Less Republicans In Two Counties

SALEM, Oct. 14 (AP)—Registration of Republicans showed a decrease since 1928 in two of the four additional counties reporting complete registrations to the secretary of state today. The Democratic registration showed an increase in all four while only one reported a decrease in the total registrations. Seven of the 38 counties have now filed complete reports.

In Umatilla county there are 7903 Republicans and 3762 Democrats; Benton county 6075 Republicans, 2685 Democrats; Jefferson county 806 Republicans, 350 Democrats; and Polk county 5390 Republicans, 3762 Democrats.

JOHNSON NOT TO SUPPORT MR. HOOVER

warrior in the ranks of American progress.

Roosevelt's remarks brought a statement from Johnson in which he said the attitude of the Democratic candidate was "in sharp contrast with that Mr. Hoover has maintained toward progressivism and progressives in California. . . I personally immensely appreciate what he said and I am sure it is equally appreciated by the progressive Republicans of this state."

Johnson's statement to E. P. Clark, and others, said in part: "Yesterday I received the night letter signed by yourself and many other representing Southern California newspapers urging me to issue a statement in support of the Republican national and state tickets. I take it the 'emphatic declaration' you ask is one in favor of Mr. Hoover's candidacy. . .

"For many years in the politics of this nation, two distinct political philosophies have constantly clashed, and in the present economic crisis these two conflicting philosophies stand out the one against the other in bold relief. On the one hand is the progressive, on the other, the ultra-conservative. . .

"I am a progressive Republican; Mr. Hoover is not. He has justly earned the title of ultra-conservative. The difference between the two may be described in a generalization, and could be particularized in a hundred acts of the existing national administration. . .

"The progressive believes this government belongs to all its people, not to a favored or privileged few, and that it should be administered equally and impartially for all, high and low, rich and poor alike. The ultra-conservative, paying lip service to common humanity, makes a mock of his words, by his court of special classes, and his subservience to special interests, and his indifference, as in the instances of the power trust and the sale of foreign securities to trusting American investors by international bankers, to the ruthless exploitation of our people. The progressive thinks in terms of human beings; the standstiller has little thought or concern for them. When Mr. Hoover became president, his philosophy of government became apparent. Before that we knew little or nothing of his policies or politics. My views are those of a long lifetime. His have been acquired in the very brief period he has resided among us. . .

"In your telegram, apparently, you stress party regularity. In this crisis, I stress loyalty to the American people. . . My first allegiance is to all the people of this state. I would not taint my record nor stultify myself now by abandoning the principles for which I have battled unceasingly during my career. . .

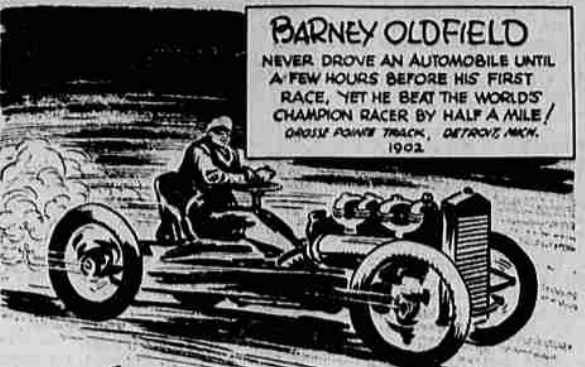

"The Republican party is not at stake in this campaign. It is only the ambition of one man, who but a little more than a decade ago did not know which was his party, and who before that had no American party at all. . .

"I recognize that each individual, according as he sees the light, must make his choice. I make mine. I cannot and I will not support Mr. Hoover."

THREE KILLED BY STABBER
PORT ALBERT, B. C., Oct. 14 (AP)—A Japanese mother and her two small children were dead here today of knife wounds inflicted upon them in their home here last night.

A posse was searching for O. Asuka, pulpwood logger and father of the murdered babies, one three years old and the other only a few weeks. No motive has been ascertained for the crime.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

THE PECULIAR WARCRY OF A QUEEN BEE CAN BE HEARD SEVERAL YARDS AWAY FROM THE HIVE.

BARNEY OLDFIELD hung up a record when he beat the world's champion race driver, Alexander Winton, only a few hours after learning to drive. Some said that Barney's wild driving kept the other racers back because they were afraid to pass him. He kept old "898" wide open around the curves, while the other drivers shut off all power on the turns.

