

LOCAL BRIEFS

Glenn May was fined a total of $10 in municipal court last night on two traffic charges. He was fined $5 on a charge of passing another car in an intersection, and $5 on a charge of driving through a stop sign. Judge L. B. Moe presided. May, unable to pay, elected to serve the fine out in jail.

County Clerk C. R. McCormick, Republican, promised to continue to perform the duties of the office to the best of his ability as he has in the past.

County Assessor D. H. Proctor, Republican, with 12 years of service, is making the race on his record, he said.

Little McGoldrick, Democratic candidate for county treasurer, was absent.

County Treasurer Florence Baron, Republican, also is making the race on her record in office.

Bennie Hicks, Republican candidate for county school superintendent, spoke of the county unit system, which he said could be modified to suit local conditions. He favors a new system of taxation for school purposes, a blanket tax over all the county.

Superintendent E. A. Sayre, Democrat, called attention to his record in office.

George Walker, Democratic candidate for county coroner, promised to fulfill the duties of his office to the best of his ability.

Dr. F. L. Ralston, Republican county coroner, and Roscoe Neal, Democratic-Republican candidate for county surveyor, were absent.

J. D. Slater, Democratic candidate for district attorney, said that he had some experience in the office by reason of being deputy in the past, and that if elected he would do his best to carry out the laws as they are made with the smallest expense possible.

District Attorney Carl Helm, Republican, spoke briefly. He also is making the race on his record in office.

H. L. Hess, Democratic candidate for state senator, said he opposes special privileges and is ready to represent every taxpayer in Union and Wallawa counties.

Senator Colton E. Eberhard, Republican, quoted sections from his record in office, pointing out that he favored the income tax, favored the oleo tax, voted against salary raises and was opposed to special interests, and had always voted according to the desires of the people of Union and Wallawa counties.

Jess Crum, Republican candidate for representative, said his property interests were with agriculture, lumber and that he knew something of their problems and needs. He said he stands for economy without loss of efficiency.

Representative Victor Ekeley, Democrat, said that he favors retrenchment of state expenses and a substantial reduction of automobile license fees.

FIRESTONE, FORD, OTHER COMPANIES ACCUSED OF MOVE

(Continued from Page One) of 129 stores. "However, they are not meeting with much success. The Republicans are becoming desperate and are using means more despicable than in the days of Mark Hanna and the full dinner pail."

Farley issued his statement and made public the Rogers telegram in comment on the action of the Ford Motor company in issuing a statement to its employees through the country advocating reelection of Hoover, and concluding: "These are our convictions and we submit them to the serious consideration of all Ford employees throughout the country and their families."

CHARGE IS DENIED AKRON, Ohio, Oct. 18 (AP)—Branding as "ridiculous" the assertion of Vergil E. Rogers, Akron member of the Democratic state central committee, that Goodyear Tire and Rubber company is "intimidating" employees in an effort to force votes for President Hoover, Clifton Sussner, president, said today "the Goodyear organization has not interested itself in any way in the voting inclinations of its employees."

High officials of Goodrich and Firestone companies, bracketed with Goodyear in the Rogers statement, could not be immediately reached and others declined comment in the absence of their superiors.

James D. Tew, president of the B.F. Goodrich company, said allegations that his concern "has instructed, or in any way coerced its employees to vote for any candidate for office in the November election are untrue."

Hamann Funeral To Be Wednesday

The funeral of J. F. Hamann, who passed away at 1103 N. Avenue early Monday morning, will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the chapel of Walkers Funeral Home with Rev. Edwin W. Bracher in charge of the services. Burial will be in the family plot in Island City cemetery.

Named National Anthem

The act which made "The Star-Spangled Banner" the national anthem was as follows: "Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, That the composition consisting of the words and music known as 'The Star-Spangled Banner' is designated the National Anthem of the United States of America." Approved March 3, 1931. This act was adopted by the Seventy-first congress.

Musical Terms

First, second, third and fourth movements in a musical composition refer to the different parts of a piano or orchestral composition. These different movements are written in different tempos and have different themes, and are in reality separate compositions united into the same work by a continuity of style of composition.

Be Earnest

Half-hearted attempts to do something are usually worse than none at all. They invariably yield nothing but disappointment, nothing of worth or weight can be achieved with a half mind, with a faint heart, or with a lame endeavor.—Grit.

