In Beaver Creek—
Miss Veta Dougherty and Miss Marie Turner, of La Grande, were recent visitors at the home of Miss Dougherty's parents in Beaver Creek. Both young women attend the Eastern Oregon Normal school.

Two Win Prizes—
Two La Grande women won prizes in a national naming contest held by the Bulova Watch company for one of its new models. Mrs. W. G. Kelley received $5 and Mrs. Nora Burns $2.

Return—
Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Ballard returned yesterday from Enterprise where they visited Mr. Ballard's mother, Mrs. A. B. Ballard, who is seriously ill. She has been confined to her bed for several months.

Assembly at E. O. N.—
At the weekly assembly of the Eastern Oregon Normal school yesterday morning, President H. E. Inlow discussed the "Sixth Ingredient in Education" which he defined as the balanced direction of emotional life. A brief faculty prologue was given by John M. Miller, of the education department, stressing the importance of knowing all the facts when important decisions are to be made. Charming vocal numbers were given by Mrs. Leal Russell of La Grande including "Twilight" by Glen, "Who Knows" by Ball, and "On the Shore" by Neidlinger. Miss Jennie Peterson played the accompaniments.

Elks Plan Program—
In addition to initiation tomorrow evening the Elks will enjoy a program furnished by Raymond O. Williams, Claude L. Berry, Norman Deslilet and Rube Zweifel, at 8 o'clock at the Elks temple. Exalted Ruler A. J. Kitchen announces. Each of the entertainers is well known for his histrionic ability and a large audience is anticipated at the meeting.

From The Branch—
Among those who have returned to their homes after visiting in La Grande and attending the airport dedication on Sunday are Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Ratcliff and family and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Rinker, of Enterprise; and Mrs. Edgar Marvin, her daughter, Mrs. John Bratton, and granddaughters, Agatha and Una Bratton, Mrs. Charles Hartridge and Mrs. Otto Prick, of Wallowa.

Returns—
Miss Elaine Ballard, who is attending the Eastern Oregon Normal school, returned early this week from Enterprise where she visited relatives during the weekend and attended the Wallowa fair. Miss Ballard makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Ballard in this city.

PAUL CALLICOTTE RETRACES STEPS IN SAN FRANCISCO

bag," he said. "A few feet away the man nudged me and pointed to a spot about 150 feet distant. He excused himself for a minute and told me where to put the suitcase. He said he would be back soon."

Callicotte went without hesitation to the spot where he insists he left the suitcase and then walked away. "I don't recall it the parade was in progress at the time," he asserted, "but I remember seeing a mounted policeman at the corner of Steuart street."

That officer, police records show, was Francis Gaddy, now a corporal in the police department.

BILLS FOR BASEBALLS BREAK MUSKOGEE CLUB

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — With all due respect to the southpaw pitcher whom "Runt" Marr, manager of the Muskogee Western association club, traded for four baseballs, Marr may have had the right idea in mind.

A bankruptcy petition filed for the club by President C. C. Ellis showed no assets and liabilities of $2375, of which $1618 was owing for baseballs.

All of Muskogee's games were played under lights, and every time a player fouled one over the grandstand it was just another dollar sailing out into the night.

NEW TALENT FOR DULUTH TEAM

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—Carl Lidberg, former University of Minnesota fullback, and Bill Stein, former Fordham lineman, are coaching and playing with the Duluth pro football team this fall. Stein formerly played with the Chicago Cardinals and New York Giants and Lidberg with the Green Bay Packers.

FOUR LOST TO ASHLAND

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—Ashland High school, which has a record of no defeats on the gridiron in seven years and no tie games in four years, has another strong team in prospect. Three linemen and one backfield man are to be replaced as a result of graduation.

REAPPEARANCE OF HERRING PUZZLES LAKE FISHERMEN

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Fishermen of this region are excited by reports of herring having reappeared in the waters of Lake Erie in quantities.

At one time herring were more numerous in the lake than any other fish. Half the catch was herring and the yields ranged from 18,000,000 to 38,000,000 pounds a year.

