

Mountaineers To Play Columbia University in Portland Thursday Night

NORMAL SCHOOL TO MAKE DEBUT IN ROSE CITY

E. O. N. to Meet Gene Murphy's Eleven, Strong Exponent of the Notre Dame Style.

Still smarting from a 22 to 6 defeat last Friday night at Caldwell, the Mountaineer football team entered a short week of practice this afternoon in preparation for a night game at Portland next Thursday night against the Irish of Columbia University.

Although not in the Northwest conference, Columbia is knocking at the door and playing conference opponents. Pacific university, one of the strongest of the conference teams, was held to a 13 to 12 tie earlier this season.

It will be the second game for the Normal school under the floodlights, and nervousness displayed in the Idaho encounter should be a thing of the past, grid fans agree.

Only one man was injured in the Idaho game, Lassen, fullback, and he probably will play in Portland.

Following the game in the Rose City, the first there for the Mountaineers, the Normal school aggregation will have completed its early season schedule and will swing into normal school competition, with contests lined against Ashland, Lewiston and Albion, all to be played in La Grande.

Fans who saw the team play in Caldwell hail it as Bob Quinn's best team since the first year of the school, when the Mountaineers humbled Monmouth to win the state championship.

SECOND TEST FOR COLUMBIA

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 10 (Special)—The Eastern Oregon Normal Teachers, from La Grande, will test the mettle of Gene Murphy's gallant Irishmen in a football clash at Mill-nomah stadium Thursday night. Murphy's happy clan tied Pacific, 12 to 12, in one of the best played games of the fall at the stadium.

That was the only time the Columbia outfit has met competition this fall. The Teachers will be the second real test. Murphy, believer in the Notre Dame system of quick shift and aerial fireworks, has the greatest team in his seven seasons at Columbia. He has Merle Nehl, triple-threat halfback, to lead the outstanding eleven.

Bob Quinn, ex-Oregon State college halfback, is coach at Eastern Oregon Normal, and his system is modeled after Pop Warner's double and triple reverses with spinners.

The Warner system is made to order for Murphy's machine. Eldon Jenne, Pacific coach, has about the best Warner-coached team in the northwest and one of the outsize high schools. Yet the Irish forward-passed for two touchdowns and a tie after the Badgers had pounded to two first-half scores.

There is not an injury on the Columbia lineup, the squad taking practice easy last week. Outstanding freshmen reserves include Warren Kooman, Thornton Coffee, Pat Carr, George Albin, Terrence Harding, Frank Heneges and Bill Anderson. They may be seen against the Teachers.

WALLA WALLA DOWNS BUCKS SATURDAY 38-6

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Oct. 10 (Special)—Greater experience, more valuable reserves, and a drive that would not be denied at most stages of the game, gave Wa-Hi a comparatively easy 38-6 victory over the green Pendleton aggregation on Stadium field Saturday afternoon.

Six touchdowns—three of them in the first half, and the other three in second half—with a conversion each half, gave the Blue Devils their 38 points. Pendleton gained its lone tally when the winners had completed their six counters.

Deprived twice before in the game of possible scoring chances through lack of an offensive that could do things to the stout defense that Walla Walla offered, the Bucks arose to an intercepted pass into a touchdown with just a few minutes of play left.

Bill "Chief" Metz, whose broad shoulders had just a few seconds before carried him across the Pendleton goal line for the second time, was leading another goalward assault when kick-off when the attempted pass was intercepted by Tuter on Walla Walla's 15. Creswell slipped through center to the five, added four more and Gilchrist then plunged over on his second attempt.

The touchdown was some measure of consolation for the Buckaroos had been treated to a decided humbling by the force and drive of the Wa-Hi offense, which sparked along at a good clip without the services of Alex Lietz, mainstay of the backfield.

Bobbing Bobby Guenther, a half-pint quarterback, took Diets's place in the backfield and went through the game with a dash and fire that was one of the day's features. His returning of punts added to the Wa-Hi advantage, and his generally accurate passing helped mount the score. Metz shared offensive honors with him by virtue of his continued drive in line plunging.

Mele Over First Straight football earned the Blue Devils four of their touchdowns. Mele went over for the first on the initial drive of the game from kick-off after he and Metz had alternated in carrying the ball down the field. Mele added the point by going off tackle.

Ray Oen of Minnesota is expected to be the lightest center in the Big Ten this fall. He weighs only 164 pounds.

BIG GAMES LOOM NEXT SATURDAY

Sectional Championship Hopes at Stake Along the Football Front.

By Herbert W. Barker (Associated Press Sports Writer) NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—Sectional championship hopes will be at stake all along the football line next Saturday in the season's most brilliant array of important games.

North and south, east and west, highly touted elevens are paired off in a series of contests that may go far toward determining the eventual sectional champion.

