Indians to Take Part In Annual Round-Up Events

PENDLETON, Ore., Sept. 1 (Special)—Back in 1917 when a sturdy platoon of the Arcadia in Oregon and were pushing westward in the face of untold privations and hardships over what has since become famous as the Oregon Trail, the cry of Indians was one that terrorized these early travelers.
But today the cry of Indians that goes up annually at the Pendleton Round-Up, Sept. 8, 9 and 10, is the signal for one of the most colorful spectacles of frontier life ever attempted. Two thousand braves, arrayed in the beaded garments that are carefully preserved from one generation to another, take part in the race, riding in the straight races, relay races and performing Indian war dances.

mob that stormed the court house Monday will be submitted to the grand jury on all possible charges including criminal conspiracy and criminal syndicalism.
Tension Renewed
Developments today renewed the tension felt here Wednesday, when a crowd of farmers' holiday adherents congregated at Pierson, 30 miles southwest in Woodbury county, and sent a delegation to wait on the officials.
The authorities, after promising a probe of the shooting, declared they would countenance no more barricades on Cherokee county highways, a demand to which the "strikers" said they would accede.
However, 40 pickets were stationed on highway 31 southwest of this city, and 21 took up their posts on another road south of here.

STOCK MARKET IN CAUTIOUS GAINS TODAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—The stock market moved cautiously forward again today, with rails in the lead. Occasional flurries of selling were easily absorbed, and a number of issues closed with gains of 1 to 4 points, although the bulk of the market failed to participate appreciably.
The closing tone was firm. Turnover was only about 2,500,000 shares, the smallest in a fortnight.

LABOR EXCHANGE PROVIDES WORK FOR EIGHTY MEN

dred additional cords of wood will be supplied. The La Grande High school already has secured 300 cords of wood for winter fuel through the labor exchange.
The exchange has made a special effort, according to Mr. Bramwell, to distribute wood orders among the most needy of the unemployed. Cash has been advanced for coal and food, and monetary contributions are welcomed by the non-political and non-profit organization.

M'ADOO TO FIGHT TUBBS FOR VOTES

Tallant Tubbs, 214,157.
Samuel M. Shortridge, 201,643.
Albert P. Shuler, 196,198.
Joe Crall, 185,270.
Leo V. Youngworth, 85,987.
Democrats:
William Gibbs McAdoo, 262,478.
Justus S. Washburn, 151,419.
Robert P. Shuler, 84,025.
Maurice J. McCarthy, 19,407.
Parson M. Abbott, 11,872.
Annie Riley Hale, 7878.
The bunching of the four leading Republican candidates, each with around a fifth of a million votes, promised plenty of fuel for the political dopesters in the weeks to come, particularly with reference to the candidates' leanings on the subject of prohibition.
Tubbs is a leading advocate of elimination of the 18th amendment from the constitution.
McAdoo is running strictly on the Democratic national platform, in which repeal is a plank.
The Rev. Mr. Shuler, militant preacher, is a prohibitionist, who sought the Republican and Democratic nominations merely as side support for his prohibition party nomination. He was not opposed in his own party. He polled more total votes than any other candidate.
Crall, present congressman, also sought the dry vote. Shortridge, the first senator to face the ballot since launching of the presidential campaign, stressed his record and predicted a vote on prohibition submission in congress this December.
In San Francisco voters overwhelmingly approved a $5,500,000 bond issue for direct relief for the unemployed.

off victoriously today by defeating the British rivals, Rex and Lister Hartley, 7 and 6, in the first of four Scotch foursomes featuring the opening day's competition.
The American captain, Francis Ormset, and his youthful partner, George T. Dunlap Jr., of New York, also turned in a lopsided contest. They took the measure of John Stout, British dentist, and John Burke, Scot, oil man, 7 and 6, in another 3-hole bout.
The third straight victory for the United States forces was posted quickly by Gus Mowland, of Dallas, Texas, and Charley Seaver, of Los Angeles. They sprang a big surprise by whipping the British champion, John De Forest, and Tony Torrance, captain of the invaders 6 and 5.