Then the herring almost disappeared. Other fish have had their periods of disappearance, too, such an perch, sheepshead, saugers and white fish, but they all came back after a year or two. Not so with the herring.

ELECTION TO $150 OFFICE COSTS COUNTY BOARD $200

BARNWELL, S. C. (AP)—It may not be good business, but Barnwell county saw no way out of holding a $200 election to fill a $150 a year office.

The race for coroner was thrown into the second primary recently when the incumbent died suddenly but none of the candidates received a majority.

A third primary was necessary — which makes the job worth $350 to the county, $150 for the coroner's salary, and $200 to election officials.

ELECTRIC CLOCKS TIME THEFT

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—If there is necessity for establishing the time of a theft of electric wire here, there will be no difficulty, for all electric clocks in the community stopped at the same time. Thieves removed 1800 feet of copper wire, carrying 110 volts of power to residence, from the poles.

JOCKEY, 50, COMES BACK

CLEVELAND (AP) — Joe Dreyer, 50, keeps a trim waistline or he never would have been able to do it. Although he had not ridden the ponies since 1923, he staged a comeback over a soupy course at Bainbridge here and booted home a winner. Dreyer's horse was Bag o' Gold, a three-year-old daughter of Baggenbaggage.

TWO CHILDREN DEAD, FOUR ILL IN ROSEBURG

ROSEBURG, Ore., Oct. 12 (AP) — Julianne Phillips, 8, died this morning from an intestinal disorder which also caused the death of her two-year-old brother, Harry, last Saturday and may bring death to the other four children of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Phillips, of this city. The entire family, including the parents, is in a local hospital. The oldest child, Fred, aged 9, has a chance for recovery, physicians report, but Thelma and Gerald, aged 8 and 6, respectively, are critically ill. No hope is held for the recovery of a nine-months-old baby. The parents collapsed last night as the result of the strain.

MAY RETURN SAM INSULL TO AMERICA

from which he arrived. Once Insull arrived in Italy it would be a simple mater for the United States to effect his extradition.

Steamship companies are cautious about receiving any passengers whose papers are not in order, and it was not believed in official quarters that there was any likelihood Insull could leave Greeve by steamer.

There have been cases where passengers have been carried across the Atlantic as many as 25 times at the expense of steamship companies, because their papers were not in order and neither the country to which they were destined or the country from which they departed would allow them to land.

TO INVESTIGATE DEBACLE

CHICAGO, Oct. 12 (AP)—Machinery of the United States senate was set in motion today to investigate the Insull debacle.

James E. Stewart, federal operative for the senatorial committee on banking and currency, was due to take charge of an investigation into all phases of the Insul utilities crash.

Senator Peter Norbeck, chairman of the committee, confirmed the investigation and said Stewart, who had charge of the committee's interim investigation of the stock market, left Washington last night for Chicago.

The announcement of the senatorial investigation came on the heels of rapid developments here.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson, after telephone communication with an undisclosed person in Washington, cancelled a planned trip to the national capitol and said he would await developments in moves to extradite Samuel Insull, head of the toppled utility pyramid. Swanson said the call "obviated immediate need" for his trip.

It was known he had planned a conference with President Hoover. Hoover in efforts to hold Insull in Greece pending extradition here to face charges of embezzlement and larceny. The cancelling of the trip was interpreted in official circles as indicating the federal government was expecting speedy action to consummate Insull's return.

Swanson frankly was nonplussed at the announcement Insull no longer was under arrest in Greece and said the affair was "disquieting." Two of his assistants are standing by, however, to go to Greece to complete arrangements for extradition.

At the same time he disclosed his staff was studying the legality of the action of two Insull attorneys in advising Insull to flee to Greece after the indictments were announced.

CRICKET FLAT PERSONALS

By Lois Witherspoon
(Observer Correspondent)

CRICKET FLAT (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Emil Miller received a message Sunday night telling of the serious illness of their daughter, Mrs. Glen Patten, who lives near Sacramento, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Miller left by auto at 1 o'clock Monday morning to be with her.

