

Ducks Run Wild to Trounce Los Angeles 17 to 6 While Hollywood Loses to Oakland

PORTLAND LEAD IN COAST RACE UP TO 3 GAMES

Four Angel Hurlers Parade to Mound in Vain Attempt to Stop the Beavers' Slugging.

Those pennant-mad Ducks went wild at Portland Tuesday night to trounce Los Angeles 17 to 6 and increase their lead to three full games over the Hollywood Stars, who lost to Oakland 3 to 2 at Los Angeles.

Four Angel hurlers were sent to the mound in a vain attempt to halt the Portland attack, but all four were hit freely, together allowing 15 hits and 14 walks. The Ducks clouted the game in the fourth inning when they scored eight runs on five singles, a double and three walks. They scored three more in the sixth and six in the eighth. Batteries: Los Angeles, Baecht, Ward, Middleford, Curtis and Campbell; Portland, Peterson and Palmisano.

Steingraf of Oakland had a slight edge over Tom Sheehan of the Stars in a pitchers duel at Los Angeles that gave the Oaks the series opener, 3 to 2. Jack Sherlock's home run was the only earned run scored off the young Oakland pitcher.

Batteries: Oakland, Steingraf and Hammond; Hollywood, Sheehan and Strange.

San Francisco's Seals found Seattle pitching to their liking Tuesday night and pounded out 19 hits to defeat the Indians, 11 to 8, in the series opener at Seattle. The Seals scored in every inning but the fourth, eighth and ninth. Seattle, scoreless for four innings, put on a drive in the fifth and sixth but failed to catch up with the visitors. Batteries: San Francisco, Davis and Brenzel; Seattle, Kallio and Cox.

Pitcher Chelini of the Missions was stung with hits but generous with walks Tuesday and Sacramento won a hard-fought pitcher's duel, 2 to 0 from the San Francisco team. Chelini allowed the Senators only five hits but granted eight bases on balls. Two of these walks were directly responsible for the scores. Batteries: Sacramento, Bryan and Wirtz; Missions, Chelini and Olsen, Ricci.

Phillies Making Brave Fight For Place Near Top

By Gayle Talbot
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Generally overlooked in the excitement attending the winning of the National League pennant by Chicago has been the surprising fight put up by Burt Shotton's Phillies for a berth in the first division.

Sixth when the curtain went down a year ago, Shotton's sluggers have pounded their way into fourth place and right now are giving the Brooklyn Dodgers the battle of their lives for third. The Dodgers pulled away a little yesterday, increasing their lead to a game and a half by downing the Phillies, 3 to 1, but with four games to go there still is a possibility third place will go to the Quaker City crew.

In Second Place in 1917

If the Phils do turn the trick, it will be the first time the club has finished that high since away back in 1917, when Pat Moran piloted them into second place. Grover Cleveland Alexander won 30 games for the Phils that year.

All four of the Phillies' remaining bouts are with the New York Giants, however, and the Giants are finishing the campaign with a flourish. Brooklyn has one game scheduled with the Giants and three against the Boston Braves.

Watson Clark, ace of the Brooklyn staff, chalked up his 19th victory in halting the Phils yesterday. He kept eight hits widely scattered after the first inning. Home runs by Joe Stripp and Glenn Wright accounted for all the Dodger runs off Holley, Rhem and Collins.

Giants Plaster Braves

The Giants, seeking sixth place, plastered the Braves, 13 to 3. Mel Ott led the assault on four Boston hurlers with four hits, including his 37th and 38th home runs, tying him with Chuck Klein for the league leadership.

St. Louis, with Tex Carleton pitching fire-hit ball, beat Cincinnati, 3 to 1, and the Cubs closed the race proper with a 5 to 2 win over Pittsburgh in the first game of a double header. The crestfallen Corsairs took the second, 5 to 0.

Monte Weaver further established himself as one of the year's greatest freshman pitchers as he set Boston down with four hits and beat the Red Sox, 4 to 1.

