

Leap Year Bride

away from him, laughing.

"Dan Phillips, you're impossible! You're getting sillier every day!"

"Oh! That's the welcome, I get. It's that my reward for dutifully putting out the milk bottles and feeding the cat."

"But I thought Dixie was taking care of Pinkie?"

"Oh, well—a mere figure of speech! Anyhow I did put out the milk bottles. Seven of 'em this morning."

"Why, Dan, you haven't been eating at home, have you?"

"No, but I drank the milk. Say, Cherry, I'm glad you're back! I tried to fix the place up a little last night but I'm afraid I didn't get rid of all the dust. How's your mother today? Come on—what do you say we have dinner and you can tell me all about everything—"

They went to Schroeders, the restaurant where they had often together. It was pleasant to be welcomed by fat, affable Charlie Schroeder and shown to their favorite table. It was pleasant to note the deference with which Dan was greeted.

After the food had been ordered Cherry talked of her mother's recovery. She asked questions about Dan's work and what he had been doing. She wanted to know everything that had happened in those days of separation that had seemed months.

"Same old grind," Dan told her carelessly. "I played cards a couple nights with the boys. Max came over one evening and—well, I guess he's about all. Looks as though there's going to be another investigation down at City Hall."

He went on to give her the newest development in local politics. Cherry tried to seem interested. Presently she said:

"You know, Dan, Mother and—well, Father, too—were both awfully nice about everything. They understand about us wanting to be married and they're not angry any more. Mother's going to send the car for me every day so I can go out and spend a little time with her. I'll want to until she's feeling strong again."

"Well, that's all right," Cherry hesitated. "I was thinking," she went on, "that it would be nice if you'd come with me some time."

"Cherry, you know I can't do that!"

"Oh, I know you couldn't during the week but on Sunday or some evening—"

Phillips' chin was set in a hard line. "I can't go Sunday or any time," he said sharply. "Your father asked me to leave his house. I can't go into it—and I won't—until he asks me to come. You can go there as often as you please but you'll have to go alone!"

"But, Dan—"

"There's no use talking about it, Cherry. That's the way I feel and I won't change my mind. If your father wants me to come he can ask me."

The girl sat silent. It was no use, when Dan took that tone she might as well keep quiet. He was as stubborn in his way as was his father. Cherry sighed. After a little she began to talk of other things. Dan's business disappeared and when they left the restaurant he was in good spirits once more.

"How about a movie?" he suggested.

"No, Dan, I think I'd rather go home. To tell the truth I'm sort of homesick to see the place again."

Dan had been right about his efforts at housecleaning. Inspired though they were by high motives, the results were questionable. He had certainly failed to "get rid of all the dust."

Cherry was at work early next morning. She wore an old dress

WEE WINDY was the first to try a great, big pear and he cried, "I have never had a pear like this. My goodness, but it's sweet."

"There are no seeds inside of it, so we can enjoy every bit. Just look, they're hanging over head and way down by our feet."

The others reached out, here and there, to grab the choicest looking pear. "I guess I've found the biggest," shouted Scouty, with a smile.

"It's hard to realize it's real. In this one pear there is a meal. I'll eat this one and try and find another, after while."

JUST then poor Duncy reached way out and suddenly began to shout, "Hey, catch me! I am slipping. Oh, I'll topple from the tree."

The others tried to hold him back, but then they heard a long limb crack. In falling, Duncy grabbed it and he slid down easily.

"Twas lucky that the ground was near. Soon Duncy shouted, that was ruined for any other purpose, rolled up her sleeves and tied a towel about her head. For an hour she wielded a broom vigorously. Then with a pail of warm, soapy water she began to wash woodwork. She had just finished scrubbing the floor

Corns All Gone

Big and Small Radox Took Them Roots and All

In England they have a sensible easy way to get rid of corns in just a few days—a joyous, invigorating foot bath every night for 3 or 4 nights—then lift out the corn—out to stay.

Ask Red Cross Drug Store or any drugstore for a package of Radox, 2 sizes 45c and 85c. Hard corns—soft corns—callouses—hard skin on heels and toes—it's all the same to Radox—you'll have new, strong, flawless feet a week from now—ask for Radox and enjoy walking—dancing.—Adv.

SCROD, AN ENGLISH SOLICITOR FROM SOUTH AFRICA, SEEKS THE ADVICE OF ATTORNEY HAWK ON HIS SEARCH FOR A CERTAIN GLADYS FINNEGAN. CAN IT BE OUR GLADYS?

WELL, MR. SCROD, YOU WERE INDEED FORTUNATE IN CALLING ME IN ON THIS CASE

THEN YOU HAVE LOCATED THIS GLADYS FINNEGAN?

NO, WE MIGHT SPEND WEEKS SEEKING THIS PARTY IF WE WORK ALONE, BUT WE HAVE OTHER METHODS HERE IN AMERICA

FIRST, GIVE ME JUST A HINT AS TO THE REASON FOR FINDING THIS WOMAN—IS SHE A FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE?

OH, NO! OH, NO! QUITE THE CONTRARY, IT WOULD BE TO HER ADVANTAGE. SO I'LL LEAVE THE REST IN YOUR HANDS

SO, IF GLADYS FINNEGAN CAN BE FOUND IT WILL BE TO HER ADVANTAGE. IT MUST BE A LEGACY. IN THAT CASE THE SMART THING TO DO IS PLAY BOTH ENDS FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE MIDDLE AND THAT'S ME!!

Biblical "Leviathan"

There can be no doubt that the Leviathan the writer of Job had in mind was a crocodile, and if the translators of the Seventeenth century could have the knowledge of the creature which we possess now doubt they would have turned the word Leviathan into crocodile whenever it occurred in Holy Writ.—Montreal Herald.

A treat which you should not miss... THE KITCHEN CHAUTAUQUA

NOW and again some particularly fine feature or program of entertainment is available to you. It may be a lecture or a play, an Uncle Tom's Cabin show or grand opera.

One of the finest of such programs—and a feature that comes for your enjoyment but once a year—is the Kitchen Chautauqua. The Kitchen Chautauqua is a cooking school—but what a cooking school.

Whether you're a bride of a month or a grandmother, you'll enjoy these sparkling programs with the age-old theme of cookery. There are many short-cuts and many roads leading to culinary success and perfection—the Kitchen Chautauqua gathers them all up and shows them to you, right before your very eyes.

Every recipe and every kitchen suggestion that has a part in this cooking school—the theme of which is "the happy kitchen"—has been tried and tested by a whole staff of practical housewives. Don't come expecting to see nothing but a batch of party dishes—they'll have their part, of course, but the main things you'll see and hear at the Kitchen Chautauqua will be the simple, easy, little workaday hints and time-savers that make cooking a real pleasure. And without these hints and time-savers, your three-meals-a-day are likely to become a drudge.

Cooking can so easily be turned into romance—the thrill of discovery and the satisfaction of seeing a thing well done. Attend the Kitchen Chautauqua—then try the frying-pan recipe on the family's grouches!
