BEAVERS BEATEN FOUR STRAIGHT BY THE ANGELS

Portland Still Leading League by Three Games —Missions and Oakland Chalk Up Wins.

By the Associated Press

Portland's invasion of Southern California has produced exactly no results to date for the Beavers. The Angels beat them Friday night for the fourth straight time, 11 to 8. It was a free-hitting contest, each team registering 13 times. Portland got three homers, including one by Berger with two men on base. Los Angeles is now only two and one-half games behind the second-place Hollywood Stars.

Hollywood took its second straight defeat from the Senators, 4 to 1, as Louis Vinci pitched six-hit ball for Sacramento. The two defeats prevented the Stars from taking advantage of Portland's losing streak to approach first place in the percentage column.

Bert Cole pitched a seven-hit game as the Missions beat Seattle 6 to 1 to even the series. John "Junk" Walters pitched seven innings for the Indians, being retired after the Reds had made three runs off five hits. Freitas replaced him and prevented further scoring.

Oakland took a three-to-one lead in the series by beating San Francisco, 2 to 0. Three hits bunched in the third inning turned the trick for the Oaks.

Nearest Star

By the parallax method of measuring distance, the nearest known star is the Centauri, which is 24,000,000,000 miles away. This is said to be the approximate distance that separates stars from one another. Other bright stars at a distance not more than three times as great are Sirius and Procyon, but the brightness of a star is no guide to the distance it is from the earth. —Literary Digest.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

"Wee" Ludolph, crack hurler for Oakland in the Pacific Coast league, believes in advertising. Ludolph heard that the Chicago Cubs had asked for a price for his contract, and with this tip he stepped out to pitch a one hit game against the hard hitting Los Angeles club.

Oakland is understood to have put a $10,000 price on Ludolph. This is a small investment for a club with a change to win a pennant. With Burleigh Grimes indisposed, Ludolph may be called to Chicago pronto.

Ludolph knows how to pitch and his friends in the far west will be very much surprised if, given the chance, he does not go over in the National league. He mixes his delivery, seldom giving the opposition a good ball to hit, and is poison to hard hitters. He has a change of pace, a nice fast ball and a low curve. Pitchers who can toss up low curves and control them are rare in the minors—or the majors for that matter.

Ludolph went to the San Francisco Seals fresh from St. Mary's college ten years ago and got his first major league chance—a brief one—with Detroit. He then went to the Southern association and finally returned to the Pacific Coast league in an Oakland uniform.

RUTH STILL ALIVE

The aged but still belligerent Babe Ruth can not be counted out of the baseball picture yet. When the big slugger was forced out of the lineup with a charley horse there followed a shaking of heads and murmurings that at last the Babe was through. Talk persisted that he would be out of the game for many weeks and might never get back.

Within less than a week Ruth was in uniform, pinch hitting to good effect as he got a base on balls, the opposing pitcher apparently not daring to let him take a cut at the ball, well or crippled. A few days later he returned to the game in typical Ruthian fashion, driving in seven runs with two home runs and a double.

Ruth will not be able to overtake the flying Jimmie Foxx in the home run derby of the major leagues, but he probably will be the runner up with a highly respectable total—no mean feat for an old man in baseball.

'SLUGGER' SEWELL

When, and if, the New York Yankees win the American league pennant no small share of the credit must go to Joseph Wheeler Sewell of Alabama, still young in years but old in baseball.

"Little Joe" has been in the major league a dozen years—with Cleveland and New York—but he never played better ball than he is showing now. Sewell appeared in his first world's series with Cleveland in 1920 by special dispensation as he was not eligible under the strict letter of the baseball law. There seems to be something to baseball environment, for since joining the Yankees, Sewell has become a home run hitter. Doubles and triples were his specialty with the Indians.

EAGLES READY FOR 2 GAMES HERE SUNDAY

After a stiff practice session last night D. W. Hall, manager of the squad, announces that the Eagles baseball team is ready for its double-header program to be played tomorrow afternoon at the High school field. The first number on the program will be a seven-inning game with the Old Timers. This game will start at 12 o'colck noon. The second and final celebration will be a nine-inning affair with the Pleasant Grove grange team.

Two new faces were seen on the Eagles squad last night. Chuck Wilson, and his brother, a younger lad, were tried out in several different positions. Chuck tossed some pretty nice curves and hoppers over the platter to the Eagles batsmen last night and it looks as if he might be the answer to the season-long prayer for an adequate hurler to assist Red Courtney with the pitching duties. Wilson scampered around the shortstop position for a while too but looks better on the mound. Wilson is expected to see service at some position in the second game tomorrow.

Detroit Hurler Allows One Hit For Washington

By the Associated Press

Credit young Tom Davis Bridges of Detroit with the best pitched game of the major league season.

