BIG PARTIES ARE BATTLING FOR CONTROL

coordinated with the presidential drive.

The Republican leader further said he believed Indiana, Illinois and Ohio should be a major battleground. In the first two states, Republican senators are up for re-election. In Ohio, the Democratic seat of Senator Bulkley is on trial this year.

Watson also told newspapermen that whether a Republican senate majority would be maintained after November was "a very close question." To the same query Hatfield replied affirmatively, adding:

Congress today is divided by the closest margin since the restless period of the war-time change from Democratic to Republican rule. Democrats hold the house by a narrow edge. Republican control of the senate has been cut to actual equality by the recent death of Senator Waterman of Colorado.

With congress so evenly divided it is regarded as a possibility in discussions of capitol observers that whoever is elected president—Hoover or Roosevelt—may have a congress under domination of the opposite party.

Both parties have lost some of their old standbys in both the house and senate in the primary contests already held. The election finds many more of the elder statesmen facing strenuous contests.

Senators Watson, Smoot of Utah and Bingham of Connecticut, have been put forward again by the Republicans of their states. Jones, of Washington, and Moses, of New Hampshire, are in line for renomination. Fletcher of Florida, a dean among the senate Democrats, is up again. Smith of South Carolina, faces a run-off contest for his seat on the Democratic side.

Asked his opinion of his own outlook for re-election, Watson said after his White House call:

"With the present trend, with our organization and morale we feel that Indiana is safe from a Republican standpoint."

Pictures just as confident have been painted by Democratic spokesmen in public statements. A real contest seems certain.

FARM BUREAU TAKES STAND

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 (AP)—Election of congressmen "friendly to agriculture" was discussed by directors of the American farm bureau federation at their quarterly meeting today.

President Edward A. O'Neal, of Alabama, told the 16 directors it would be necessary to support candidates favoring the bureau's program in the November elections. It includes, he said, "the honest dollar, equality under the tariff, and fair taxes."

The bureau, he said, never chose between presidential candidates and would not this year.

O'Neal said the federation's fight against burdensome real estate taxes had "progressed greatly" since it assembled representatives of other industries for a round table conference two years ago.

here today said Dr. Kerr declared his intention of devoting his attention to immediate problems confronting the opening of the institutions, and urged full co-operation in getting out information as to the action of the board of higher education in further reducing costs for students, and providing the best educational opportunities possible in this state.

His policy, Kerr told the deans, will be to weigh every element of the present system of higher education on its merits as though he himself had planned it, and he added that his purpose will be to give a "square deal" to every individual and institution.

Messages of congratulation increased in volume today even over yesterday's deluge as stacks of letters bearing good wishes were added to telegrams already received.

LIVELY LEGION DISCUSSIONS ARE BEING EXPECTED

army from Washington, D. C.

These delegates, Commander Stevens said, will be given every opportunity to express themselves so long as they keep within convention rules. Stevens himself, however, will not engage in such highly controversial questions, he said, but on other matters he will have some definite recommendations to make.

Many delegates are coming to Portland instructed to fight for adoption of a resolution calling for immediate cash payment of the veterans' adjusted service certificate.

Commander Stevens yesterday inspected the convention set-up and conferred with members of the national staff and the Oregon convention commission. Today he left for San Francisco where he will speak at the dedication of a war memorial. He will return here Saturday.

TO CLOSE SCHOOLS

SALEM, Sept. 8 (AP)—Schools in and near Portland are expected to be closed by their boards on Tuesday, Sept. 13, which has been designated as Amreican Legion parade day, Charles A. Howard, state superintendent of public instruction announced today. Portland schools will observe a holiday on that day, it has already been announced by the board there, he said, but the date generally will not be observed as a school holiday.

Howard outlined the department of education's policy on the matter of closing schools on next Tuesday, in view of Governor Julius L. Meier's proclamation setting aside the day as a state holiday. Howard said that outside of the schools adjacent to Portland, which perhaps will be closed by action of the boards, not enough pupils from other districts in the state would have an opportunity to attend to necessitate closing of school.

HURLEY TO ATTEND

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Patrick Hurley, secretary of war, will leave for Portland, Ore., by plane early tomorrow morning to attend the national convention of the American Legion there. He expected to leave this afternoon for Tulsa, Okla., on his way to the convention today, but postponed departure.

The secretary of war said he is attending the Portland convention as a member of the legion, not as a public official, and will not make an address there.

HOT LAKE PERSONALS

By Harriet MacDonald
(Observer Correspondent)

HOT LAKE (Special)—Mrs. W. E. Wendt, of Baker, visited her sister, Mrs. Mark Phy, on Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Shaw and small daughter, Annabelle, paid a welcome visit to friends at the sanatorium on Sunday. Both Mr. and Mrs. Shaw were former members of the sanatorium household, Mrs. Shaw as a nurse and Mr. Shaw as an employe. In fact, this place was the scene of their courtship and marriage and a visit after several years was a very pleasant event for all concerned. Mr. Shaw has resided for the last five years in Twin Falls, Idaho, where he is in the insurance business. He belongs to one of the oldest pioneer families in the valley. The funeral of his father, John Shaw, was the occasion of his recent visit.