Cleveland completed the day's activities in the American league by beating St. Louis a couple, 5 to 2 and 11 to 2. Joe Vosmik cracked two triples, a double and three singles during the afternoon.

Steel, Fraser Score Victories In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21 (AP)—Out of the Northwest has come Southern California's two latest boxing idols. They are young Freddie Steele, of Tacoma, and Don Fraser, of Seattle, who by convincing victories over local favorites, established themselves as the new attractions.

Steele, with a long record of knockouts, lived up to his reputation by putting Cafeterino Garcia, Manila welterweight, to sleep in two rounds. Steele previously had stopped the Filipino in the Northwest, but local fans had considered it just one of those things as Garcia had shown he was no ordinary boxer when he knocked out Alfredo Gaona, the Mexican, here in four rounds.

Fraser, however, had a close call Garcia landed a terrific right to the chin at the close of the first round and the Tacoma youth was saved only by the bell. Freddie, however, came back, outslugged and outboxed the Filipino and then put him away near the close of the second round.

Fraser took two, lost one and drew in the other of a four-round bout to win the decision from young Peter Jackson, California lightweight champion and considered one of the best boxers at any weight in the state.

The Lafayette Elm

A great elm, which doubtless won the admiration of General Lafayette when he visited Kennebunk, Maine, in June, 1825, still stands in Lafayette park in the village. The tree, known as the Lafayette elm, has a limb spread of 131 feet.—Indianapolis News.

Tying the qualifying mark for the tournament, Johnny Fisher, slightly built University of Michigan junior, is pictured above in act as he captured the medal in the qualifying round of the national amateur golf championship on Baltimore, Md.'s Five Farms course. The 20-year-old intercollegiate champion achieved a 36-hole total of 142 strokes.

CUBS TAKING IT EASY FOR WEEK

Nothing to Worry Them Now Until World Series Begins Next Wednesday

By William Weekes
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, Sept. 21 (AP)—Chicago's Cubs today were "in" with little in the way of serious business to worry them until a week from today when they oppose the New York Yankees in the opening game of the world series—and they intended to get a little fun out of their baseball.

As soon as Kiki Cuyler smashed one of Steve Swetonic's curves for a triple with the bases loaded in the seventh inning of the first game of yesterday's "crucial" double header, the veteran regulars had earned a rest. They started taking it in the second game, and they don't have to go back to work until they have rested. Neither do they have to rest if they don't want to.

Manager Charlie Grimm almost went right back to work in the second game yesterday, although he long had planned to give Marvin Goudat a chance as soon as the National league title was won.

"Now that this battle is over," he said, "I could get a lot of fun out of this game. I won't rest long."

Bush to Pitch Opener

He has definitely announced only one item of his world series plans—that Guy Bush will pitch the opening game at New York. This has been common gossip ever since it looked as though the Cubs would win the championship. His other pitching selections depend on the outcome of that first game.

The clubhouse celebration after the pennant winning triumph required a little time to develop. Billy Herman was the first player to reach the dressing room. He wore an awed sort of smile. The rest of the youngsters, with the exception of Lonnie Warneke, the sensational young right-hander, matched Herman's expression. The older players just beamed—until Grimm, last to come in, appeared.

Then they yelled at Grimm, at each other, and finally demanded a speech from the manager. He obliged with one word, "Great," repeated many times. President William L. Veck, who one August 2, deposed Rogers Hornsby as manager and appointed Grimm, congratulated each man, finishing up with Grimm.

Grimm Complimented
"Thanks, manager," Veck said, pumping Grimm's hand. "But, we knew we could do it, didn't we?"
Warneke was little impressed, at least outwardly. He grinned at Cuyler and his only comment was, "Well, we figured to do it."

Not a word of mention was accorded the Yankees. The athletes all seemed to have their minds too full of their own accomplishment.