Stanchness

'Tis the business of little minds to shrink, but he whose heart is firm, and whose conscience approves his conduct, will pursue his principles unto death.—Palme.

Two Indians Durable

CLEVELAND, Oct. 18 (AP)—Earl Averill and Joe Voemik were the only members of the Cleveland Indians baseball team to participate in every one of the games played during the 1932 season. Wesley Ferrell led the mound staff in innings pitched with 277.

He's Doubly Welcome

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—About the most welcome news Charles Bachman, University of Florida coach, has received this season comes from Welton Shearer. That's his name, and he already has proved he can play a whale of a game at center, tackle or end.

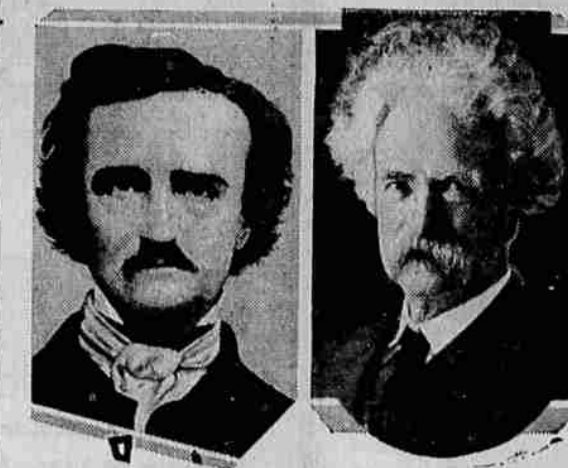

CHARGES OF "WET FIELD" VOICED IN ENTERPRISE, ORE.

(Continued from Page Three) lative to the wetting of the field, and here they are: Following the La Grande High rally and bonfire at the athletic field Friday evening before the game, the fire hose customarily used to wet down the field when it is dusty, was employed and the gridiron was dampened sufficiently to insure a good footing the following day. This all occurred Friday night, with the field dusty, and the sky clear. When the work was completed at 11 o'clock, the moon was shining brightly and there was no indication of any rain. A few spots on the field had a bit more water than others, because of leaks in the only hose available for use. This occurs every time the field is dampened and that is one reason the wetting is done the afternoon or night before the game — to insure sufficient time for the wet spots to dry sufficiently to avoid mud.

Wa-Hi Was Suffed Exactly the same thing was done before the Walla Walla game, which La Grande lost 6 to 0, and without additional rain, the field the day following the wetting was in perfect condition. Not a single Wa-Hi player complained of the condition of the gridiron. In fact, the field was as near perfect as was ever achieved.

But, unfortunately, in the early hours of Saturday morning the skies clouded and rain fell, not so much rain as to spoil the field, but enough to leave it muddy in a few spots for the afternoon game.

Having no control over the weather conditions, and as much surprised at the rain as anyone, the La Grande High school officials could hardly—James D. Tew, president of the B.F. Goodrich company, said allegations that his concern "has instructed, or in any way coerced its employees to vote for any candidate for office in the November election are untrue."

La Grande Handicapped Going a step further, to this writer it did not appear that the Enterprise team was handicapped by the field any more than La Grande. As a matter of fact, except for a few isolated spots, there was no mud. And, also, as a matter of fact, La Grande lost one gain of around 20 yards because a La Grande ball carrier, in the clear, slipped in one of those few damp spots and went to the ground. Under the new rules, the ball was dead at that point. No such slipping was apparent on the part of any of the Enterprise ball carriers—in fact, considering the opposition they were facing, they made some excellent gains and also completed some fine passes. The ball did not at any time appear wet.

About the Cleats Getting down to the second point in the Enterprise item, referring to the cleats, this writer falls to see what can be done about it. If the Enterprise High school failed to equip its team with standard cleats such as the Tigers used, should the Tigers be penalized? Surely, La Grande had no knowledge that its players had better cleats; and without such knowledge, can anyone imagine a deep-dyed scheme to win a game by

La Grande Music Store Is Opened

The La Grande Music company is the name of the new music supply store opened by Rev. Paul De P. Mortimore in his home at 1104 Spring avenue yesterday. Mr. Mortimore has had a great deal of experience in band and orchestra work and will have the agency for several lines of well known instruments, as well as for sheet music and other music supplies. He has installed a showcase and other equipment in the glass enclosed front porch of his house, where he will have his instruments and supplies on display; and he has made arrangements to provide the quickest possible service on any articles not carried in stock.