In the east, the Pittsburgh Panthers and Army, both of whom play schedules entitling them to consideration in national ratings, clash at West Point in a battle of unbeaten elevens. Pitt walloped the Cadets, 20-6, last year, and apparently has all kinds of power again. But if the Panthers, defensively, are weaker than a year ago, Army's speedy attack quickly should discover it.

Michigan to Meet Ohio State In the Big Ten, the Michigan Wolverines, triumphant over Northwestern, tackle their traditional rivals, the Buckeyes of Ohio State, and Purdue, another highly-rated contender, meets Dr. Clarence Spears' Wisconsin Badgers, conference "dark horses."

The elimination of at least two of the contenders for the Southern conference title seems certain with the duels involving Tulane and Vanderbilt, and Alabama and Tennessee, all unbeaten thus far. Despite its close call against Georgia Saturday, Tulane, defending champion, will be favored over Vanderbilt, but the Tennessee-Alabama battle looks like a toss-up.

California and Washington State will meet in the biggest game of the Pacific Coast conference schedule and the battle of Texas Christian and Texas A. and M. heads the south-west conference slate.

There are at least a score more leading frays with perhaps not quite so important or direct a bearing on the sectional championship races. In the east, Penn and Dartmouth tangle in one duel of undefeated teams, and so do New York university and Georgetown, and Brown and Yale, although the Elis have been tied since Princeton, on the basis of its fine showing against Columbia, promises to give Cornell all kinds of trouble.

Intersectional Games Listed In the way of intersectional competition, there are such contests as those involving Columbia and Virginia, Navy and Ohio university, Holy Cross and Detroit and Southern Methodist and Syracuse, Fordham and Colgate, Carnegie Tech and Washington & Jefferson should put up close battles.

Northwestern and Illinois, Indiana and Iowa, round out the Big Ten program with Minnesota tackling Nebraska, Big Six champion, and Notre Dame expecting little more than a workout against Drake.

Iowa State and Kansas will clash in one Big Six match and Kansas State and Missouri in another, while Oklahoma, victor over Kansas last week, faces the Texas Langhorns who handed Missouri a humiliating 65-0 defeat last Saturday.

Although the Tulane-Vanderbilt and Tennessee-Alabama games overshadow the rest of the Southern conference schedule there will be interesting meetings between Auburn and Georgia Tech, Georgia and North Carolina, Duke and Maryland, and Louisiana State and Mississippi State. Kentucky looks much too strong for Washington & Lee.

Utah and Brigham Young meet in the big game of the Rocky Mountain conference schedule. Saturday scores include: Tulane 34, Georgia 25. Auburn 18, Duke 7. Kentucky 12, Georgia Tech 6. Virginia Poly 23, Maryland 0. Purdue 7, Minnesota 0. Michigan 15, Northwestern 6. Notre Dame 73, Haskell 0. Columbia 20, Princeton 7. Fordham 30, Bucknell 0. Southern Cal. 10, Oregon State 0. Texas 65, Missouri 0. Wisconsin 34, Iowa 0. Chicago 7, Yale 7. Oklahoma 12, Kansas 6. Nebraska 12, Iowa State 6. Rich 13, Southern Methodist 0. Texas Christian 34, Arkansas 12. Brown 13, Springfield 6. New York U. 21, Rutgers 0. Stanford 14, Santa Clara 0. Oregon 0, Washington 0. Gonzaga 20, Idaho 7. California 12, St. Mary's 12.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—Stanislaus Zbyszko, three times wrestling champion of the world, is named in a $100,000 breach of promise action filed in supreme court.

Miss Gladys Buzek, music teacher of Winnipeg, Canada, said she spent the better part of three years preparing a trousseau only to learn the matman was already married. Zbyszko made a general denial.

Questioned today by an Observer reporter, Coach Ira Woodie had little to say. He did say this: "Last year we had a blocking team. This year we look like a ladies' seminary!" He indicated also that a complete reorganization of the squad appears likely as the Enterprise game approaches. One thing is certain, he said, a fighting squad will be sent on the field Saturday if it is humanly possible.

Right now it looks as if several first team men will be sitting on the bench when the game starts next Saturday, and they probably will remain there until the spirit of lethargy vanishes.

Bears Will Open Conference Race Against W. S. C.

By Russell J. Newland (Associated Press Sports Writer) SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10 (AP)—Last of the Pacific Coast conference elevens to swing into action, California's Bears will make their opening bid in the championship race next Saturday against a Washington State Cougar squad that already has tasted one defeat.

In the pre-season sizeup, California was figured as an outstanding challenger for conference laurels and the ups and downs of Coach Bill Ingram's eleven thus far have not changed the status much one way or another.

Two weeks ago the Bears were defeated by Santa Clara, 12-0, but last Saturday they surprised 45,000 fans holding the formidable St. Mary's Gaels to a 12-12 tie.

Bears Developing Against St. Mary's, the Bears developed into a charging, fighting aggregation that saw and seized every opportunity, and hopes of their followers rose accordingly. Washington State's one conference encounter to date resulted in a 20-0 defeat by Southern California. Last Saturday the Cougars swamped Willamette, 30 to 0.

