URGE HOOVER TO CAMPAIGN IN THE WEST (Continued From Page One)

urged the president to make more speeches. At the final stop last night in Johnston, Penn., a man in the crowd shouted: "We heard you last night at Des Moines. Give us three more like that and it'll all be over." "Do you want some more?" the president asked.

"Yes," a chorus of voice replied. With the train pulling out the president did not commit himself.

Some of those who are urging the president to make a transcontinental tour are suggesting that he swing through the west to California in time to vote there election day, as he did four years ago.

Others are suggesting that he make another trip through the middle west. Johnston was the last of more than a dozen towns and cities stretching from Chicago past Pittsburgh in which President and Mrs. Hoover made rear platform appearances to great crowds ranging, according to police estimates, up to 15,000.

In one of the first of these appearances, at Ft. Wayne, Ind., the president delivered a prepared speech asserting that "wide-spread personal misrepresentations," which he said had been promulgated through the farm belt, were "deliberate, intolerable falsehoods."

The president and his wife made other appearances at Chicago, Van Wert, Ind., Lima, Upper Sandusky, Bucyrus, Crestline, Mansfield, Louisville, Shreve, Wooster, Massillon, Canton and Alliance, Ohio; Sewickley, Pittsburgh and Greensburg, Penn.

At most of the stops, the president made no formal speeches but told the cheering crowds, "Your own welcome is the best speech that can be made."

At Canton, the president said: "This is the home of the beloved William McKinley. It was just 36 years ago that President McKinley fought the same battles with us fighting today, and he fought under less stress and duress than we are today."

"Canton gave President McKinley its full measure of support, and I am greatly encouraged by the warmth of your welcome today."

The president shook hands with another candidate for president, Jacob S. Coxy, running on the Farmer-Labor ticket at Massillon, where the famous reader of Coxy's army is now mayor.

WRONG LICENSE BRINGS FINE SALEM, Oct. 6 (AP)—E. M. Kellough pleaded guilty here yesterday to operating an Oregon car with a Washington license and was fined $20. Hart was brought into court by state police on a similar charge to Kellough, but not guilty and an early date for his trial was set.

stituted to collect the amount of the bill, because the articles purchased were not "necessaries."

But further than that, he sets forth that something should be done to discourage men permitting women to run large bills in the belief that the husbands have the money and can pay them. His fight, he states, is against men not getting their wives to buy goods they do not need.

Mr. Kelland wants to know by what line of reasoning a firm could believe that his financial condition at any time would justify a characterization of hose at $6.50 a pair, dresses at $225 and $250, periphery at $25 and a bath coat at $425 "as necessities for my wife."

Mrs. Kelland, supporting her husband, stated that the purchases were made with the understanding that she was to be billed, and not her husband.

An effort by Hattie Carnegie, Inc., to have summary judgment given against Kelland was denied by the court yesterday, and the case was set for later trial.

terday long enough to see newspaper men and tell them he had not decided whether he would ask Alfred E. Smith to speak in his behalf in his campaign for the presidency.

"Have you asked 'Al' Smith to make any speeches?" he was asked.

"We haven't considered that yet," said Roosevelt.

Roosevelt's friends, recalling the hearty handclasp he and Smith exchanged at the Democratic state convention Tuesday, cheerfully stated they thought the Chicago national convention that found them on opposite sides of the political fence, waited to learn whether he would take the initiative in seeking Smith's active support.

To Visit South, New England The Democratic nominee in considering his plans for the remainder of the campaign, is thinking of leaving Oct. 17 for a swing through Baltimore and Atlanta to St. Louis, to be followed up by a final motor trip to New England.

On the first trip the governor also may visit Raleigh, N. C., Nashville, Louisville and Indianapolis, returning to Albany about Oct. 27. He also contemplates a visit to Warm Springs, Ga.

The governor had no comment yesterday on the convention, which saw his victory over the candy opposed to Lehman for governor, but he smiled and appeared in a happy mood.

John F. Curry, Thummay leader, and John H. McCree, Brooklyn Democratic leader, returned to New York after the convention without seeing Mr. Roosevelt. They held out for many hours during the convention before the Smith-Roosevelt alliance in behalf of Lieutenant Governor Lehman finally prevailed.

MURDER TRIAL BEGINS OREGON CITY, Oct. 6 (AP)—The trial of Walter W. Johnson of Clackamas, charged with murder, opened in circuit court here today. Johnson is accused of having beaten to death Natalie Varesio, a farmer's wife, who refused to give him wine. Varesio died Sept. 11.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE WITHOUT CALOMEL And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, laxative candy or other pills and expect them to make you suddenly "wake up" in the morning.

For they can't do it. They only make the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two ounces of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does not digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a bad, flat, sour and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in pimples. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes three good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two ounces of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of imitations. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

COACH PAUL J. SCHISLER following Oregon State's humbling at the hands of the Stanford football team.

"The turning of the team seated beside him, Dolan said: "Some of you fellows know you haven't played fair with the students, with yourselves, with your friends and your coach who has been working night and day for you."

He then reported that the team members had had a private meeting of their own at which a new spirit of determination and loyalty was born.

Barometer Comments The Daily Barometer, student newspaper, which astonished the campus two days ago by taking note of the fact that Schisler, said in an editorial today "It took a bitter pill to cure us of what we looked like certain death."

"But that pill proved to be just what was needed and that goes for the students and the team. The Barometer is not back-tracking from what appeared on the sports page last Tuesday. On the contrary the editor believes that that explosion played an important part in this sudden recovery."

BAROMETER A DAILY AGAIN CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 6 (AP)—The return of the Barometer, Oregon State college student newspaper, to a regular basis was announced in today's issue, following a week during which it appeared only every other day.

The return to the former status began two years ago, was made possible through a financial arrangement effected by the finance committee of the student-faculty board of control.

Much objection to the curtailment had been heard on the campus.

In the event the defense plea is sustained, the youth will be sent to a state institution for the criminally insane instead of to San Quentin prison. Both defense and prosecution are expected to call several alibis to testify their observations of the set fateful "mode" youth.