THE WAR SONG, or arny complaint, of a queen bee is familiar to most bee-keepers. It sounds like a distant trumpet. Its effect on the workers of the hive seems to put them into a stupor.

F. R. STATES HIS VIEWS ON RELIEF

lief needs "it becomes the positive duty of the federal government to step in to help."

Answering in a radio address last night a question propounded by welfare workers, "Do you favor a substantial increase in federal relief outlays during the economic emergency," the Democratic candidate for the presidency said:

"I am very certain that the obligation extends beyond the states and to the federal government itself, if and when it becomes apparent that the states and communities are unable to take care of the necessary relief work.

Speaks of New York Record

Comparing the action he sponsored to provide unemployment relief in New York with the record of President Hoover's administration, Mr. Roosevelt returned in a message to the state legislature in 1931, which read:

"In broad terms, I assert that modern society acting through its government owes the definite obligation to prevent the starvation or the dire want of any of its fellow-men and women who try to maintain themselves but cannot. The these unfortunate citizens aid must be extended by the government; not as a matter of charity but as a matter of social duty."

Continuing, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"That principle which I laid down in 1931, I reaffirm. I not only reaffirm it, I go a step further and say that where the state itself is unable successfully to fulfill this obligation which lies upon it, it then becomes the positive duty of the federal government to step in to help."

Mr. Roosevelt asserted he thought it "fair to point out that a complete program of unemployment relief was on my recommendation, actually under way in New York over a year ago, and that in Washington relief funds in any large volume were not provided until this summer, and at that they were pushed through at the demand of congress rather than through the leadership of the president."

Taking up another question which asked if he favored "substantially increased public works appropriations to aid unemployment," Mr. Roosevelt said:

Two Ways of Paying

"There are two ways of paying for public works. One is by the sale of bonds. In principle such bonds should be issued only to pay for self-liquidating projects or for structures which will without question have a useful life over a period of years. The other method of payment is from current revenues, which in most cases means added taxes. And we all know that there is a very definite limit to the increase of taxes above the present limit. . .

"I am confident that the federal government working in cooperation with states and cities can do much to carry on increased public works and along lines which are sound from the economic and financial point of view."

A question regarding compulsory unemployment insurance bought from him:

"This is no new policy for me. I have advocated unemployment insurance in my own state for some time, and indeed last year six eminent governors were my guests at a conference which resulted in the drawing up of what might be called an ideal plan of unemployment insurance."

Mr. Roosevelt said he favored continuing the "fine work" of the children's bureau of the labor department.

"Attempts have been made to cut the appropriations for child welfare work," he continued. "It seems to me this is the last place in which we should seek to economize."

He declared he favored keeping children in school until they were 16.

Pleds For Charity

In closing, Roosevelt made a plea for charity. He said:

"Let us who have jobs or money or shelter for ourselves and our families share with the less fortunate. If we do this in every community

The Garden

LIVING ROOM NEXT SUMMER

People all over the country are modernizing their home grounds this fall for they know now that styles change in gardening and that their place with its old fashioned appearance is now out of date, just like everything else. To families like these the suggested treatment of an outdoor living room, in illustration above, offers a short cut to the latest fashion in yard beautification. It possesses that indefinable something which we call the modern touch.

The appeal of beautiful flowering plants tastefully arranged to create an out-of-doors room is irresistible and the idea of selecting them and planting them oneself is fraught with exciting adventure. Just to be able to have a place out-of-doors which is attractive, livable and comfortable where the whole family can find countless hours of enjoyment, is reason enough for creating an outdoor living room.

Now is the time to plan this improvement so the planting can be done this fall and the outdoor living room enjoyed all summer.

TURKS ARREST PEASANTS FOR SHOOTING AT MOON

ISTANBUL (AP)—Hundreds of Turks were arrested during the recent eclipse of the moon.

Despite the republic's taboo, these old-timers fired pistols and rifles at the demonic bear whose effort to eat the moon is the peasant explanation of eclipses.

The peasant idea is that unless the bear is shot he will start eating the sun, and then the world will end.

Sport Finals

TEAMS HEAD YFOR GAME

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 14 (AP)—Undecided about his starting lineup, but very pert and hopeful, Coach Bill Spaulding and his Bruins from the University of California at Los Angeles, reached Portland today all set for a football tussle with the Oregon Webfoots on Multnomah field here tomorrow.

