

Butterfat And Butter Prices Advance Today

PORTLAND, Oct. 6 (AP)—Liberally decreased receipts of butter at California points has aided the situation somewhat but there still is a tone of uncertainty in the trade here despite the latest advance of 1c in extras and 1/2c in prime first on the produce exchange. That there should be a differential between extra and standard grades is the normal feeling in the trade therefore the moving up of the top score and the allowing of the second score to remain unchanged was not unexpected, although out of line with conditions elsewhere.

The change in butterfat prices was in line with the extra grade rise. Trading in the egg market continues to reflect a generally strong tone locally and along the Pacific slope with little change in prices at any point. Receipts continue to decrease.

Readiness is showing in the market for live chickens with more or less continued pressure against the light Leghorn sorts. These however, recently were advanced in California markets.

Blowiness of demand is continued in the market for turkeys. The market has a nominal top of 30 for both old hens and for young toms but trading is showing a spread as low as 18c lb. Immature stock is not wanted at all, under more or less pressure here with general top sales not above 2 1/2 @ 3 lb. While the trade in hogs is also easier around a general top of 3 1/2 @ 6c lb.

There remains a very good call for country killed lambs along the wholesale way. Prices are steady to firm and fractionally higher in spots.

Lower prices are being generally named for potatoes as a result of the weakness created by Yakima which is again flooding consuming markets along the coast with its crop. Not enough local stock in sight to establish prices.

Fractional price cuts are again showing for fresh halibut. Chicken is selling as low as 7c with medium 11c top. Salmon is unchanged.

Notes of wholesale trading:

Crabs continue scarce with few preventing operations off the coast.

There is a slowly improving demand for oysters. The new Yaquina blue-points are making a hit with sales mostly 3c each. These are eastern transplants.

Onion growers are holding tighter with very little selling at 35c sacks and 4c lb.

Damage reports called a 3c advance in Concord grapes.

Ripe bananas are being sold down to 3 1/2c lb.

STOCK MARKET REGAINS POISE BUT NO RALLY

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—The stock market regained its poise today, after yesterday's severe setback, but in the face of a sag in the wheat market, the list was unable to rally. Net changes at the finish were mostly fractional, with the tone steady. Turnover approximated 2,000,000 shares.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

THE NAME "COMET" comes from the Greek, meaning "hair." Contrary to popular belief, all comets do not have hair, or tails, and more surprising, perhaps, is the fact that the tailless variety is in the majority. The reason that many persons immediately associate the long, tail-like appendage with the comet is because that type of comet is the only kind visible to the naked eye. The more common tailless phenomenon can be seen only through a telescope.

New Daves Bank Is Opened Today In Chicago Area

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—The City National Bank and Trust company, with Gen. Charles G. Dawes as chairman of the board, opened for business today, taking over the deposit liabilities and banking business of the Central Republic Bank and Trust company.

The Central Republic will continue to operate its trust and real estate departments and its investment activities.

The new bank, sharing the same quarters with the Central Republic although an entirely separate corporate entity, has $4,000,000 paid in capital and $1,000,000 surplus.

Apples Move East From Spokane Area

SPokane, Wash., Oct. 6 (AP)—Figures from the operating department of the Great Northern railway in Spokane indicate that the movement of Washington apples to the east is getting under way in fine shape, with the total movement to date just a little below that of a corresponding date last year.

Out of the Wenatchee district the road is hauling three and four apple trains a day and in addition has cars of apples on every through freight carrying a mixed tonnage.

Lumber Business Continues To Gain

PORTLAND, Oct. 6 (AP)—A consistent increase in the volume of new business placed in the western pine territory was reported by the Western Pine association today for the past six-week period.

"Whether the encouraging increase in lumber buying will be sustained is of course uncertain," the association commented.

BOSTON WOOL

BOSTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Only a very moderate volume of wool is moving, but prices are mostly steady today. Most inquiries are for small quantities although an occasional mill is steadily buying a moderate volume. Some grades show a strengthening tendency when a buyer comes into the market for more than a small quantity. Strictly combining 48-50's territory wool has recently brought 88-92 second bids.

Crowd Gathers For Advertised Auto Accident

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The advance notices said there'd be an accident and a goodly crowd was on hand.

Traffic Policeman H. P. Skinner drove on way down the street in his auto at 20 miles an hour. From the opposite direction at the same speed came Traffic Policeman H. B. Mohler.

In the interests of safety, they were to crash and crash hard. Delegates to the national safety congress lined the street, ready to gasp at this demonstration arranged for their benefit.

A spectator already picked out since this was a put-up job—stood by to notify police of the accident in the regular way. The police were all set to rush in, investigate and remove the debris and injured.

Policeman Skinner and Policeman Mohler pulled their caps down firmly, took tighter grips on the steering wheels and drove on steadily toward each other in midstreet. One was in a taxicab—just to make things more realistic—the other in a sedan.

An expectant gasp arose but as quickly died.

There was a feather bump and the soft whistle of escaping air as the two cars swerved and came peacefully to a standstill, side by side.

