personally popularly that foot-racing has ever known.

Swiftly and without the remotest loophole for appeal, the Finnish athlete stood barred today from all Olympic competition, personally charged with rejecting his entry, based upon the charges that in effect he professionalized himself by accepting money.