Although some of the regulars and first string reserves, Spaulding said, have had a joust with influenza, the squad was in good shape for the game and well rested, despite the long train ride.

The Oregon team will arrive from Eugene late this afternoon, to engage in a light signal drill at Waverley country club. The Uclan Bruins were to have a lumbering workout on Multnomah field before dusk.

With the possibility that the game will be played on a wet field, Coach Spaulding was considering altering the attack planned for the Oregon game. It is likely, he said, that Bob McChesney and Walter Miller, sophomore ends, will start in place of Bill Maxwell and Teek Baldwin probably will get the guard berths, the implication being that Spaulding wants all in an weight possible to combat the offensive of the Oregon team as well as to lead the interference for his own team's attack.

Babe Horrell of the Bruin coaching staff, believes this year's Oregon team is much stronger than the team that turned back the Uclan last year. "We figured," he said, "that Oregon had a let-down against Washington after its hard game with Santa Clara the week before." Last Saturday Oregon and Washington battled to a scoreless tie.

It was said today that the advance seat sale for the Oregon-Bruin game, a Shrine benefit contest, had reached about 10,000 this morning.

figure they can win again this year. On the other hand, the La Grande supporters equally certain the blue and white eleven can turn the tide which has swung against the Union county team the last year or so.

In preparation for the game, Coach Ira Woodie has made several changes in his squad during the last week and has put his proteges through some very stiff workouts. He would not announce the lineup today, saying that he didn't know himself who would start at some of the positions, and wouldn't know until just before the game. "I intend to get eleven men on the field, however, who want to play football," he said.

Reports are that delegations of fans from several Union and Wallawa county points will be in La Grande for the contest, and the local crowd is expected to be the largest of the year.

A win for Enterprise would practically give it a second straight championship, and a win for La Grande would at least put the Tigers once more in the contender class. The scoreless tie at Mac-Hi last Saturday was somewhat of a blow to La Grande hopes.

Big Rally Tonight

In an attempt to do its part, the L. H. S. student body has called a pep rally for tonight, following a pep assembly held this morning. At the assembly the junior class put on a skit first depicting an Enterprise pep rally, then what the Savages would look like after the game and winding it up with a funeral march. The assembly was brief with the student body concentrating on the rally tonight.

The High school band, directed by Andrew Loney Jr. will march from the La Grande hotel to Playtex on Adams avenue, stopping at each intersection to play. The band will play from 7:10 to 7:45 and this will be followed by a parade. At 8 o'clock a bonfire rally will be held on the High school field, with yells in charge of Dave Hiatt and songs in charge of Mary Lou Rhea. The football team will be in attendance and there probably will be some speeches. The rally is to end at 8:45 p. m.

This will be the first rally staged by the La Grande High school for several years.

Laurie Vejar, quarterback candidate at Notre Dame, teamed up with Orville Mohler of Southern California, in prep school days.

Health

CONVALESCENT SERUM

Convalescent serum is the liquid portion of the blood taken from an individual who is convalescing or has recovered from a disease.

Convalescent serum is being used more and more widely in dealing with infectious diseases due to what are known as filtrable viruses.

In this classification belong a number of rather important diseases among which are included measles, mumps, smallpox, chickenpox, zoster (shingles), fever blister, infantile paralysis, encephalitis lethargica (sleeping sickness) and possibly, too, the common cold and influenza.

The diseases caused by filtrable viruses are more or less in a class by themselves, differing from diseases caused by germs large enough to be seen under the microscope.

One peculiarity about these diseases is that they leave in the blood of their surviving victims certain substances, which have the power, when injected into other persons of rendering them partially or completely immune, that is, resistant to the diseases.

Convalescent serum is being used extensively in the prevention and treatment of measles. When given during the first five days after exposure, convalescent serum in an adequate dose confers complete protection and when injected from the sixth to the ninth day after exposure will render the attack of measles milder.

Convalescent serum is being used in sickly children and in those under two years of age who have become exposed to measles. In those of good constitution and in those older than two years, a small quantity of convalescent serum is used simply to modify the attack.

The use of convalescent serum in poliomyelitis is still somewhat in the experimental stage.

Since it is difficult, except when there is an epidemic, to make a prompt diagnosis of infantile paralysis at its onset convalescent serum may be given rather late; hence it is not fully effective.