Mrs. Causey is spending the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Roulet.

Cricket Flat grange held its regular meeting Saturday evening at the Highland school house. J. D. Woodell, of near Summerville, chairman of the county fair board, and Mr. and Mrs. Louie Evans, of La Grande, were present, the two men addressing the grange. It was announced that the H. E. C. club will meet at the home of Mrs. W. H. Weatherspoon Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 18. The next regular grange meeting will be Saturday evening, Oct. 22.

Mrs. A. H. Parsons has gone to Walla Walla to visit her son, LeRoy Parsons, and other relatives and friends.

The Misses Wannita and Emma Payne and Ethel Culp, of Elgin, Louis and Edwin Phillips, Thomas Smith and Lenau Tucker attended the dedication of Rankin Field near La Grande Sunday.

Tony Junkergow spent last week visiting at the Leo Roulet home.

GRID STAR QUITS GAME TO SAVE ARM FOR DIAMOND

SANTA CLARA, Cal. (AP)—The complaint of Walter Mails, baseball star and coach of Santa Clara university, against the practice of big league scouts in luring college athletes from classes has been reinforced by Maurice "Clipper" Smith, football mentor.

Smith's regular halfback of last year, "Lefty" Powers, told him he couldn't play football this year because he wanted to protect his arm. Powers has been offered a chance in professional baseball upon completion of his collegiate career, so Smith is deprived of a fast, tricky halfback.

Behind-The-Scene Politics At a Fever Pitch Over U. S. This Month

By Byron Price

October, always listed in the political almanacs as the critical month of a national campaign, has accelerated organized party activity to a degree even greater than the general public realizes.

The campaign swings of the candidates, the thundering of big and little spellbinders, the parades and the fireworks—all of the outward show comes a long way from telling the complete story of this final feverish bid for votes.

What goes on behind the scenes is, in a sense, even more interesting. It is in carefully-guarded privacy that the real strategy of a campaign develops. What happens in the open usually is the product of many earnest hours of preparation, of an exchange of information and advice on the most confidential character, of discussions and disputes which often rise to the level of high drama.

It should not be assumed that any great party organization directs its fire point-blank at the enemy. It may send speakers, as a matter of form, into territory it does not dream of capturing. It may, and frequently does, make pretended thrusts to deceive the other side. But back of it all is a central plan of campaign which directs itself ceaselessly toward the concentration of the real effort against those sectors which appear most vulnerable.

Politicians in general regard secrecy as a prime requirement. Often the real intent is not disclosed until the very last weeks of the campaign, when presumably it is too late for the opposition to do anything about it.

VAST ARMY AT WORK

The preparation and execution of such a plan on a national scale naturally requires a vast army of workers, ramifying even the most remote precincts.

The sinews of the campaign are information and money; and in the collection of each, many hands are enlisted. Just now, in these swift weeks of October, the quest for the two essentials is at its height.

Party workers not only conduct confidential polls as to the intention of the voters, but they try to ascertain on what issues decisions are being reached in this locality and that. The results, consolidated county by county, and then state by state, give national party headquarters dependable data on which to judge how and into what quarter the major attack should be directed.

So far as money is concerned, it is the usual practice to assign fixed quotas to states and subdivisions of states and to hold local leaders responsible, on pain of incurring great displeasure at headquarters, for the collection of these amounts.

These operations reach their peak in October because of a long prevalent belief among politicians that in that month public opinion becomes "set;" that polls taken then are likely to show the settled judgment of the voters, and that money can most easily be collected then, under the pressure of the final appeal to popular enthusiasm.

SEEING THE RESULT

Through its nation-wide contacts, a party headquarters usually knows rather definitely in advance how the election is going.

Sometimes local leaders become over-enthusiastic, but too-rosy predictions generally are detected and discounted by the more experienced national leaders, and something nearer the truth becomes the basis of the final judgment.

And it is amazing how nearly the information gathered by opposing parties agrees. It is the fashion never to give up publicly until the votes are counted, but the voters themselves would be surprised to know how often a party organization closes its campaign with predictions of victory when it knows perfectly well that it is licked.