Other conference contests next weekend will pit Oregon against the University of California at Los Angeles Bruins and Montana against Idaho.

Oregon, favored team in the north until last Saturday, caught a Tartar in Washington and came out of the game with a scoreless tie after being outplayed by the Huskies. U. C. L. A. has one conference win to its credit, a 6-0 setback of Idaho.

Idaho Trounced Idaho took a 20-7 trouncing from Gonzaga last weekend in a non-conference engagement while on the same day its forthcoming opponent, Montana, took the measure of Carroll college, 14-6. Montana's conference activity thus far includes a 26-13 defeat by Washington.

Southern California's Trojans, seeking to retain their conference title, met Stanford, now definitely established as the team to beat for the crown, will meet non-conference opposition.

The Trojans won their second conference tilt last Saturday with a 10-0 triumph over Oregon State, a team Stanford beat 27-0 a week ago. Stanford's weekend appearance resulted in a 14-0 win over Santa Clara, conqueror of California but 7-0 victim of Oregon.

Party of Football Stars and Airmen Supporting Hoover

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—A party of football stars and aviators will fly to Washington today to meet President Hoover and pledge him their support.

Albie Booth, the former Yale player, who is to take the stump for the Republican party, issued a statement last night on the eve of departure. "As a representative of vast crowds of college men and particularly those casting their votes this year, I am volunteering my services to play ball for the greatest quarterback the country has ever had," Booth said.

Other football players who will make the trip are "Red" Cagle of the Army, "Shipreck" Kelly of Kentucky, and Eddie Mays of Harvard. Clyde Pangborn, round-the-world flier, is to be one of the pilots.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould (Associated Press Sports Editor)

Picking the turf champions for 1932 is more or less of a matter of individual opinion, but this column selects Equipoise, holder of the competitive record for one mile; Faireno, best of a fair lot of three-year-olds; Top Flight, unbeaten by members of the filly brigade, and Ladyman, leading money winning two-year-old, with Caterwaul a strong contender.

Equipose, the big train from C. V. Whitney's barns, stands out as the champion of the handicap division. Defeated only twice in 11 starts, the long striding son of Pennant, has staged a remarkable comeback after turning up with a blind quarter-crack on the eve of the 1931 Kentucky Derby.

Before the handicappers defeated him with too much weight in the Arlington Park Handicap, the Whitney star reeled off a mile in 1:34 2-5 for a new world's record.

Selecting a three-year-old champion from a division wrecked by early season injuries is solely a matter of personal opinion. E. R. Bradley's Burgoo King won the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, then went wrong. Samuel Riddle's Boatman came along to take the Wilbers and Morton L. Schwartz's Gusto won the American Derby and rich Arlington Classic.

FAIRENO CONSISTENT

In choosing Faireno, this column backs a horse from William Woodward's stable which stood training from the running of the Wood Memorial to end of the Belmont meet.

Although second to Gusto on the money winning list, Faireno defeated the Schwartz colt, a grandson of Man of War, in the Belmont Stakes, again in the Dwyer and took his measure for the last time in the Lawrence Realization.

In between Faireno won the Hawthorne Handicap, the Saratoga Handicap and finished second in the Hawthorne Gold Cup, a race in which Gusto was far to the rear.

If any of the present crop of thoroughbreds stand out above their division, it is Top Flight, the trim filly from young Whitney's stable which went through 1931 without tasting defeat.

Although unable to show her heels to colts of her age, the daughter of Dis Doinc has done everything asked of her in races limited to fillies of her age. She probably has run her last race of the year, but in two years she has won nearly $300,000—a new mark for fillies and mares.

LADYSMAN RIGHT AT SEA

At Saratoga, Ladyman, a son of Popsy sporting W. R. Coe's silks, appeared unbeatable, losing only one race and that to Happy Gal, the bet of the two-year-old fillies. He piled up earnings of $101,135. Then came the $100,000 Belmont Futurity—a race in which Kerry Patch, quoted at 30 to 1, led the highly regarded Coe colt home.

Although defeated, if Ladyman had been retired at the end of the Belmont season he would have been declared the juvenile champion without much argument. But his owner chose to start him in the Eastern Shore Handicap at Havre de Grace, Md.

Caterwaul, a Whitney flash which dominated the picture early in the season, led the parade home with Ladyman and Kerry Patch far behind. It probably will take the $40,000 Pimlico Futurity to decide the issue, but we still have a liking for the Coe representative.

He wants his cigarettes mild and that's why he picks Chesterfields.

Mildness doesn't mean a smoke that's weak or flat or insipid or anything like that. In fact it's just the reverse. Two-fisted fellows as well as anyone else—men and women—want a cigarette that's mild... one that satisfies—and that's Chesterfield.

We believe that every smoker is looking for a cigarette without any "bite" or bitterness, and a cigarette that has a pleasing taste—and that's Chesterfield.