Motion Asks Court To Cite Oregonian On Contempt Action

PORTLAND, Oct. 18 (AP)—Harry L. Gross, attorney, accused of advocating bribery in connection with the selection of a site for a municipal market here, halted progress of selection of the jury in his trial here today by presenting a motion requesting the court to cite the Oregonian for contempt of court because of an editorial printed this morning.

Gross described the editorial as "libelous and untrue" and "calculated to prevent impartial action by the jury." The editorial, dealing with the city election, referred to "the Gross-manipulated committee of 50." This "committee of 50" is active in city politics.

Gross said the editorial "is calculated to inspire an attitude of prejudice, partially and bias against me as defendant in this criminal action." The court reserved judgment on the motion.

The indictment charging Gross with advocating bribery in connection with the market deal was one of several returned early this year.

California Liquor Seized by Sheriff

SEATTLE, Oct. 18 (AP)—The second huge sheriff's liquor raid in little more than 24 hours resulted in the seizure today of 4000 gallons of alcohol and the arrest of three men at the little community of Thomas near here.

The alcohol, valued at $32,000, which was found in a freight car, as was a seizure of $35,000 worth of imported whisky in the Northern Pacific freight yards in the south end of Seattle, yesterday.

The men were arrested as they drove up to the car. They gave their names as Henry Johnson, 40, Jack Harris, 29, both of Seattle, and Joe Miller, 40, a transient.

Both liquor shipments arrived from California.

"Traitors" Ousted by Communists

Branded as "traitors to the working class," these two Russian leaders were expelled from the Communist party for "trying to re-establish capitalism in the U. S. S. R." They are Gregory Zinovieff (above), long a holder of high Soviet offices, and Leo Kameneff (below), brother-in-law of Leon Trotsky. Twenty-two other Communists, accused of being co-conspirators in a "counter-revolutionary organization," were expelled with them.

EDUCATION'S COST IS TO BE SLASHED

lated to the end that such use shall not in any way be a detriment to the maintenance of the highest standards of scholarship, social life and general welfare of the institutions and the individual members thereof, and that the administration of this regulation be under the jurisdiction of the chancellor.

All student automobiles, it was suggested, shall be registered on the campus. A provision is probable that only by special permit may cars be parked on the campus during class.

In discussing the financial setup, Dr. Kerr spoke of a three-point program providing that there shall be no increase in student fees; no requests to the legislature for additional appropriations; and that budgets shall be adjusted on the basis of income available from present legislation.

The chancellor said such action must be taken in spite of reduced income from student fees as the result of decreased enrollment, and from the millage tax, owing to decrease in property valuation.

Chancellor's Authority Increased The board agreed to broaden the authority of the chancellor to extend his jurisdiction over the business offices, physical plants, registrar's offices, information service, publications and news bureau. He was designated as the "chief executive officer," responsible to the board.

Budget reductions estimated at 7 per cent for the first year and 6.3 per cent for the second year will have to be made, Dr. Kerr said, because of anticipated shrinkage in millage receipts and student fees. He assumed, he said, that the appropriation of $1,161,000 referred to the people would be lost. The higher education system started the year with a slight balance, since $25,000 can be saved in administrative expense under the new setup.

BURCH URGES MEIER TO ACT MEDFORD, Ore., Oct. 18 (AP)—Albert Burch of this city, who resigned as a member of the state board of higher education six weeks ago yesterday addressed a letter to Governor Julius L. Meier urging acceptance of the resignation, and recommending the appointment of Paul Scherer, of this city, as his successor. No official action has been taken on Burch's resignation.

"Nature in the Raw" is seldom MILD

THE INDIAN RAID "Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the celebrated artist, Fred Madan... inspired by that wild, bloody scramble of covered wagons in the Colorado Gold Rush (1858), as described in the National Geographic Magazine. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

"We buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that 'Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild'—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—'It's toasted'. That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes. 'It's toasted' That package of mild Luckies". Image of a Lucky Strike cigarette pack.