Dr. and Mrs. O. J. Jensen, of Seattle, with their daughter, Helen, and her friend, Miss Adelaide Platt, of Caldwell, Idaho, stayed overnight at the sanatorium.

A baby son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ellis DeGraw, of Union, on Sunday at this place. Mrs. DeGraw was formerly Miss Kofford, of Union.

Mrs. Jack Brandt, of La Grande, underwent a very serious emergency operation. So far her condition is satisfactory. Her special nurse, Miss Dodge, of La Grande, and her sister, Mrs. La Frenier, formerly of La Grande but now of Troutdale, are attending her. Mr. Brandt is an uncle of Dr. Lee of the sanatorium staff.

Two Hot Lake nurses, Miss Clara Fries and Miss Maude Stocking, are taking a week's vacation at Seaside. They went by auto and will be back on Wednesday.

Mrs. E. Pollock, of Long Beach, Cal., hwo has been making a brief visit in La Grande, her former home, took time from her many social engagements to make several visits to her friends at the sanatorium. Mrs. Pollock left last Friday by auto for her home in California, promising to come again next summer.

The many friends of Frank Apling, who has been in the hospital for a few days, will be glad to know that he is steadily improving.

Mrs. Dorothea Johns and Mrs. James Quinland drove to Wallowa last Monday for a visit. They also stopped on Tuesday to visit their friend, Mrs. Margaret Huffman, at Enterprise.

H. Welser, who came in on the stage very critically ill one day last week, is being cared for and is getting along as well as can be expected at present.

Miss Marjorie Condit, desk clerk, is having a vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Condit, in La Grande. She also plans to attend the Pendleton Round-Up. Her place at the desk is filled during her absence by Jacqueline O'Brien.

Mrs. J. P. Murphy, mother of Joe Murphy, well known bridge builder of Idaho and a frequent visitor here, is in the sanatorium for a course of baths.

John McLean and Homer Marlow were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Lee for a fowl dinner before Mr. Marlow left for a visit at his home in Glenns Ferry.

The sanatorium has borrowed two of La Grande's efficient nurses temporarily during the stress caused by many vacations. Miss Dodge, who is a special nurse for Mrs. Jack Brandt, and Miss Skala, who is doing general duty work for Miss Stocking this week.

Mrs. Paul Ager, of Eugene, formerly secretary to Dr. Hall, president of the University of Oregon, is visiting her brother and wife, Dr. and Mrs. Mark Phy, at this place and her mother, Mrs. Edith Phy, at Union. This visit has been timed to coincide with that of her sister, Mrs. Marcia Spencer, of Denver, who is still in Union.

Mack Rees, of a pioneer Cove family, met with a serious accident last week. He was working with a young horse in a corral when some sort of a collision occurred that resulted in a broken leg for Mr. Rees.

Mrs. L. Sweringen, nee Miss Leona Fries, who has been in the hospital for a few days with a troublesome foot infection, returned to her home near Summerville last Thursday much improved.

C. H. Gram of Salem, is a recent arrival at the sanatorium resting and enjoying the baths.

Mrs. Claude Lockwood, of Portland, is visiting her husband the bookkeeper at the sanatorium, also the Warren Gilberts, the O'Briens at Pondosa and other friends in this vicinity.

Chats With Parents

A SUBMISSIVE CHILD
By Alice Judson Peale

A boy of nine showed certain signs of maladjustment. In school he was inattentive and lazy. At home his parents complained of his absentmindedness and of his unwillingness to get up in the morning.

His playmates were all children much younger than himself.

"Big boys are always wanting to fight," he complained. "They always want their own way. I have to be extra nice to them all the time so they won't get mad at me."

Indeed, he was always very polite to anyone who might possibly hit him or to anyone who represented authority. Thus he was most careful never to offend his parents or a teacher and to be especially agreeable to policemen.

For some strange reason (his parents had never been especially severe with him) this boy had solved his conflict with authority by being completely submissive to it.

Directly dependent upon this submission was his indulgence in day dreaming, his preference for lying in bed and his unwillingness to work. Having made his own kind of peace with authority, he evidently felt that he had paid a price which should permit him to indulge in the most infantile sort of satisfactions.

This boy's cure consisted in his gaining some insight into the unnecessary degree of his submissiveness and in encouraging him to take a more aggressive attitude.

By the time he had reached a point where he would vigorously return a playmate's blow his other symptoms, too, had almost disappeared. With the encouragement of his original aggressiveness there appeared a sudden spurt of interest in physical exercise, a new alertness to what was going on about him and the ability to work.