Camp Fire Girls Field Secretary Here Tuesday

Miss Eldora De Mots, field secretary of Camp Fire, who has been loaned to the northwest district by the California division, met with mothers of Camp Fire girls and prospective guardians yesterday when she visited in La Grande. The mothers of the northside met at Greenwood school and those of the southside at Ackerman Training school in the afternoon and the visitor explained the Camp Fire activities to them and displayed a varied exhibit of handwork.

Miss De Mots is attempting during her tour of the northwest to bring out more guardians among the mothers with the result that new troups and Blue Bird groups will be organized she hopes. A Big Hop honor has been offered to Camp Fire girls who are responsible for the organization of a new troup, bringing in a new guardian or new girls between now and Dec. 1.

Eight Camp Fire troups and one Blue Bird organization are active in La Grande now and Monday night has been set aside by Miss Madeline Larson, municipal Camp Fire head, as Camp Fire night. All mothers who are interested in becoming guardians or in learning more of the activities of the organization are urged to meet on the mezzanine floor at the La Grande hotel at that time. The O-Ne-E group at the Eastern Oregon Normal school will also meet from 7 until 8 o'clock on that night.

From La Grande Miss De Mots went to Pendleton and Washington.

McADOO URGES RELIEF ACTION

and swimming pool telling them how to farm."

He mentioned war debts briefly. "So far as I am concerned, and I think about 90 per cent of the house and senate feel the same way, I am against cancellation of the war debt."

The problem of agricultural relief, the vice president declared, centers on the necessity of bringing the farmers "into a situation of equality with industry."

"The problem has been met somewhat, but much remains to be done," he said. "It is an important question in this campaign, and if you votern are to decide just which of the two great parties is best fitted to solve it fairly and justly, you must consider their records and decide upon their accomplishments."

GRAND ATTACKS HOOVER

URBANA, Ohio, Oct. 12 (AP)—President Hoover's campaign for reelection, and the Republican party were under attack today from a new recruit in the ranks of the "insurgents," Congressman Charles Grand, of Ohio.

In a formal statement issued at his home, here, last night, the Republican congressman from the seventh Ohio district, declared his party "deserves defeat and reorganization."

Brand praised Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic presidential nominee, as "favoring tariff benefits on surplus farm products," and said the Republican party had failed to aid the farmer.

Brand, heretofore, regarded as a "regular" Republican, was elected to the house of representatives in 1922. He announced he would not be a candidate for reelection.

McNary to Return East In 10 Days

SALEM, Oct. 12 (AP) — United States Senator Charles L. McNary announced here he will leave Salem in about 10 days for Chicago where he has been called by the national committee to assist in the Republican presidential campaign.

McNary said he would make no addresses in Oregon prior to his departure. From Chicago he will go to Washington where as chairman he will conduct hearings on the work and operation of the federal farm board. He does not expect to return to Oregon until after the adjournment of the short session of congress.

WHITE DOTS LIGHTEN DARK BLUE CHIFFON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. George Horace Lorimer recently wore in Washington a dress of dark blue chiffon, peppered in white dots of various size. Her hat was of soft white straw.

Frosty Peters, famous drop-kicking quarterback at Illinois a few years ago, is still residing at the Champaign, Ill., fire station, where he works, but will play with the Chicago Cardinals this fall.

a "nice social chat" with his running mate.

Arriving yesterday, he ridiculed Republican assertions that he had been "muzzled."

"Did you ever hear of any one muzzling me?" he said, when the subject was mentioned.

Decision Left Him

He said he was still considering what further campaigning he will do and declared the decision "has been left to me."

Mr. Garner spent some time at the executive mansion, where Gov. Roosevelt was completing the itinerary for his tour into the south and middle west and preparing data for a radio speech tomorrow night in which he will outline his views on federal participation in relief work.

The vice presidential nominee said he would be happy to see Alfred E. Smith at New York should occasion arise. Asked if the itinerary for Mr. Roosevelt's trip was completed, he said he thought it was. It was believed the governor might release it today.