Casualties were one flat tire and a duffel bag. There was no explanation of why the machines did not smack headlong as scheduled, but the police investigated as planned in their most efficient manner, and turned in the right kind of report.

Enforcing Ban On Automobiles Now At Eugene Campus

EUGENE, Oct. 6 (AP)—Strict enforcement of the regulation against student automobiles has been started on the University of Oregon campus. Henceforth patrolling by an enforcement officer will be carried on. This was announced by Carleton B. Spencer, chairman of the local enforcement committee.

The committee denied permits for students to use their cars for extra-curricular activities. The cases were those of Robert Hall, president of Associated Students, and Ted Robb, manager of the football team.

Spencer said in stating his opinion "under the rules promulgated by the state board, no provision was made for the granting of exemptions to students for participating in extra-curricular activities."

A total of 170 requests to use cars have been filed by students. The Oregon Enquirer, student daily, in a front-page editorial Tuesday, strongly recommended strict enforcement of the rule, although it did not commit itself as favoring or opposing the regulation.

Chats With Parents

A READING DISABILITY By Alice Judson Peale

A brilliant young high school student suddenly began to have difficulty in reading the French which is a necessary part of his preparation for college.

Until two years ago he had been an excellent student in this subject as in others. Now he seemed unable to make sense of simple French passages and halted and stumbled and mispronounced when called upon to read aloud.

The school psychologist to whom he was sent asked him to try to recall the first occasion on which this difficulty had arisen and to tell her whatever came to mind.

Recalling the last brought forth the words, "Stairs-Atis." And then it immediately occurred to him that in the attic at home there were stored away in boxes certain books which he always had been forbidden to read. These were for the most part French novels.

Just about two years ago he stole up to the attic and read for a whole afternoon. Thereafter he had felt deeply ashamed and guilty and lived for a while in extreme fear that his parents would find out what he had done.

It required but little pointing out to show the boy that his subsequent inability to read French at school was due to the interference of his guilty feelings whenever he was required to look at French words. He was able to see, too, that this inability was serving unconsciously as a self-inflicted punishment for his wrong doing.

The boy was also able to realize that the punishment which he had meted out to himself was out of all proportion to the wrong he had done. This new understanding of his school difficulty enabled him at once to overcome it and to master his French lessons in the future as effectively as all others.

Health

SHELL SHOCK

Medical and more particularly psychiatric experiences during the war have given us the commonly used but frequently misunderstood term of shell shock.

Though called shell shock, this condition need not necessarily be the result of the patient's experience of meeting them, shell shock is in a sense evidence of a breakdown in that the individual is unable to meet his social demands.

In civil life we find what might properly be termed as shell shock among those who periodically break down at work.

Such patients complain of an inability to master even simple tasks, of excessive weakness and of fatigue, of inability to concentrate, of ill temper and a ready tendency to quarrel with anybody and particularly with those in command.

Their hands tremble and lips tremble and they have attacks of perspiration, their hands are clammy and moist. They are conscious of their heart beat, which is bound to be excessively rapid.

They may be obsessed by peculiar fears of crowds, traffic, bright light or darkness.

The treatment of such patients frequently taxes the resources and patience of the physician, friends and family.

That these sufferers are genuinely sick cannot be doubted. What they commonly require is supporting psychological treatment, at times improvement in the health habits and personal hygiene, and most commonly, assistance in making essential occupational and emotional readjustments.

CONVICT ON THE STAND IN TRIAL

Course: how long he was going to be "Jersey in there."

"He said 'Until Christmas—if he ain't dead!'"

The man talking to Courson said, "It won't be long now."

Roberts quoted Courson as threatening to come back and chain up the youth's arms if he "didn't behave."

"Several of us went to the bot before we went to the mess hall and I spoke to Jersey," said the preacher.

"Later, when he came out of the mess hall a trusty looked in the bot and he said Courson."

"Captain, it's done," Roberts quoted the trusty as saying. When Maudslott was taken out, he was dead.

RIVERSIDE POWER GRIP Tires for Mud & Snow

- "I could plow through mud eight inches deep with these tires on the rear wheels (without chains).
- "I could buck snow drifts 24 inches deep (new snow) with them.
- "I bucked eight inches of snow up a 25 per cent grade for one half mile, without chains.
- "By ordering a second set for the front wheels I had perfect control of car in snow.
- "Stop in less distance than same make of car with chains, in snow or elsewhere.
- "Able to straddle ruts in muddy slick roads, where others couldn't.
- "Saving on gas by not having to drag chains around, averaged one gallon a day.
- "On icy spots where chains had to be used, tires never turned inside chains like ordinary tires, thereby eliminating chain tighteners.
- "Chains necessary with these tires only where road is glare of ice or ruts are filled with ice on grades that I had to go up.
- "Absolutely skid-proof on dry pavement.
- "Could drive 25 per cent faster on wet pavement than with ordinary new tires.
- "Knobs wear as well as an ordinary treaded tire. I have plenty of rocks and icy frozen ruts to give them the supreme test, too."