The 25-year-old right hander, who learned his baseball at the University of Tennessee, pitched the Tigers to a 13-0 victory over the Washington Senators yesterday, allowing only one hit and facing only 28 batsmen.

The Tiger star retired the first 26 Senators to face him only to have Pinch Hitter Dave Harris break the spell with two out in the ninth. After Harris had cracked the first ball into left field for a clean single, ruining Bridges' chance at a no-hit game, Sam Rice was retired for the final out on a bounder to first base.

It was the second one-hit game of the year in the majors and the second by a Detroit pitcher. Earl Whitehill, veteran southpaw, allowed the St. Louis Browns only one hit on July 4 but walked two men. Bridges walked no one and fanned seven.

Indians Win

The Cleveland Indians pulled closer to second place by outpointing the Boston Red Sox, 7-1, while the Philadelphia Athletics were dropping a 10-inning 9-8 decision to the Browns despite Jimmy Foxx's 42nd homer of the year. The league leading Yankees were held idle by rain at Chicago.

In the National league, Bill Walker came close to duplicating Bridges' performance as the New York Giants trounced the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-2. Walker gave up only two hits, both of them home runs by Ray Blades and Jimmy Wilson in the fifth inning.

The rampant Phillies blasted Root, May and Smith for 15 hits and handed the Chicago Cubs a 9-2 beating, thereby stretching the idle Pittsburgh Pirates' lead to four games.

Red Lucas pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 3-2 verdict over the Boston Braves. He blanked them until the ninth when a single by Urbanski and doubles by Moore and Schulmerich scored two runs.

FINN RUNNER BLOCKS HILL TO WIN RACE

The central figure of the controversy was Lauri Lehtinen, Finland's great young runner and disputed winner of the 5000-meter final over Ralph Hill, American boy who came within three inches of shutting out the Finns completely in the Olympic long distance "flat" races.

Lehtinen Interferes

The cause was Lehtinen's interference with Hill in an extraordinary stretch duel, during which the Finn three times crossed his American rival in clear violation of rules as well as ethics in an international meet upholding the highest ideals of sportsmanship.

The effect was to stir up a fresh aftermath of bitterness, ill-feeling and partisanship today, with the end of the track and field championships in sight and Finland, once more, the storm center, only a week after the banishmnt of Paavo Nurmi from the games on charges of professionalism.

Not since the 1908 games when an American, Carpenter, was disqualified for alleged interference with the British star, Halswell, and the race re-held as a "walkover" for Halswell because the Yankees refused to accept the decision, has there been anything like the outbreak of feeling that followed Lehtinen's victory.

Both to Share Record

Officially it will stand, with Lehtinen getting the gold medal and Hill sharing with him the new Olympic record of 14:30, because the two were so close together that the watches at the finish showed no difference in time. But it will be a long time before the debate is closed or Finland's escutcheon greeted with the more or less sympathetic re-action to her previous setback here, the disbarment of Nurmi on the eve of the games.

The Americans refused to make a formal protest, although the national president of the Amateur Athletic Union, Avery Brundage of Chicago, made no attempt to conceal his displeasure and made public a statement, saying: "Although the A. A. U. considers the race was not fairly run, neither Mr. Hill nor the United States will protest."

Hill Good Sport

Lehtinen and other Finns insisted no interference was attempted and even Hill, reluctant to enter into any discussion at all, asserted his belief his rival did not "mean" to interfere, but in an outspoken statement, Gustavus T. Kirby, American chief judge at the finish and close observer of the disputed incidents, declared: "If it had been a college meet, I would not have hesitated to disqualify Lehtinen on the spot."

It was more than an hour after the finish, marked by an unprecedented demonstration of booing by many in the crowd of 60,000, that Lehtinen formally was declared the winner by the referee, Arthur Holz of Germany, who asserted his exclusive powers, short of a formal U. S. protest, by stating in his belief Lehtinen's interference was "not wilful." Holz however, did not see the episodes, although Kirby's informal report to him, specifying the exact details, was confirmed by a Japanese inspector who had charge of the sector around the last turn where the mix-up started.

The whole story of the 5000-meter final was in the last 100 meters. Up to then, as well as right down to the finish, Hill, the tall Oregon boy, stuck like glue to Lehtinen's heels. With five laps to go, Hill had split the Finnish tandem of Lehtinen and Vertanen, the latter dropping behind rapidly. Going into the last lap, Lehtinen, plainly worried by Hill's persistance in sticking so close to a world record-holder, spurted. He could not shake off the American in the slightest, however, and it looked as though he was primed to go wide from the pole position, carrying Hill with him, into the third lane from the inside. Seeing his way blocked on the outside, Hill, still within only a stride of his rival, turned to seek an open way on the inside. As he did so the American momentarily checked his stride, whereupon Lehtinen, instead of continuing the path he had selected, cut over sharply himself, to be in front of Hill once more.

