Champion Fish Story Is Told By Chicago Man

CHICAGO, Sept. 1 (AP)—President Hoover and Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, may read the champion fish story of all times—at least that's the way the yarn is described by the "world's worst fisherman."

"I'm going to write President Hoover all about it, and send a copy of the letter to Governor Roosevelt," said Will Morrison, of Chicago, who earned his title as the worst fisherman by failing to catch a fish in 28 years of effort.

"I was fishing from a canoe on Squaw lake near Almo, Wis.," he said, "when my line gave an awful jerk. I thought the line had snagged a log. Then a big muskellunge—a sixty-pounder—jumped out of the water."

"He shook his head and made a jingling noise like Santa Claus' reindeer. The jingle came from a dozen spoon hooks that decorated his mouth. Right then I knew I'd hooked 'Old Sleigh Bells,' a famous fighting fish in Squaw lake.

"Well sir, I fought that fish for two hours. He broke my new $28 rod, and tangled himself up in the line. Then he swam under the canoe, came up on his side, and jumped right over me."

"Of course, that tipped over the canoe, so I started swimming toward shore. But would you believe it, 'Sleigh Bells' started swimming for the lake and dragging me along."

"He was either loose the fish or drown, so I bit my 30 pound line in two and let him go. When I got to shore, Bill Stevens got out his boat and we rowed out on the lake. I started diving for my tackle box, and on the second dive I got the line in my hands and the two of us pulled 'Old Sleigh Bells' into the boat. We had to shoot him first, though."

Making Measures Laws

Sundays are not counted in the ten days that the President has to sign a bill. The Constitution says: "If any bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their adjournment prevents its return, in which case it shall not be a law."

Lehman's Governorship Race Viewed As a Test of Roosevelt's Strength

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—In the battle of Herbert H. Lehman for the Democratic candidacy for the governorship of New York may repose the answer to whether Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt will carry his home state in the presidential election.

Lieutenant-Governor Lehman was drafted out of his family's banking house into politics by Roosevelt when the latter for the first time ran for governor in 1928. Lehman now is Roosevelt's choice as the man to succeed him at the helm of the state.

Opposed to Roosevelt's open effort to install Lehman as the candidate is a group of New York state Democrats headed by the Albany county organization of Edward J. O'Connell, hostile for years to Roosevelt and a co-worker with the powerful Tammany unit of John F. Curry and his Brooklyn ally, John McCoskey. O'Connell seeks to block Lehman's efforts by nominating the Democratic mayor of Albany, John Boyd Thacher.

Vote Will Indicate Strength
Should the Roosevelt camp succeed in nominating Lehman, it would be viewed as indicative of the strength of the presidential nominee's group in the state which largely voted against the governor's selection at Chicago as the national standard bearer until the last ballot.

The story told of the stocky, serious Lehman's entrance into politics is this:

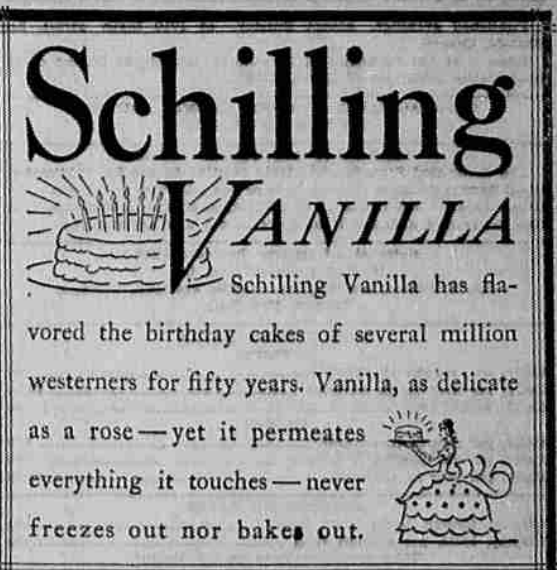

Alfred E. Smith, presidential candidate of 1928, attending the 1928 state convention, in the throes of picking a gubernatorial candidate, telephoned Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Ga. Smith insisted Roosevelt take the nomination.

"I'll call you back, Al," Roosevelt is quoted as replying.

Roosevelt then reached Lehman by telephone, asking him to serve as his running mate on the state ticket.

each gift with an agreement that its occurrence be publicly unknown.

Callers at his office tucked away in the west wing of the capitol find him readily accessible and willing to listen to the variety of pleas and complaints a public can bring to an executive. He listens much and says little; never laughs and rarely smiles. He smokes an eternal cigar with nervous energy, picking it up to puff rapidly, quickly laying it again on the edge of his desk.

NO QUARTER
"Nature in the Raw"—inspired by the savage ferocity of a death-battle between a vicious tiger and the bloodthirsty Black Panther—the terror of the Java jungles.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies ...the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?
