to our experience with cancer in man was that cancer in animals is more frequent in the later than in the earlier periods. This is also corroborative of an impression which has assumed some importance in the study of cancer, namely, that there is a relatively long time period between the operation of the forces which produce cancer and the actual appearance of the destructive growth.

Health CANCER IN ANIMALS

Every so often we run across the statement that cancer does not affect animals. Not infrequently such statements are made in support of some pet theory.

Thus, some argue that cancer is due to diet. In support of their theory they allege that we seldom find cancer in animals that feed on vegetation.

Still others argue that cancer is a disease of civilization, and claim that animals living in a wild state are free from it.

While such proponents of pet theories seldom support their contentions about cancer in animals with definite facts, science has lacked any impressive data to prove the contrary.

GRANGE HALL PERSONALS

By Mrs. Charles Spencer GRANGE HALL (Special)—The Social club of Liberty school entertained the parents Friday afternoon at the school house. An interesting program was presented and this was followed by the serving of refreshments.

With Kenneth Ragain as leader, the school gave for the first number on the program, the club sang and then three songs, "Robin Red Breast," "Come Little Leaf" and "Oregon" were sung. Talks were given by the calf club boys—"Livestock on the Farm," Delbert Groat; "Sanitation on the Farm," Darrel Lindsey; "Feeding Stock on the Farm," Ronald Lindsey; "Tuberculosis on the Farm and What Causes It," Frank Johnson; "Preparing Stock for the Show," Glen Mullenburg and "Judging the Dairy Cow," Kenneth Ragain.

Dorothy Mullenburg made a report of the club exhibits at the Grange fair which was held in La Grande this fall. In conclusion she said the sewing club and the calf club together received $18.50 in prizes. Alma DeLong told the story of the origin of Halloween and three girls, Mildred and Marjorie Fleischman and Erma Geckler presented a dialog, "Feeling a Chowl." Kenneth Ragain told a Halloween story and Margaret Dodson gave a reading, "If All the World Were Upside Down." Blackboard drawings on the subject of nature study were explained—the picture of the coddling moth and its manner of boring into the apple was described by Ronald Lindsey; the grasshopper, Marjorie Fleischman; the garbage can, Delbert Groat, and the fly, Glen Mullenburg. Fire by friction was demonstrated by Delbert Groat. At the conclusion of the program the children served cake and cider, the girls arranging the plates and the boys passing them.

After visiting relatives in the district since Wednesday night, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ragain, Sam Ragain and Miss Edna Kelly left Saturday evening for their home in Kennewick Wash.

While at work on his farm Victor Ragain slipped and fell on a disc harrow cutting his left hand very severely. Several stitches had to be taken. The wound is healing satisfactorily and the stitches are now being taken out.

Rev. Clarence Kopp, of La Grande, makes semi-monthly visits to Cove, holding services on alternate Sunday afternoons.

THOMAS JAILED BY AUTHORITIES (Continued from Page One) appear eight days ago by leaving a meeting with his school board at his home and going to his office on the pretense that he desired to obtain a report. When he failed to return, members of the board went to his offices and found them in wild disorder as though Thomas had surprised burglars who attacked him and carried him off.

Chats With Parents RESPECT FOR MATERIALS By Alice Judson Peale One of the things which it is important for a child to learn is respect for the materials with which he works and plays.

The child does not naturally conserve and care for the things in his environment, but he can soon learn to take pleasure in doing so if he is properly trained.

Most important to this end is if that grown-ups set him a good example in orderliness and in the care they take of tools and furniture.

His own toys should be sturdily made so that they will not break easily. If they are not, pleasure in seeing them fall to pieces may take the place of playing with them properly.

The child should not have too many toys at a time, and from the very beginning a place should be set aside for them where, with his mother's help, he may learn to keep them properly.

He can learn early that not all materials can be used in the same way and that certain materials can be used in only a particular way.

Thus blocks cannot be thrown, nor is a doll suitable for scrubbing up the floor. One uses crayons only upon sheets of paper and a hammer is good for pounding only at the work bench or out of doors.

Play materials which become broken should be put aside for repair and an interesting ceremony should be made of putting them in order again.

As the child grows a bit older and begins to appreciate the purchasing power of money he should discover that lost clothing, lost and broken toys cannot be replaced immediately, that these things cost money of which only a limited amount is available.

Come over to the SUNNY SIDE OF LIFE

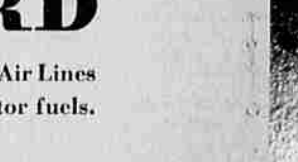

Do you want to feel always at your best? To meet each day with fresh vitality? You can. For when you're healthy, you're happy.

A delicious cereal provides the "bulk" that is so important in overcoming common constipation.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B to further aid regular habits. In addition, ALL-BRAN is twice as rich in iron as an equal weight of beef liver.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. What a relief to enjoy an appetizing cereal instead of taking patent medicines.

Serve as a cereal or use in cooking. Directions on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

University of Oregon Plans Big Welcome for "Dads" October 29

Both good food and good speeches will be digested at the banquet. Above are members of the student committee directing activities that will make the annual University of Oregon "Dad's Day" the best yet October 29. They are Barbara Conley, San Francisco; Ed Stanley, Portland; Helen Burns, Portland; Marjorie Haas, Tacoma; Thomas Tongue, Hillsboro, and Hal Short, Portland.