Crowd Roars Protest

This was where the crowd first began to sense what was going on and its first roar of protest echoed through the stadium. Again Hill tried to get around his rival, to straighten out for the final dash, but Lehtinen, looking over his shoulder, once more anticipated the move. They were almost shoulder to shoulder then and close to the tape, which Lehtinen broke first by a matter of inches.

Lehtinen might have won, anyway, for he was strong at the close but the conclusion, among the experts, was inescapable that he feared Hill's "kick" and employed tactics familiar to the old professional clan in heading off such a menace. Hill, in the opinion of Lawson Robertson, the American head coach, was the stronger at the finish after running a perfect race in his first bid for Olympic honors.

Carr Shatters Record

Like the flashing beacon that it was on a stormy day, Bill Carr's crowning triumph in the 400 meters, giving the United States its first sweep of the three Olympic short distance races in 20 years, stamped the little thoroughbred from Arkansas and Pennsylvania as the greatest quarter-miler of all time. Before this race, there were still just a few Eastman "die-hards" who would not bring themselves to believe that Carr was the master of the Pacific coast favorite that he proved himself to be in the intercollegiates at Berkeley and the final American tryouts at Palo Alto. There are none today.

Big Ben himself, after it was all over and he had run his heart out in vain, said to Gus Kirby, the American chief judge: "Bill's just too fast for me. You don't need to sympathize. I know when I'm licked by a better runner."

Time Amazing

Carr, with a typical rush down the home stretch with his smooth, almost effortless stride, beat Eastman by two yards in time that was considered next to impossible, even on this lightning track. His mark of 46.2 wiped out everything in the books or on the cuff, including the official world mark of 47 seconds, held by Bud Spencer; the unofficial time of 46.9, credited to Carr himself in the final trials; the old Olympic mark of 47.6, set by Eric Liddell in the 1924 final and Carr's own short-lived time of 47.2, made in the semi-finals yesterday.

3 FINE FEATURES COME TO LIBERTY

Robert Montgomery, Joan Crawford, Alfred Lunt, Gilbert Among Stars.

PROGRAM FOR THE WEEK AT THE LIBERTY

Sunday and Monday—Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontaine in "The Guardsman."

Tuesday and Wednesday—"Letty Lynton" with Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery.

Thursday and Friday—John Gilbert in "West of Broadway."

An unusually strong program of motion pictures has been booked for showing next week in the Liberty theatre, beginning with "The Guardsman" on Sunday and Monday, which stars Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontaine—two of the greatest stars of the New York stage who make their cinema debut in this film.

It is a talkie version of Ferne Molnar's naughty Continental farce in which a man successfully makes love to his own wife in an endeavor to test her fidelity.

The supporting cast includes the inimitable Zasu Pitts, Maude Eburne, Roland Young and Herman Bing.

"Letty Lynton"

Two of the most popular stars in the talking pictures today appear in the second feature of the week, "Letty Lynton," booked for Tuesday and Wednesday. The stars are Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery.

The picture is a sensational drama of modern society and its reckless diversions and is adapted from Marie Belloc Lowndes' famous novel. Its locales range from the colorful tropic charm of South America with a spectacular sequence played on a great ocean liner. It tells of an heiress whose preoccupation with the new "feminine freedom" entangles her in a dangerous affair with an ardent South American lover. She leaves him for her true love, an American but is followed by the South American, etc.

Others in the cast are Nils Asther, Lewis Stone, May Robson.

"West of Broadway"

John Gilbert is the headliner in the third picture of the week, "West of Broadway," and supporting him are El Brendel, Lois Moran, Madge Evans, Gwen Lee, Frank Conroy, Ralph Bellamy and others. Much of this picture was screened in rolling prairie country and desert ranch lands, offering magnificent vistas of the expansive west where romance is said to bloom eternal.

The story, one of regeneration from a brand new angle, was written especially for Gilbert by Ralph Graves and Bess Meredyth.

WORST OF SLUMP PASSED

LONDON, Aug. 6 (AP)—The Economist, one of Great Britain's foremost economic and financial authorities, said today it believed the crisis of the economic stress in the United States was past.

"It would be rash to predict that America is yet within sight of general economic recovery," it said, in a review of world conditions, "nevertheless, there is a reason to think that the giant of the west has passed the crisis of his sickness.

"In the spring and summer there were grave symptoms, such as the growth of unemployment, the widespread failure of banks, the drain of gold to Europe and the growth of hoarding and the distrustful public. "These were justifiably regarded with serious apprehension, but the period of panic seems to have passed. The process of hoarding is being checked, the banking position is salvaged and the psychology of the people steadied."

There are also indications, the paper said, that "in the world generally, the steepest phases of the depression are past."

SHOE BUSINESS IMPROVING