A crowd of nearly 40,000 stuck right to the finish, even though it rained all during the second game in which a makeshift Cub team was held to three hits by Heinie Meine and shut out, 5 to 0. Billy Herman started at second base, just to preserve his record of starting every game since he joined the club in

Drive Launched Aug. 11
The Cub victory march started Aug. 11 when Pittsburgh was beaten, 5 to 2, in ten innings at Pittsburgh. The new champions never relinquished the leadership, and during their drive, set a major league season record of 14 straight victories, most of them hair-raisers at Wrigley Field.

Grimm became the first manager in modern baseball to take charge of a club during the season, and lead it on to a championship, as the Cubs won their seventh National league title.

PRESENTING SOME OF THE COUGAR MATERIAL

Some of the material Coach Kane Hollingbery (1) is building into the 1932 model Washington State College football team. (2) Mentor Dahlen, quarterback; (3) Stan Colburn, fullback; (4) Dan Dech, tackle; (5) Mike Davis, halfback; (6) Frank Walluts, tackle; (7) Frank Ingram, center; (8) George Sander, halfback; (9) Walter Camp, tackle; (10) Clem Senn, guard.

By NEA Service

PULLMAN, Wash., Sept. 21—These Cougars don't look so bad right now. On paper and in the flesh, the line out to make the Washington State College team look considerably better than Coach Kane Hollingbery's material last year.

To begin with, there are 25 lettermen back — some for every place. And the 1931 freshmen have contributed a lot of good fighting material. Last year W. S. C. finished behind the Trojans, California and Oregon. This year they expect to be higher.

The Cougar backfield has speed, power and versatile attack in abundance. Except for Mel Hein — out through sickness — there are six experienced ends besides the fresh. But in the middle of the line — well, there's where graduation hit the Cougars. Edwards, Hurley and Parodi, guards for any man's team, are gone. So is Center Joe Hanson. So spring practice and early work here has been toward strengthening the line.

Klawitter, Walluts, Stagnaro, Ron Kelley, John Byers and Frank Willard — lettermen ends — are back, with several good sophs opposing them. At tackles, Walter Camp is George Bean, fullback, have been played at tackle this season. Dan Dech, up from the freshmen, will also give the boys a run.

For the guard post, two wearables — Clem Senn, two years an alternate, and Frank Stojak, a sophomore — look like starters, and good fighting men, too. Fred Garrett, out last year, Harold Companion and Virgil Odum, who played a little in 1931, and Henry Haydue are other guard possibilities.

Frank Ingram, last year's alternate, and lanky Bob Feltschamber, a freshman, are center boys.

But just look back of the line — and you know why the Cougar campus howls in glee. Take the matter of halfbacks for instance:

George Sander, an outstanding triple threat: Mike Davis, a mean ball carrier; and Howard Moses, who punts effectively, are all back from last year. Phil Sgobbo, a Sanders alternate last year, Al Shambra, an acceptable veteran, and George Dover and Doric, ex-frosh, make a strong diversified bunch of halves.

Mentor Dahlen, quarterback, is another first-starter still available, back, and Norm Taylor, guard, and Erickson and Richards, who saw some service last year, are back. Available as quarters also are Ollie Arbelbide, a transfer from a California junior college, who has speed and ability, and Jim Ayce, who generated the 1931 freshmen.

Stan Colburn, 190 - pounder, who made marvelous improvement in 1931, his sophomore year, is out for fullback again, with real competition. For instance, there's John Eubank, the place kicker par excellence, and Henry Bendole, who did great work as an alternate.

And also starting — either in the line or as a fullback — is George Theodoratus, the 245-pound Greek shotputter. He had the power of an army tank as a freshman — making progress almost single handed. When he hits the line from punt formation, something has to give, and usually, this is the opposing line, for two to five yards. Though a whale on attack, Theodoratus has much to learn of defense finesse. Hollingbery wants to use him at full, but if he feels the Greek needs a year of experience first, you'll see Theodoratus at a tackle or guard job.