The relief speech for which Mr. Roosevelt was preparing yesterday concerns a field with which Speaker Garner has been in close contact in his congressional work. Mr. Roosevelt will speak at 10 o'clock Eastern Standard time, tomorrow night.

Navy Officer Is Rotary Speaker

Commander C. W. Cross, in charge of the U. S. navy recruiting office in Portland, who is here on a tour of inspection was a guest at the Rotary luncheon at the La Grande hotel today at noon in company with R. L. Eudsley, local recruiting officer.

Mr. Cross addressed the Rotarians on the subject of building a blue-jacket, explaining the opportunity the navy offers a young man, giving him a trade, enabling him to see much of the world, etc.

HOT LAKE PERSONALS

By Harriet MacDonald
(Observer Correspondent)

HOT LAKE (Special)—The familiar face of B. H. Miller is welcomed at the desk by his many friends at the sanatorium, after an absence of almost a year in Chicago. Mrs. Miller and two small sons will follow a little later.

Mrs. Robert Wheeler, of Pendleton, head attendant in the women's bath house, sustained painful but not serious injuries when she fell on a slippery incline in the bath house last Thursday. She is now resting comfortably but will not be out of the hospital for a few days.

L. H. Irwin, formerly night clerk at the sanatorium, has accepted a position at the Moore hotel at Ontario.

Mrs. Brown, of Elgin, a hospital patient, was much cheered by receiving a Sunday visit from Mr. Brown and her friends.

Claude Lockwood, who has been bookkeeper at the sanatorium through the summer months, has returned to his home in Portland.

Dr. and Mrs. G. F. Lee, of the hospital staff, and Dr. Lee's brother, Emmett Lee, of Denver, left on Monday for a two days' visit with Mrs. Lee's parents in Portland.

A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rossi, of Wallace, Idaho, frequent visitors at this place, Mrs. R. C. Morton, of Lewiston, and Mr. Gridley stayed over night at the sanatorium on their return trip from the insurance convention at Boise. Mr. Gridley took a plane at this place for Spokane and the others proceeded by auto.

Harry Meyers, of Newport, Wash., spent two days visiting Mrs. Meyers, who has been very ill in the hospital, but is now improving. Mr. and Mrs. Meyers have for many years conducted a summer hotel at Newport that is well known to tourist.

A baby girl, Shirley Ann, weight seven and a half pounds, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shuey, of Union, at this place last Thursday. Both are doing well.

Bud Hamilton, of Portland, who was hurt in a parachute jump during the dedication exercises at Rankin field on Sunday, was brought to the hospital but his injuries were not serious and he left for Portland on Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Bue, of Pomeroy, Wash., are recent arrivals in the sanatorium. Mr. Bue is the manager of a series of wheat warehouses, in his part of the country.

High School At Union To Stage Play Thursday

By Mrs. L. Z. Terrell
(Observer Correspondent)

UNION, Ore. (Special) — The first play of the High school year is to be presented at the gymnasium Thursday evening by the F. F. A. club members and others selected from the High school. The play has been coached by Cecil Griggs, agriculture instructor and advisor for the club, and the proceeds of the play will go into the fund for the support of the various activities of the club during the year. The play, "Whittlin'" is a comedy and has the following cast of characters: Mrs. Wilson, an elderly widow, Virginia Ward; Ruth Wilson, leading lady, Wythel Ackley; Jimmy Edwards, tramp and drug-addict, Donald Ward; Doctor Good, good-natured country doctor, Wendell Green; Dave Petterman, a tight-fisted storekeeper and money-leader, Fred Peterson; Bill Irvin and Ferrin Woll, extras. Special entertainment will be given between curtains.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Castra left Sunday morning for Portland to attend the grand lodge session of the Knights of Pythias. They expect to return home Thursday and will be accompanied by their son, Lyle, who is coming from Fresno, Cal., on his vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Bideler and Buddy Connally and Mr. and Mrs. Will Campbell made the trip to Eagle Valley and Halfway Sunday going by way of Sangre.

G. I. Hess, Melvin Hess, Ralph Taylor and Leland Hess, attorney from Portland, left Tuesday morning for a deer hunting trip.

Dr. and Mrs. George Hoffman and baby, Jeanne, accompanied by Mrs. Hoffman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Murphy, of Pendleton, drove to Caldwell last Friday and visited until Sunday with the doctor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Hoffman.

S. E. Miller shipped two carloads of fat lambs to the San Francisco market on Monday.

Miss Thelma Van Houten returned home Sunday after spending a few days with relatives at Joseph.

In the Northwest art exhibit held in Seattle recently, R. C. Lee Jr., son of Rev. R. C. Lee who is both poet and artist, had a large number of entries and won second place in the display of paintings. Among the exhibits by other artists was a life-sized portrait of Miss Bethene Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Miller, who went to England recently to study. The work was done by an elderly Russian artist, Alexander Koiransky, who spent nearly a year on the portrait.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Griffith, of Spokane, visited from Thursday until Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Dave Van Houten and family. On Friday they drove to Joseph to visit relatives.

Mrs. A. G. Butterfield, of Enterprise, who spoke at the Methodist church and the High school on world peace, was a guest of Mrs. S. E. Miller during her two-day stay in Union.

The teachers who attended the county schoolmasters' meeting in Cove Monday evening were Superintendent Roy Conklin, Will Campbell, Will Baxter, W. V. Connor and Milt Boring. Ralph Connor also attended the meeting.

Mrs. Will Campbell was a dinner guest of Miss Erla Clark at the hotel Monday evening.

Coach Will Campbell and his football boys will go to Wallowa Friday for the game scheduled for that afternoon.

Hog Prices Down Ten Cents Today In Oregon Market

PORTLAND, Oct. 12 (AP)—Hog prices lost a dime at North Portland Wednesday in addition to recent heavy declines. The new top is $4 which compares with the high mark for recent months at $6 which was reached July 11-16 inclusive. The previous low was on May 17, 18, 19 at $3.85. The price today compares with this same date in other years:

Oct. 12: 1932, $4.00; 1931, $5.75; 1930, $10.75; 1929, $11.25; 1928, $10.25; 1927, $11.25; 1926, $14.50; 1925, $14.00; 1924, $10.75; 1923, $9.50; 1922, $10.75; 1921, $10.00.

Condition of the Turkey Market Is Rather Deceptive

PORTLAND, Oct. 12 (AP)—With current sales of turkeys somewhat mixed in character, receipts by no means heavy, or even liberal, the condition of the turkey market this week was described by the trade as "rather deceptive." The Journal commented that "many growers of holiday birds are misled by the occasional demand for supplies coming from some wholesalers."

Receipts are, however, of sufficient volume to care for immediate needs. The price, under this condition, has remained unchanged. Another factor is that there is an insistent request from producers to be relieved by their birds as quickly as possible to stop feeding expense.

The general call is best for dressed new crop hens up to 2c lb., and toms at 20c lb., although some sellers reverse this condition for a few birds with sales of toms at a higher mark.

Old hens are in call for such supplies but there is no call for old toms.

Few of the birds are really fat; most are larger than usual. New crop birds that are pinny are in call only at the lower price.

Butter Market Reflects Keen Speculation

PORTLAND, Oct. 12 (AP) — Market for butter reflects nothing more than the keen desire of speculative interests to get their stock out of storage while profits are in sight. While the undertone of the market is generally very hopeful, it is aided artificially by the manipulative influences of those that have storage goods to sell and care little about the fresh production.

There continues a general scramble for underscores in the local as well as coast trade generally while only a fair call is suggested for so-called extras, which the trade appears a trifle suspicious of.

Open market transactions in cubes were generally at maintained values for all offerings.

Late receipts and production continued downward in the local territory. Butterfat remains firm at a spread of 2c in spots.

Market for eggs continues to reflect strength and firmness in practically all positions but prices remain more or less manipulative in so far as the fresh stock is concerned. Most operators are interested only in storage goods.
